10,000 MEN ON COAST QUIT; TIE UP SHIPPING

Longshoremen Ask 30 Per Cent Raise; Activity on Local Waterfront Halts Traffic

SIX HUNDRED OUT ON OAKLAND FRONT

Big Lines Affected; All Boats Save Bay Ferries and Small Ones Hard Hit; Peace Fails

San Francisco ship owners shortly after noon today granted an increase of five cents an hour to 4000 longshoremen on strike. The ship owners reiterated their refusal to meet the additional demand of the strikers for a dollar an hour overtime.

With all Sacramento river steamers idle, San Francisco faces a produce shortage.

That the department of justice will send an arbitrator here to attempt mediation of the strike was reported along the waterfront today. Henry M. White, immigration commissioner, is in Seattle at present. He went there to try and prevent the walkout.

The Hind-Rolph Navigation Company and the Rolph Navigation Company, in which companies Mayor Rolph of San Francisco is interested, surrendered to the longshoremen's demands today. The Riggers and Stevedores' Union asked 55 cents an hour for the nine hour day. The men are receiving $1 an hour for eight hours' work. The rate is 60 cents an hour regular and 75 cents for overtime.

Representatives of the big steamship companies held a secret meeting today, considering the strikers' demands. The big steamers Tenyo Maru, Melania, Siuiu, George Loomis, Solano, Multnomah and Mexican have been sighted off the Golden Gate, heading for this port. An attempt may be made to unload some of the cargoes with deckhand labor.

Officers of the Riggers and Stevedores' Union here reported they looked for an amicable settlement of their difficulties. Several shipping companies, they asserted, were ready to meet the demands.

Six hundred Oakland stevedores, riggers and dock laborers are on strike today, going out at 6 o'clock this morning with more than 10,000 fellow workmen who have made idle every port on the Pacific Coast of the United States in an attempt to enforce their demands for higher wages.

For the first time in many years the wharves on both sides of San Francisco bay display no signs of activity. The same condition prevails in every port from Cape Nome to San Diego. Deep sea vessels, river boats and ships in the coastwise trade—everything but lumber carriers and other smaller vessels which are stevedored by their own crews—is affected by the general strike.

A demand for wages of 65 cents an hour, straight time, and $1 an hour overtime is the cause of the strike. While ship owners have offered to make a slight increase, it is claimed, they have refused flatly to meet these demands. The present wage rate is 50 cents an hour straight time and 75 cents an hour overtime. It is approximately a 30 per cent wage increase that is demanded, say the owners.

TO FEEL BURDEN.

Already are Oakland consumers beginning to feel the burden of the strike, although it is less than 12 hours old. Selling prices on the Oak-

Brandeis Wins Place on Bench

Nomination Confirmed by 47 to 22 Votes

WASHINGTON, June 1.—Louis D. Brandeis' nomination to the supreme court, bitterly fought by Republicans for five months, was confirmed late today by the Senate. The vote was 47 to 22.

SAYS CONVENTIONS ARE NOT BROKEN IN TENT COLONY

John Sykes Denies Charges Against His Berkeley Church.

BERKELEY, June 1.—The Church of the Living God, which occupies a great tabernacle tent and a colony of portable houses at Derby street and Shattuck avenue, and regarding the tenets and practices of which letters from ex-members have been written the police, is not a place of immorality, but of the highest virtues, in the words of Joshua Sykes, founder of the church and its present leader. Moreover, Sykes intimates that he may have recourse to the law against those who continue to detract from its reputation.

E. B. Young, H. C. Newell and M. C. Grafton, formerly apostles of the church, who Sykes declares were excommunicated, are among those who made complaint to the police today. They have brought various charges, but especially that the church has caused separations in several families. In Grafton's words:

"A dozen middle-aged married women have left their husbands in Los Angeles and other places to come to the Church of the Living God."

Sykes declares there have been two divorces in the history of the church, and that to balance these he has performed the marriage ceremony for several couples from among his flock. The complaints have been before the Berkeley police for some months; in fact, since soon after Sykes removed the church to this city from Emeryville, but they have paid little attention to them.

CLAIMS ANNOINTMENT.

Sykes was formerly a Baptist minister, holding pastorates at Detroit and elsewhere. He came to this State in 1906, already determined to work out his new cult. He declares that he was specially delegated to this task by divine revelation some years before.

"Jesus Christ appeared before me in person and annointed me prophet and priest. I was to take my place with the line of which John the Baptist was a member to prepare spiritually for the millenium."

Police investigation has showed that Sykes erected his tent and portable houses, one which is used for a diningroom, another for an office, after having secured permission. They have given up trying, therefore, to oust him for violation of the fire laws.

Newell formerly resided at 1163 Fifty-third street, Oakland, but is understood to have left the city. Grafton's former residence was at Stuart and Magee streets, but he is said now to be in Colorado. With Young they alleged that they left the church on account of its practices. Sykes declares they left because they were excommunicated for heresy.

REFUTES CHARGES.

Newell's letter to the police recites that Sykes has in his flock seven women who have left their husbands and families to become members. He declares the church teaches that women who live with their husbands cannot become the "brides of Christ." This Sykes specifically refutes by mentioning that Mrs. Sykes and children reside with him at 1816 Stuart street. Six of the women mentioned by Newell are said to be from Los Angeles and one from Oakland.

Grafton adds in his letter that "one of the young prophets became so enamored of one of the grass widows that he became demented and cut his throat." The wound did not prove fatal. Grafton continues that the "followers are told they cannot sin and that, if they steal, murder, vio-

BENJAMIN SUBPENAS GOVERNOR

Also Would Have Victor H. Metcalf Testify for Him

Man Charged With Murder of Patrolman Questions Panel

Subpenas were issued this morning for Governor Hiram Johnson of this state and Victor H. Metcalf, former Secretary of the Navy, by the counsel for Judah Benjamin, who is on trial for the murder of Patrolman Robert Gushe, who was shot and killed at Twelfth and Clay streets in March of this year. Judge Ogden issued instructions to serve the subpenas if possible.

Owing to the fact that Governor Johnson is in the East, Benjamin will have to show the court where his evidence is necessary for his defense in order that a foreign subpena be issued to bring him her from the East. If he is successful, the governor will have to appear as witness for the defense.

HAS THE RIGHT.

"Benjamin has the right to subpena anyone he chooses," stated Judge Ogden this morning, "and the men in this instance will be forced to appear providing he can give sufficient grounds to show they are necessary for his defense."

At the opening of court this morning, Benjamin was given an opportunity to question the prospective jurors. Several questions were asked of each and of all were asked the following:

"Have you ever seen or heard of motion pictures where the funeral of Gushe was shown?

"Are you a man of good moral character and are you addicted to the use of whiskey or drugs of any form?

"Are you connected in any way with the Chamber of Commerce?

"Do you happen to know if the members of the Chamber of Commerce are unfriendly to the defendant in this case?

"Have you ever been connected with the Burns' Detective Agency?"

SUSPECTS COMBINE.

Several minor questions were asked by Benjamin, but in each case were objected to by Prosecuting Attorney James M. Koford and the objection ruled valid by the court. It was apparent in both the subpenas that were issued this morning and in the questions asked by the defendant that he continued to work on the theory that the government was in a gigantic combine against him, owing to the fact that Metcalf was at one time president of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce.

Following Benjamin's questioning, each side dismissed several members of the prospective jury and a new panel was called, four members of the previous panel being favorable to both sides. The remainder of the morning was given over to questioning the new men by Koford and the attorney for the defense. As soon as a jury is selected, which will probably be later today, evidence will start, pertaining to the validity of this morning's subpenas.

HUSBAND LINKS NAME OF WIFE WITH NAVY MAN

Linking the name of his young wife of four years with that of navy officers, accusing her with misconduct with them, of smoking cigarettes and refusal to wear her wedding ring, Frederick Goodchild English banker and one time financial adviser to Central American and the Brazilian governments, has made answer and cross-complaint to the divorce suit commenced against him last April by Anna Posten Goodchild, former local society belle and daughter of a prominent Oakland family.

Captain Wm. McCully and Paymaster William Merritt are the officers named by Banker Goodchild, who is now living at the Fairmont hotel in San Francisco.

THREW RING, HE SAYS.

In his cross-complaint the husband goes back to the time he and his wife were residing at Mazatlan, Mexico, when, as she herself recited in her complaint, she threatened to leave him. At that time she said her husband had threatened to kill her if she left. For this part he says that she threw her engagement ring at him and left anyway.

In January, 1913, less than a year after their marriage, which took place in Oakland in March 1912, Banker Goodchild says, his wife said to him during a fit of anger:

"You old fool, you must pay for having a young wife."

Then in August, 1914, while they were in London England, the complaint goes on to relate, she threw a clothes brush at him.

But the climax came when, he alleges, he met his wife in company with Captain McCully in their apartments under questionable circumstances. He said that she was so familiar with the navy officer that she would permit him to light cigarettes for her and then offer them to her husband to smoke.

NAMES MAN.

During the Exposition, Goodchild says that his wife pretended to go on a visit along the Zone and among the sights, but that instead she went to the Cliff House with William Merritt, remained in his company all day and finally accompanied him to the Fairmont hotel where the officer was stopping.

Since then she is alleged to have maintained a correspondence with the two alleged co-respondents, and to have discontinued wearing her wedding ring, pretending to be a single woman. His efforts to effect a reconciliation have been fruitless. He concludes in asking for a divorce himself.

DEMAND OF CARRANZA TO BE IGNORED

U. S. Troops to Remain in Mexico Until Task Is Finished

De Facto President Must Prove Ability to Protect Border

WASHINGTON, June 1.—It was stated authoritatively today that American troops will not be withdrawn from Mexico until the Carranza authorities demonstrate that they control the situation sufficiently to protect the American border. A reply to that effect probably will be made to General Carranza's note. President Wilson was represented today as ready to withdraw troops when possible, but determined to wait until the Carranza forces can control the situation.

President Wilson and Secretary Lansing today took up consideration of General Carranza's latest note. This country's action or response to the note will not be outlined formally until officials have had time to study carefully the text, which contain about 12,000 words.

Officials expressed belief that the harsh terms of General Carranza's communication were intended primarily to influence public opinion in his own country.

INACCURATE STATEMENT.

There was no indication at the State Department that the developments had produced an urgent situation. A reply may not be made for a week or ten days. Various inaccurate statements it makes will be pointed out. References to the effort of American domestics upon the border situation, the suggestion that all Latin-America is waiting to see what the United States will do to maintain its protestations of friendship and the reference to American trade in war munitions will be wholly ignored, although it understood that it would have brought a sharp rebuke if any less perplexed and disordered government had taken such a course.

The reply probably will point out that Major Langhorne's detachment penetrated nearly 200 miles into Mexico in pursuit of the Boquillas raiders without encountering one Carranza soldier or official and that while such a situation prevails no steps toward withdrawal will be taken.

The Mexican embassy has distributed copies of the note to some of the other embassies and legations. Suggestion of influence behind the latest move by General Carranza were renewed.

The State Department instructed Consul Dawson at Tampico today to take up with Carranza officials the protest of eighty-four American oil operators who allege oppressive and confiscatory decrees.

DEMANDS IN NOTE.

The note says:

"The Mexican government believes the time has arrived to insist that the American government immediately retire the new expedition of Boquillas and abstain in the future from sending new forces into Mexico. In all events the Mexican government, after having clearly manifested its inconformity with the passage of new troops to Mexican territory must consider this as an act of invasion which in consequence will force us to defend ourselves against any body of American troops found within our country.

"And in respect to the American troops now in the state of Chihuahua as a consequence of the Columbus incident the Mexican government is also compelled to insist on their retirement.

"The Mexican government knows that in the face of the reluctance of the American government to retire its forces there remains to it no other recourse than to procure the defense of its territory by arms; but it also understands at the same time its duty to avoid as far as it is able an armed conflict between the two countries."

The note further states:

"The Mexican government cannot wish war with the United States and if such an event happens undoubtedly it will be the direct consequence of a deliberate attempt on the part of the United States to provoke it. Acts of precaution and preparation on the part of the United States indicate to us that there is a campaign of preparation for this emergency, or, what is the same, a beginning of hostilities on the part of the United States against Mexico."

NOTE'S REAL PURPORT.

The concluding paragraphs of the note, embodying its real purport, declare:

"The Mexican government and the Mexican people need therefore to know what to expect and wish to be sure that the sentiments so often expressed by the government of the United States really correspond to a sincere desire for peace between the two countries; for a friendship which ought to exist not only in the realm of declarations, but be crystallized in fact.

"The Mexican government now formally invites the American government to put an end to this situation of uncertainty between the two countries and to support its declarations and protestations of friendship with actual and effective facts that will convince the Mexican people of the sincerity of their intentions.

"These facts in the present situation can be no other than the retirement of the American troops now in Mexican territory."

Speaking of the entry of the American troops in Mexico following the Columbus raid, the note says:

"This government must consider this act as a violation of the sovereignty of Mexico and therefore requests most urgently that the government at Washington will consider very carefully this case, so as to define once and for all the policy it ought

Perkins in Chicago to Unite Parties

Hilles Also Hopeful of New Coalition

ROOSEVELT FOR ANYBODY AND HIMSELF

Cooperate With Whomever Supports Him, Is Policy

Colonel's Secretary Is Spokesman; Seeks Allies

CHICAGO, June 1.—The campaign of Frank Hitchcock for Justice Chas. Evans Hughes appeared today to have united the anti-Hughes elements in the Republican ranks with the Roosevelt Republicans in a concerted attack on Hughes, with a possible agreement on Roosevelt in the offing.

Around Candidates Row at the hotels today there was every indication that combine against Hughes is under way.

The situation was muddled a bit by the arrival today of William Barnes Jr. of New York.

Barnes, it is said, may hold the key to the situation.

The arrival here of Senator Boise Penrose of Pennsylvania was anxiously awaited. There was an undercurrent of feeling that Penrose, even more than Barnes, holds the situation in his hands. If he jumps to Roosevelt, as it has been rumored he would, the battle is over, politicians say; if he fights against the colonel then it is a free-for-all.

As Roosevelt was generally believed to be back of Governor Brambaugh in his unsuccessful fight against Penrose it is not believed the senator is for the colonel.

BARNES IN ACTION.

Barnes on arrival was planning to jump into the thick of the fray this afternoon, announcing that he was going to the committee meeting at the Coliseum.

"I won't say anything now," he snapped. "Maybe I'll talk later."

Roosevelt himself is ready to cooperate with any one who is for him. This was emphasized today by John McGrath, the colonel's private secretary, who reached Chicago today after accompanying the colonel on his trip to St. Louis.

"I am merely here to co-operate with all persons of whatever party supporting Roosevelt," McGrath said.

"Is Roosevelt a candidate?" McGrath was asked.

"Most assuredly he is," he replied.

Hitchcock has a complete card index of Southern voters and delegates, it was stated. It was rumored today that Coleman Dupont of Delaware would withdraw from the race in favor of Justice Hughes, swinging six Delaware delegates to the Hughes column.

NEW HEADQUARTERS OPEN.

New presidential headquarters were opened along Candidates Row today. Paul Furman and H. J. Wasson, claiming thirty-seven out of the seventy-six Pennsylvania delegates, brought the boom of Governor Brumbaugh of Pennsylvania to the Congress Hotel.

Headquarters for Senator Cummins, Iowa's favorite son candidate, were opened by C. A. Rawson of Des Moines and the Iowa state chairman, Howard J. Clark, delegate-at-large from Iowa, and J. M. Jamieson and L. C. Kurtz were also members of Cummins' delegation. They are confident the Iowan will stand well among the favorite sons in the final showdown.

The Sherman movement today was under the personal direction of William B. McKinley, formerly of the Republican congressional committee, who arrived in Chicago today.

"It is becoming more evident daily," said McKinley, "that the Republican nominee will come from the Central West. Sentiment for Senator Sherman has grown steadily during the last week."

McKinley said the fight among New York and other Eastern delegates over Root, Hughes and Roosevelt would center attraction finally on Sherman or some other favorite son.

May Prosecute S. O. Directors

WASHINGTON, June 1.—Following a conference between President Wilson and Attorney General Gregory today it was learned contempt proceedings against Standard Oil directors for alleged violations of a Supreme Court decree ordering the dissolution of the "trust" may be brought.

Plan Reception at Delegates' Train

Every detail has been completed for the formal escort of the Republican delegates who will depart tomorrow at 2:30 for the National Republican convention, which meets in Chicago June 7. The parade will be formed at Nineteenth and Broadway and move through the business district. Delegates-elect Peter J. Crosby and Joseph F. Carlston, together with alternates Joseph R. Knowland and Victor H. Metcalf, will be the honorary guests of the County Central committee. A special car, decorated for the occasion, and headed by a band, will be provided for the party leaders.

At the Sixteenth street depot the Overland Republican special will be delayed ten minutes for an informal reception, during which Francis V. Keesling of the delegation will speak, as will also William H. Crocker and possibly Peter J. Crosby.

It is anticipated that a large gathering of party enthusiasts and Republican voters will be present at the depot to witness the departure of the delegates.

GEORGE W. PERKINS.

NOMINATION NOT INVOLVED IN ANY STATE CONTEST

Merely Technical Fights for Local Control, Hilles Says.

CHICAGO, June 1.—"So far as I know there is not a single contest before us that involves votes for any presidential candidate," Chairman Hilles announced today as the committee went into session to decide forty contests. "The contests involved are merely technical fights for state control. Each contest will be decided on its merits," continued Hilles.

The six Alabama "lily whites" delegates at large were seated by unanimous vote of the committee after an hour's argument by the "black and tans," the contesting delegation. The contest in the Ninth Alabama district was then taken up.

There were forty-eight national committeemen represented. Proxies were held by George W. Norton for Maine, F. E. Upham for New Jersey, C. H. Innis for Massachusetts, Charles D. Hilles for Ohio and W. D. McKinley for Hawaii. Committeemen were absent from Porto Rico, Alaska, North Dakota, Nebraska, Connecticut and West Virginia.

CONVENTION IS DRY.

The committee before getting into action on the hearings adopted a resolution that the "Coliseum "must be absolutely dry" during the convention.

The first contest taken up was that of the fifth and sixth districts, Virginia. It was decided to refer the matter to the Virginia delegation with directions they recommend to the national committee who should be seated.

The Texas contests were next. Hilles suggested two delegates for each of the thirteen districts contested with half a vote apiece. A sub-committee was appointed to consider the matter, composed of Senators Smoot of Utah and Warren of Michigan.

A resolution was passed to the effect that the national committee should vote on contests immediately after the sub-committee reports.

In case of contests where a national committeemen was involved, it was decided he should not be allowed to vote.

TENNESSEE COMPROMISE.

The Tennessee contests, where eight delegates-at-large were elected, were taken up next. It was decided to allow the four delegates receiving the highest number of votes to be seated as delegates at large and the other four as alternates at large. The Kentucky contests, which are similar to that of the Tennessee contests, were put over.

The committee then took up the question of the status of the delegates from the Philippines, Porto Rico and Hawaii. They have for a long time been demanding that their delegates, who have seats but no votes, be given votes, the same as Alaska and the District of Columbia. It was decided to recommend to the convention that the delegates from these territories be allowed votes. There are two delegates from each territory.

All of the contests, covering 62

LEADERS OF G. O. P. MAY AGREE UPON PEACE PACT

National Committee in Session to Hear Contests From Several States on Big Issues

WOMEN TO FORCE SUFFRAGE PLANS

Senator Borah Will Be Spokesman for Feminist Cause Before Convention Delegates

CHICAGO, June 1.—George W. Perkins brought the olive branch to the G. O. P. again today. The Bull Moose chieftain, after greeting Chairman Hilles of the Republican national committee, at the Blackstone, announced flatly that the Progressives will stand on the statement they outlined in January, indicating they will support an candidate, not necessarily Roosevelt, who stands for Progressive principles.

"I see in the papers and I heard on the train while en route here that a lot of bitter feeling has been worked up between the camps of the different candidates," Perkins said.

"This is unfortunate. As far as the Progressives are concerned, we will approach the convention in the spirit we indicated in our January statement.

"This is preeminently the time when the conventions should be for Americans first.

"I read in the papers that Carranza, in his note delivered to Washington yesterday, had accused the Wilson administration of duplicity and of misleading the Mexican government.

"Our prime object should be, with all possible speed and certainty, to stop this sort of thing and restore our good name."

GETTING TOGETHER.

As Perkins entered the Blackstone he shook hands with Chairman Hilles of the Republican committee, Senator Reed Smoot of Utah, one of the old guard, and several other Republicans.

They chatted informally and laughingly expressed hopes of getting together.

"Thanks for your statement regarding the Republican platform the other day," Perkins said to Hilles.

In this Hilles had announced the Republicans were for America and preparedness and that this was the big issue.

Hilles told interviewers today that he believed the Progressives and Republicans would get together.

"I don't think they have changed," he said. "I believe they were absolutely sincere in their January statement. I have not been assured of this fact by Colonel Roosevelt, but I do believe the colonel's followers would accept another man if necessary. But of course they want the colonel."

Hilles branded as absolutely false a report that the national committee would get together today on a compromise candidate.

"We'll naturally talk about things

Will Cover National Conventions

Tribune's Special Arrangements

The national party conventions—America's premier political events—are soon to convene. The Republican and Progressive conventions will open in Chicago on June seventh.

Chief interest centers in the Republican convention. With the galaxy of candidates already in the field uncertainty is likely to prevail until the final ballot is taken.

The action of the Progressive party in determining whether it will unite with the Republicans or name a third ticket will be watched with the keenest interest.

While it is conceded that the Democratic convention, which convenes at St. Louis on June 14, will nominate Woodrow Wilson, the vice-presidential contest and the struggle over platform planks will engage the close attention of the country.

Anticipating that its readers will follow the proceedings of the conventions closely The TRIBUNE has made special arrangements to "cover" them thoroughly.

The TRIBUNE will have the full reports of the Associated Press and the United Press, the two great American news-gathering associations, each of which will maintain a staff of correspondents at the convention with leased wire service.

In addition Mr. Joseph R. Knowland, publisher of The TRIBUNE, will telegraph daily full and interpretative accounts of the convention proceedings and activities among leaders. Mr. Knowland has served eleven years in Congress and has a wide acquaintance with national leaders.

Mrs. Georgia C. Ormsby, who will sit with the Democratic delegation from California, will attend the three conventions and write for The TRIBUNE daily of matters that particularly interest women.

Mrs. Ormsby is prominently known in women clubdom in Oakland. She is an experienced writer and keen observer, and is deeply interested in the women's party movement, which will be in evidence at all the conventions in an effort to have a suffrage plank inserted in the party platforms.

late their marriage vows or do anything criminal, they sin not."

Young avers that Sykes is "self-styled Josiah, Elijah and Judas." Sykes admits to the name of Joshua and declares it is his given name, but he denies having assumed any of the other cognomens. He flatly contradicts all of the charges that are made by his excommunicated elders, declaring that chastity is as much a tenet of his church as of any other, and that dodging of debts and intoxication are other frailties upon which the church strictly frowns.

TELLS OF CHURCH.

To the declaration that he assumes to confer remission of sins, Sykes makes no denial. In the administering of the baptismal rites and the laying on of hands, he finds the particulars of such remission, and declares any one could do it. His church does not teach the triune God and he assigns that fact as the cause for opposition to him.

The tabernacle which the Church of the Living God occupies is a pretentious affair, as to size from its exterior aspect, and as to arrangements for its interior. A shining copper baptismal fount, large enough to contain several people at the same time, occupies an entrance court. Within the second compartment, where meetings are held, the arrangement is similar to that of a church.

But beyond, the Holy of Holies distinguishes the office from others of its kind. Admission to this is permitted only to the brethren, the Jews as they call themselves, and not to the unregenerate Gentiles. Through the shielding curtains the Holy of Holies gives indication of resembling in many details its Old Testament prototype.

YELLOWSTONE TO BE EDEN.

From the pulpit Sykes, who disclaims the title of "reverend," preaches a gospel similar to that of the church he quit, except for the tenet of the triune God. Also, he enters largely into prophecy, basing his calculations upon Revelations' disclosures. He teaches that Christ has appeared on earth and is waiting for the collection of 144,000 followers before again setting of his kingdom on earth. The headquarters for this will be in North America, according to Sykes, with the Garden of Eden restored to its original setting in Yellowstone Park.

The climax will be reached, says Sykes, in 1959. At that time the axis of the earth will be suddenly changed until it is at right angles to its present arrangement. Eden will be restored and Europe will be destroyed by the wrath of Jehovah.

"This great period of upheaval is upon us," Sykes avers. "God is today using Germany as a scourging rod for the other nations. Next he will delegate that duty to the Mikado of Japan, who will overrun China and India, and ultimately, all Europe itself. This is, in fact, the real Armageddon."

There are no women residing in the portable house colony, which is an adjunct of the church. Some do come there to their meals in the big dining tent, where many men also congregate. As to unconventionality which Sykes is credited with permitting, he declares that this is frowned upon by his church, but that the effort is made to life up again the failing brethren or sisters and that they are not at once dismissed.

The church specially preaches against the theories of which Margaret Sanger has been a leading propagandist. Birth control has no place in the Church of the Living God, acording to Sykes. He urges the celibate life as a high achievement, but declares that the rearing of families is the only permissible alternative.

No Gasoline For Gerard

LONDON, June 1.—An Amsterdam despatch to the Daily Mail says that United States Ambassador James W. Gerard has been deprived of the use of his automobile through the refusal of the German Foreign Office to permit the embassy to buy enough petrol to keep one car in service for three months. A request by the Ambassador for permission to import petrol from abroad was met with the reply that the military authorities feel compelled to confiscate any petrol found in Germany.

LONDON, June 1. — According to today's newspapers, new regulations limiting the use of petrol will be issued next week to take effect immediately on publication. The new rules will aim at the conservation of the national supply of petrol owing to the heavy demands of the army and navy.

The amount of petrol now being used by the British expeditionary force in France is equal to the normal supply of the whole United Kingdom in peace time. The principal feature of the new regulations is expected to be prohibition of the use of automobiles on Sunday, except under a special license which will only be granted in urgent cases. The prohibition probably will involve most of the Sunday motor omnibus lines. The authorities are also considering the use of a petrol ticket system similar to the German bread cards.

U. S. TROOPS WILL NOT QUIT MEXICO

ACCUSES U. S. OFFICERS.

The note reviews in detail the facts connected with the expedition, the proposed protocol between the countries and the exchange of notes following it, ending in the note of April 12. It then reviews the Scott-Obregon conference, and makes the following charges against Generals Scott and Funston in respect to the Glenn Springs incident:

"On learning of the attitude of the Mexican government (i. e., that the Mexican government would resist new incursions of American troops) Generals Scott and Funston assured General Obregon that they had not ordered any American troops to cross the frontier on account of the attack at Boquillas, nor would any more American troops enter our territory.

"This assurance, which Generals Scott and Funston personally made to General Obregon on the suspension of the conferences, was reiterated by the same General Scott in a private conversation with Juan Neftali Amador, sub-secretary for foreign relations."

In spite of this declaration, the note says, the troops actually entered Mexico. The note continues:

"The explanation given by the American government in respect to the passage of the American troops at Columbus, never had been satisfactorily explained to the Mexican government, but this new invasion of our territory was made by the American forces contrary to the expressed wish of the Mexican government, which duty it is now carrying out, to ask the American government to order the immediate retirement of these forces, and that it absolutely abstain from sending any other expedition of similar character."

War Department Seeking Information

WASHINGTON, June 1.—Steps were taken by the War Department today to obtain more definite information of the disposition of Carranza troops in Chihuahua. It was said that the tone of Carranza's note prompted the action of military officials without regard to the diplomatic phases of the situation.

General Funston outlined clearly the situation in Chihuahua, according to his most recent information of the whereabouts of Carranza detachments. No anxiety is felt for the safety of General Pershing's columns.

It was explained at the War Department that the real mission of the expedition at this time was to prevent attacks upon the wide sections of the border controlled by its position in Mexico. Cavalry patrols are active throughout the territory on both sides of General Pershing's base and his line of communications and War Department officials hold that a condition of complete security is being maintained in this region and along the border, despite the allegations of the Carranza note that the expedition is "interned in Chihuahua state," lying idle and with no military object.

No additional troop movements were in contemplation today so far as known.

Funston Denies Mexican Agreement

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., June 1.—General Funston today issued a statement regarding the recent Scott-Obregon conferences in El Paso and Juarez, in which he declared no agreement was ever reached. The statement was designed to counteract possible Carranzista claims that terms were agreed upon covering the conduct and withdrawal of the American expedition.

Austrians Capture Asiago From Italians

LONDON, June 1.—Italian troops have evacuated the fortified town of Asiago before the Austrian advance, according to the Rome correspondent of the Times.

Bride's Cooking Made Him Ill; She Wins

When, six months after their marriage, Stephen M. Svoboda, a painter, 34 years of age, complained to his wife, Mary E. P. Johnson-Svoboda, aged 65, that her cooking made him ill, she became suspicious. Then, on reflecting that he hid her glasses, put hat pins in her bed, hid her scissors and urged her to buy an automobile instead of investing in a college education for him, she determined to sue for divorce, convinced that his course of cruel conduct indicated but one thing—that he wanted her money and not a wife.

Mrs. Svoboda is the owner of improved property in Alameda at 2304 Alameda avenue, a ranch in Castro Valley and stocks and bonds, as well as money in bank. All is set forth in her successful prayer for relief, granted in court yesterday in which she asked the kind agency of the law to dissolve the sacred bonds of matrimony.

In the middle of the night Svoboda, she testified, would wake her up to argue about the war or religious differences which existed between them, she testified. Another time he jumped from behind a door in the dark and scared her. He also hid the shaving mugs of the 11-year-old stepson, Herbert Johnson.

Mrs. Svoboda was granted an interlocutory decree. She was also allowed to resume her previous husband's name, Johnson, upon her plea that she had raised a large family, all named Johnson.

Venezuela Again Disrupted by Strife

WILLEMSTAD, Curacao, June 1.—Twenty persons were killed or wounded in an outbreak at Maracaibo, Venezuela, against General Garcia, who has been appointed president of the state of Zulia, succeeding temporary President Aranguren. Troops fired on citizens who tried to prevent General Garcia from landing from the steamer Merida, which had taken him to Maracaibo.

The action of the troops quelled the disturbance. Many persons were taken prisoner, including Senor Aranguren, whose popularity led to the outbreak against his successor.

Why Not Face the Facts About Armor Competition?

To the People:

The policy of the United States Government for many years has made real competition in armor-making ineffective.

The Government might have asked the three armor plants for bids and let the entire tonnage to the lowest bidder. That would have made competition effective.

The result of such a course would have been to drive two of the three manufacturers out of business, and leave the country with facilities of only one plant in time of need.

The Government in fact has always asked for bids from the three manufacturers, but no matter what the price quoted, each year's business was divided among them.

Armor makers serve but one customer—the Government, just as a public utility serves but one customer—a community.

The solution of the armor problem is for the Government to fix the price.

We voluntarily agree to accept any price fixed by the Federal Trade Commission. Isn't acceptance of that offer better than the destruction of an industry built solely to serve the Government?

RENCH WIN RENCHES IN FIERCE DRIVE

BERLIN, June 1.—In an attack on German positions southeast of Dead Man Hill on the Verdun front the French obtained a foothold in the German first line trenches over an extent of 400 metres, the war office announced today. The French made repeated assaults on the German lines, but other than that at the point mentioned were beaten off with exiremely heavy losses.

The French are preparing to surrender Hill 304, last of the strongly fortified heights remaining in the northwest of Verdun. Several French positions on the summit, torn by the pounding fire of German guns, have been evacuated. The next general assault on the position probably will bring it into the hands of the Germans.

From Haucourt eastward to the Meuse, the German front is pressing steadily southward in daily "nibbles" at the French line. The French are offering desperately tenacious resistance, but are steadily falling back upon the Charny line. The most furious French counter-attacks, delivered at heavy sacrifices of men, have resulted in only temporary success, the Germans pressing on after each fresh check.

STRIPPED OF RESERVES.

The French line has been stripped of reserves brought up for the defense of Verdun. Recent concentrations of troops behind the Anglo-French front indicate that the British are preparing to take over another stretch of French front, releasing French troops for service at Verdun.

German military critics commenting on France's dire need of more men for the defense of her great fortress, asked today what has become of "the great Russian army," which was to have halted the German advance on the fortress. It is authoritatively stated here not a single one of the few thousand Russians reported to have landed at Marseilles has been in action on the western front.

PARIS, June 1.—The complete repulse of a German attack on the eastern slope of Dead Man Hill was announced by the war office today. The Germans bombarded all French positions in the Dead Man Hill region with the greatest violence throughout yesterday.

Intense artillery duels continued throughout last night on the east bank of the Meuse, but there were no other important infantry actions around Verdun.

300,000 KILLED.

French air squadrons early today dropped twenty shells on the Thionville and Audun stations and fifty shells on the supply depots at Azannes.

The Germans have thrown more than 75,000 fresh troops into action at Verdun since a week ago today, according to reports received by the war office. At least five new German divisions have been engaged on both banks of the Meuse. Since February 1,000,000 Germans have been in action at Verdun, according to the war office figures. Of this number it is estimated that about 300,000 have been killed or put out of action.

County Tax Collector James B. Barber had given The TRIBUNE an order to print the delinquent tax list for this year. The TRIBUNE announced that it would refuse to publish the list at the rate fixed by the board which was only one-fifth of its regular commercial advertising rates. The TRIBUNE refused the contract. Chairman Murphy announced that he had been approached by an Enquirer representative who stated that that paper would take the contract at the low rate.

House Approves Bill for Shipyard Work

WASHINGTON, June 1. — The House this afternoon adopted an amendment to the naval bill appropriating $6,000,000 to equip the Puget Sound, Philadelphia, Norfolk, Charleton, Boston, Portsmouth and New Orleans navy yards to "build such ships as may be assigned to them." In case Secretary Daniels can not get fast work in private yards at fair prices.

The House also adopted Padgett's amendment providing that the Puget Sound, Philadelphia, Norfolk and Portsmouth yards to be equipped for constructing big ships.

600 OAKLAND MEN JOIN SHIPPING TIE-UP

land produce exchange are firmer, and display a marked tendency of increasing, in anticipation of higher shipment rates in the event the strike continues and produce has to be transported by express.

A large number of Oakland commission men are affected by the strike. The river boats of the larger companies are not being operated because of the joint strike of 600 members of the Bay and River Steamboatmen's Union for a monthly increase of $5 for deckhands. One hundred firemen, electricians, deckhands and oilers last night refused to go aboard five of the river boats which carry freight and produce between Oakland and San Francisco and river and delta points. These vessels are now in this port, idle. The 100 pioneers were joined by 500 other members of their union at 6 o'clock this morning, with the result that the river boats which bring more than 85 per cent of Oakland's produce are not in commission.

USE LAUNCHES.

The Hunt-Hatch Company, one of the biggest of the local produce concerns, is not, as yet, affected by the strike. Gasoline power boats are used by this company in the transportation of produce, vessels which are not identified with the steamship concerns affected.

Local ferryboats are not affected. While the members of the ferry boat crews are members of the striking union, they work under a separate agreement which provides conditions different than those in force on the river boats.

The coastwise lumber and combination passenger boats, which are stevedored by their own crews, are not affected as a full agreement covering raise of wages and satisfactorily adjusting all difficulties was recently effected by the owners of these vessels both in San Francisco and Oakland, as well as other Pacific Coast ports.

According to local strikers, it is the refusal of the big steamship concerns, such as the Oceanic Steamship Company, the Pacific Mail, the Toyo Kisen Kaisha, Mitsui & Company, Grace & Company, as well as the smaller vessels that operate to the West Coast, to meet their demands that has caused the general strike.

"TO STAND GROUND."

"We have filed our demands and will stay by them," says E. H. Foley, San Francisco secretary of the Riggers' and Stevedores' Union. "We have received no word other than the rejection of the demands by the employers and are soliciting no compromise."

Captain A. E. Anderson, president of the Steamboat Owners' Association and of the California Transportation Company, said:

"We cannot grant the raise—the traffic under the present rates fixed by the Railroad Commission and with the competition of the tramp vessels and barges unregulated by the commission will not stand an increase. What our plans are I cannot discuss. We did our best to avert the strike."

EMPLOYERS' SIDE.

C. W. Cooke, president of the Waterfront Employers' Union last night said:

"The demands of the stevedores and riggers for what amounts to an increase of 30 per cent are unreasonable and we have rejected them. We were prepared to grant a reasonable increase, but will resist the present demands. This is our last word. I cannot discuss our plans for the handling of ships scheduled to arrive and leave port."

There are more than 4000 men on strike in San Francisco. Close to 2000 men have gone out in Seattle. 900 members of the United Dock Workers, a new union independent of the longshoreman's association, went on strike there Monday night, to enforce a demand, for the same wage scale asked by the longshoremen.

Seattle longshoremen have been receiving a straight rate of 50 cents an hour straight time, with overtime at 60 cents an hour. They are striking for the same rate as that asked by the Oakland and San Francisco strikers. The dock workers received 30 cents an hour straight time and 40 cents an hour overtime until last week, when the dock owners, after the men had demanded 50 and 75 cents, posted a scale of 35 and 50 cents but refused to recognize the union.

TO RESIST.

The Waterfront Employers' Union, embracing all the steamship and dock companies, announced last night that it was prepared to resist the strikers' demands. The employers said they were willing to grant a fair increase in pay but they considered the scale presented by the union exorbitant. They also complained that the longshoreman's association had violated a previous wage agreement in not giving sixty days notice before calling the strike.

This phase of the dispute was discussed by the Central Labor Council last night when a resolution was adopted supporting the longshoremen's demands. The executive board of the Central Labor Council reported that the calling of the strike without sixty days notice was a violation of a local agreement but urged support of the strike on the ground that since the strike involved all ports on the Pacific Coast of the United States a strictly local agreement could not hold.

B. C. PORTS OUT.

The strike order did not apply to British Columbia ports and shipowners engaged in the Orient traffic were quick to take advantage of the fact. The Blue Funnel Line, operating some of the largest freight carriers in the trans-Pacific trade, sent the big British liner Talthybius to Vancouver, B. C., early today to complete discharging 6000 tons of cargo which remained in her holds. Dodwell & Co., agents of the line, announced that the Blue Funnel vessels would handle all shipments through Vancouver until the strike here was settled. Similar action was announced by James Griffith & Sons, operating a fleet of eighteen steamers between Seattle and Vladivostock. One hundred cars of freight for Russia which had been assembled here for shipment on the Japanese freighter Kongosan Maru will be forwarded to Vancouver to be loaded there, it was announced.

COMMITTEE HEARS STATE CONTESTS

delegates will be heard by the full committee. This was decided at the initial session of the committee after a spirited discussion of a recommendation of Chairman Iilles to have a subcommittee pay special attention to each contest, all being heard in the presence of the whole committee, and report a summary of the contest to the full committee.

PROCEDURE DEFINED.

Senator Smoot, declaring that every contest is to receive the undivided attention of every committeeman, moved that after each case was decided a subcommittee should formulate the opinion of the committee for submission to the committee on credentials. His motion prevailed.

After disposition of the Virginia and Texas double delegations the committee decided to enter on the temporary roll of delegats all the states where no contests had been presented. On the recommendation of the chairman the committee decided that when the contests are reached the national committeeman of the state presenting he contest shall refrain from voting.

It was decided that delegates unopposed in the West Virginia primaries be accepted tentatively and that the committee meet on the morning of June 7 to receive the official ratification of the state.

"My judgment is that he nominee will be Hughes," sid Senator Smoot. "If it is not Hghes it will be Roosevelt."

ENGLAND WILL BUY.

LONDON, June 1.—Te Board of Trade has concluded negotiations for the purchase of Noway's entire catch of fish for the ear, thus at one stroke depriving Gmany of a large amount of valuale food and adding to the British sock of foodstuffs.

Last year the Germans secured the entire catch of Noway, but the British government became active the first of the year and closed contracts for all of Noray's production.

BACKACHE? RUN DOWN? TIRED? CLEAN THE KIDNEYS WITH HOT WATER AND "ANURIC"

While run-down after a hard winter—when life indoors has brought about a stagnant condition in the circulation—most everyone is filled with uric acid—especially is this so of people past middle age. This uric acid in the blood often causes rheumatism, lumbago, swelling of hands or feet, or a bag-like condition under the eyes. Backache, frequent urination or the pains and stiffness of the joints are also often noticed. Dr. Pierce says that everyone should have a good sweat every day—should drink plenty of pure water and exercise in the open air as much as possible. This helps to throw out the poisonous uric acid thru the skin and the "water." But for such persons as are past middle age it's often impossible to do this and lime salts are deposited in the arteries, veins and joints, causing all kinds of distressing conditions. An antidote for this uric acid poison is to take hot water before meals and "Anuric." Ask your druggist for Doctor Pierce's Anuric, or send Doctor Pierce's Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute in Buffalo, N. Y., a dollar bill for a full treatment, or ten cents for a trial package.

"Anuric" is a recent scientific discovery by Dr. Pierce. "Anuric" drives the uric acid out of your body. It is a uric acid solvent so effective that it eliminates these poisons, cleanses the sytem, allows your over-worked kidneys to resume their normal functions, and just a few days' treatment with "Anuric" will convince you because it brings lasting relief to your painful, aching rheumatic joints—no more backache or dizzy spells. Try it now and be convinced!—Advertisement.

NATIONAL POLITICAL NEWS STATE

PRE-CONVENTION PEACE MOVE MADE

whenever we get together," he said. "But we are not going to pick anybody for any office."

Senator Smoot of Utah was equally optimistic.

"There are 985 delegates," he said, "all absolutely free to vote for anybody they choose. There are no strings tied to anybody and anybody they nominate will win."

CONTESTS COMPLICATED.

The G. O. P. National Committee today began to untangle the situation resulting from forty separate contests, involving sixty-two delegates from southern states.

Although Secretary Reynolds of the committee declared the fights involved were merely battles for local control and the usual fights between the "black and tans" and the "lily whites," campaign managers for Hughes, Roosevelt and Senator Weeks, were watching the contests closely.

The same rules, in substance, that governed the contests in 1912, were to be adopted by the national committee at the beginning of the hearings at 10:30 a. m. As in 1912, the proceedings will be only semi-public, with press association men the only reporters admitted.

Hughes' managers were expected to watch closely the contest from Georgia, affecting seventeen delegates. One delegation, headed by National Committeeman Henry S. Jackson, is aligned with the old guard and is ordered to vote for Senator Weeks on the first ballot if seated. The contesting delegation, backed by State Chairman Walter Johnson, is believed to be aligned with Hughes.

LOUISIANA CONTEST.

The Louisiana contest, involving twelve delegates, also has possibilities of a fight among Hughes, Roosevelt and the old guard. This contest is based on the inability of negroes to gain entrance to the New Orleans hotel where the whites met.

There are two warring delegations in Georgia; a tangle in Texas involving the technical point of the right of districts to send two delegates; and, in Virginia, where one Richmond district is involved, a fight between the "black and tans" and "lily whites."

Six delegates at large and one district delegate are involved in the Alabama contest, probably the first to be taken up. The regulars in this contest are claimed by Hughes supporters.

In Oklahoma, where four district delegates are involved, it is believed to be a case of Roosevelt against Hughes.

ALABAMA FIRST.

Alabama is first on the roll call, with the finest opportunity in the world to "start something."

O. D. Street, who is to succeed Colonel P. D. Barker as national committeeman from Alabama, today denied the delegation would yield to New York on the first ballot, in order that Justice Hughes' name might be first put before the convention.

"One of our districts is for Roosevelt," he said. "The others are uninstructed. We have held no conferences yet with any candidates' managers and have had no bona fide application so far to yield our place on the roll."

Colonel Barker said he thought Hitchcock must be mistaken in his claim that Alabama would yield to Hughes.

"I haven't heard much Hughes sentiment in my State. The delegation is for Sherman, Weeks, Root, Burton or Fairbanks. Roosevelt may have one vote," Barker added.

Colonel Barker is 82 years old and this is his ninth national convention as a delegate. His wife, who is 35, said he promised her not to go to any more conventions.

BORAH FOR SUFFRAGE.

The campaign of the suffrage workers for the endorsement of the Republican convention has become more active with the arrival of Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, president of the National American Woman Suffrage Association. The plank which the women hope to have inserted in the Republican party platform, was made public today. It was announced that Senator William E. Borah of Idaho will introduce the resolutions of the suffragists and will make a fight for the issue.

The plank, as written, is as follows:

"The Republican party, reaffirming its faith in government of the people, by the people, for the people, favors the extension of suffrage to women as a measure of justice to one-half the adult people of this country."

President Will Parade on Foot

To Lead Preparedness Line on June 14

WASHINGTON, June 1.—President Wilson, marching on foot, will lead the preparedness parade here Flag day, June 14. Afterward he will review the procession and deliver a Flag day address to the marchers.

When a local committee asked the President today to review the parade he replied enthusiastically that he not only would review it, but would march in it. The President also promised that if possible he would give permission to all government employes in Washington to march. He said that he would start with the procession at the beginning, march to the reviewing stand and then drop out for the review.

BAKER SOUNDS KEY FOR DEMOCRATS

COLUMBUS, Ohio, June 1.—Secretary of War Baker, in what was regarded as an indication of the trend of the Democratic national platform, this afternoon gave the Democratic party a clean bill of health in past, present and prospective legislation and policies, in his keynote speech at the Ohio state convention.

A united Democracy, backed by four years of accomplishment, culminating in the successful submarine negotiations and faced by a foe divided into three sections—the tariff men, the forces of "the great detractor" and "peace at any price" men, was viewed by Baker. He mentioned Ford as the chosen temporary leader of the peace men. He didn't mention any other politicians by name and he saved his praise for the President as the center of the storm.

Baker emphasized results following passage of the federal reserve act under the rural credits bill. The unprecedented deposits of national banks, the direct election of senators, the federal trade commission, already effected, and the prospective shipping and child labor laws were urged as Democratic accomplishments. Of President Wilson he said:

OF PRESIDENT.

"He has been the one sane and serene agent which will redeem this age; and when the election comes it will be found that the people of America, whatever their sympathies in the European struggle, realize that the one indispensable exponent of the mind, the friendliness and the ideals of America is the re-marking of the old order in the old world, is the finest type produced in this age by the new order in the new world—Woodrow Wilson."

The Republicans, Baker said, are hopelessly divided. Tariff will be the issue, Baker said, if Senator Hustings, scheduled to preside at Chicago, is correct. It will be the foreign policy with other Republicans, he argued.

"This party is again subdivided into those who think the foreign policy has been too peace-loving," he continued. "And there is a lucid group," he added, "led by the great detractor, who, shifting from position to position, select at each time apparently whatever vantage point seems to offer an opportunity for making difficult the position of the President and Congress. The motive of this group seems to be critical, rather than constructive, and guided by selfish ambition, it ignores consistency and duty alike, agitating that we should stay out when the tension of events seems likely to draw us in, and that we should go in when such recognitions of our rights have been secured as enable us with dignity and honor to stay out."

GIVES CLEAN BILL.

Baker gave the Democrats a clean bill of health in the preparedness matter. They have prepared the country, he said, and have done precisely what was necessary. He reviewed the troublous history of Mexico and concluded:

"I cannot tell what the future may bring forth in this situation. But for my part I shall be most happy if the necessary security of our people can be obtained without the killing of another Mexican man, woman or child by American arms. And those who criticize the Mexican policy of the administration must be prepared to accept the alternative and say that their choice is to make war upon these people who have willed no act of aggression upon us, to invade their country and to spend years in the occupation of a foreign soil and in a toilsome effort, expensive of life and treasure, to impress our alien civilization upon these people."

Baker paid high tribute to the President in a review of the European situation. Wilson, he said, had "gained the ends of this country with honor."

Mrs. Davis Ready to Flaunt Picture Again

CHICAGO, June 1.—G. O. P. delegates were wondering today if Mrs. William A. Davis, the statuesque beauty who started the near stampede for Roosevelt at the 1912 G. O. P. convention, is planning to repeat the stunt.

Mrs. Davis said today she has a ticket to the convention. The old guard, she said, has been trying to learn what she plans to do.

"If they don't behave I'll gather 20,000 T. R. boosters and go through the hall like a cyclone," she said.

Roosevelt Will Not Attend Conventions

PITTSBURG, June 1.—Theodore Roosevelt today reiterated emphatically that he would not go to Chicago.

"I will not go to Chicago—that is all I have to say," he told reporters.

Alexander P. Moore, a small crowd and the Friars Club met the colonel when he stopped for a few minutes en route to New York.

CARDS CAUSE ARREST.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 1.—William Jack, proprietor of the Navy restaurant of 152 East street, was arrested this morning by Corporal Martin Fogarty, charged with violating section 311 of the Penal Code, which makes it a misdemeanor to circulate obscene literature. Business cards of the cafe bearing on the reverse side a telephone conversation were responsible.

Vital Features

SILVERTOWN Cord Tires have giant CORDS in them!

They are made in "Straight-side" as well as in "Clincher" type.

The Silvertown Cord Tire of 36 x 4½ inch Size, and "Straight-side" Type, has 1240 Cubic Inches of Air-space.

A thorough search of the Market failed to discover any 36 x 4½ inch Tire, of any Thread-Fabric, (or alleged "Cord") Construction which had more than 1191 Cubic Inches of Air-space.

Silvertowns are made with Safety-Tread, as well as in the original Silvertown Rib-Tread.

This latter being closely copied by Makers of other Tires we now identify all genuine "Silvertowns" by the trade-mark shown herewith.

TRADE MARK

—Viz: a small double-diamond, in red rubber, on the white rubber side-wall of each Tire.

With Silvertown Cord Tires your Car will COAST 80% further than on Fabric Tires.

It will develop 17% more Speed from same Motor.

It will Ride smoother, Steer easier, and Start quicker.

And,—in these days of high-priced Fuel, bear in mind that it will consume 25% LESS GASOLENE, per Mile of performance.

That Saving alone pays for much more than the slightly higher cost of Silvertown Cord Tires.

So why not "Silvertown" your Car?

Why not give it "Class,"—Prestige,—and that SMOOTH RIDING which feels more like gliding?

Silvertown Cord Tires can now be had through any Goodrich Dealer, or any Branch of the Sole Manufacturers, in America, who are,—the B. F. Goodrich Co., of Akron, Ohio.

NORTH TRIP PLAN IS NOW PERFECTED

"Flying Wedge" of Commerce Men Ready for Spokane Trip.

Oakland's "Flying Wedge" of thirty-six members of the Chamber of Commerce advertising bureau, fighting to bring the Pacific Coast Ad Men's convention to this city in 1917, will leave Oakland in a special train June 10 for Spokane, Wash., where this year's convention is to be in session. Arrangements are now being completed for the dash to the north.

A large number of Oakland men and women in addition to Chamber of Commerce delegates will be in the party. Two private cars, a combination observation parlor car and a Pullman will make up the train which will carry the Oakland enthusiasts.

A special itinerary has been arranged. Stops will be made at Ashland and Salem, Ore., and at Shasta Springs. At Salem the Oakland visitors will be the guests of the Commercial Club and will pay a visit to the governor.

At Portland the party will remain for a day and part of an evening and will be the guests of the Portland Ad Club and the Chamber of Commerce at a luncheon. The afternoon will be devoted to motor trips along the Columbia river boulevard. A theater party will form the evening's attraction. Royal entertainment is promised in both Tacoma and Seattle, where the Oakland visitors will be guests of the Chambers of Commerce and Ad Clubs of those two cities.

Three days will be spent in Spokane during the convention period. The city will be turned over to the delegates and their friends. A side trip has been arranged to accommodate members of the party desirous of visiting Glacier National Park.

Girl Found Shot, Her Boy Companion Jailed

PROVIDENCE, R. I., June 1.—Beatrice Walter, 15 years old, was found dead early today, a bullet wound in her breast, and James O'Brien, with whom she had been walking early in the evening, is under arrest.

Circumstances mysteriously like those of the Lambert tragedy at Lake Forest, Ill., surround the death of the Walter girl, for O'Brien, returning to her father's home today, reported that she had shot herself.

He declared he left her for a minute and on his return found her dying by her own hand, a bullet lodged in her breast.

When William P. Walter, father of the slain girl, and the police reached the spot where O'Brien claimed Beatrice died, her body lay in the wheel ruts of a lonely road, a quarter of a mile from her home. No weapon was found and no reason for suicide has yet been given. O'Brien was immediately arrested.

Designs for Homes Called by Committee

NEW YORK, June 1.—The Immigrant Housing Competition organized last month at the residence of Mrs. Vincent Astor, to inaugurate a propaganda for better homes for immigrant working men, closed today.

Prizes will be given for the best plans. The first competition calls for a substitute for the freight cars used to house construction gangs along railways. The prizes include $300 for first, $200 for second and $100 for third.

It is to be succeeded by a series of public exhibits in New York and elsewhere, which will include not only the results of the competition but any housing plans now in operation.

There will be a second competition for plans for a house for a single family requiring two bedrooms; a house for a family with four lodgers, providing for the separation of the lodgers and the family, and a boarding house for thirty single lodgers, two lodgers in each room.

Los Angeles Again Is California's Capital

LOS ANGELES, June 1.—Los Angeles is the capital of California today. Through the departure of Governor Johnson from Sacramento to attend the Progressive convention and there being no lieutenant-governor, the executive role falls upon Senator Newton W. Thompson, pro tem president of the Senate.

HIT BY AUTO.

While crossing Seventh street near Chester last night William Crumbreche, 1655 Twelfth street, was run down by an automobile driven by A. Chon, Lakeshore and Mandana boulevard, and slightly injured. He was taken by Chon to the Fabiola hospital and treated for lacerations and bruises. According to the police report of the accident, Crumbreche was under the influence of liquor when he was run down, and Chon was unable to avoid the accident, as the man stepped directly in front of the automobile.

SIR ERNEST SHACKLETON SAFE

REACHES FALKLAND ISLANDS

URGES AID FOR 22 LEFT BEHIND

SIR ERNEST SHACKLETON, WHOSE MESSAGE TELLS OF EXPEDITION'S NARROW ESCAPE.

LONDON, June 1.—A further message received today from Lieutenant Sir Ernest Shackleton, the Antarctic explorer whose arrival at Port Stanley, Falkland Islands, was made known yesterday, shows that the expedition had a remarkable escape.

After meeting with almost unprecedented weather in the early part of 1915 the lieutenant's ship El Endurance was nipped by great icebergs and afterwards foundered.

Sir Ernest succeeded in getting off all his men and some stores. Terrible privations were suffered. After a most hazardous journey the explorer reached Elephant Island. The scarcity of food became so serious that he decided to leave the greater part of his men while he set off for help. Rations for the men left behind were stored in a hole dug in the ice.

After a journey of three weeks Sir Ernest reached South Georgia Island. There he sought the assistance of whalers for the rescue of the party on Elephant Island, but this proved to be impossible owing to the prevalence of unfavorable weather conditions. The message says there is urgent need for help.

In view of the information received from Lieutenant Shackleton the plans of the government for sending a relief expedition from England will be abandoned and a whaler will be sent from the Falkland Islands to rescue the marooned men.

After a careful examination of the text of Lieutenant Shackleton's original cable Sir Douglas Mawson, the explorer, said today:

"Instead of drifting until April 9 of this year as has been suggested it is quite plain the Endurance was stuck in the ice floes from March of last year until October 27, when the pressure became too great. The Endurance was crushed and sank on the latter date in the middle of Weddell Sea. Lieutenant Shackleton abandoned the sinking ship, dragging the whale boats and supplies on an ice floe, on which he continued to drift until April 9 of this year. It appears that having at that time reached open water the lieutenant and his companions launched a whale boat and sailed for Elephant Island off the South Shetland group, arriving there April 16.

"The lieutenant left twenty-two men in an ice cave and left with five others in an open boat for South Georgia Island, where he hoped to meet whaling vessels and thus get into touch with civilization. His voyage from South Shetland to South Georgia, a distance of 900 miles, in an open twenty-two-foot boat amid ice, was a hazardous and remarkable feat, even for so skilled a navigator and seaman as Shackleton.

"The South Shetland Islands are surrounded by floes at this time of the year and it will not be easy to reach the men on Elephant Island until later, though no doubt whalers will be sent now from the Falklands in an attempt to rescue them.

"It is understood Australia is sending a relief party to reach the ten men who are stranded on the great barrier owing to the breaking away of the auxiliary Aurora, which was to have met the main party when it emerged."

The message announcing the safety of Sir Ernest was dated Port Stanley, Falkland Island, May 31. It says:

I have arived here. Endurance was crushed in the middle of the Weddell sea on October 27, 1915.

She drifted 720 miles in the ice until April 9, this year.

We landed on Elephant island April 16. I left April 24, leaving twenty-two men in a hole in the ice cliffs there. Proceeded for help toward South Georgia with five men in a 22-foot boat. At the time of leaving the island all were well, but in urgent need of help.

LETTER MAY COST COUPLE FREEDOM

Suspected "Plot" Delays Hearing of Appeal for Probation.

Although August and Mary Mundt have confessed to charges of arson, they have failed to make a complete accounting to the authorities and have endeavored, from their cells in the county jail, to make arrangements according to authorities, for covering up any further traces of what is now believed to be a more extensive arson ring than was at first suspected.

The husband and wife have asked Superior Judge Ogden to be placed on probation. The matter was referred to the probation officer and when the couple appeared in court yesterday Assistant District Attorney Koford stated to Judge Ogden that a letter written by Mundt to his sister, Mrs. T. Shubert, 1942 Compton avenue, Los Angeles, had been intercepted at the county jail and that the missive indicated that the attitude of the couple was not to tell all they know about the arson ring in seeking their release on probation.

As a result of the disclosures the two cases were put over for two weeks and in the meantime the Mundts will be given further opportunity to place themselves in a more favorable light with the court.

The letter read in part:

"Please tear up all letters I write you. Tell nothing about the Gromans. Tell father to say nothing about us neither, nor Reinhardt, else we all get into trouble. They can't make them talk. Don't forget it. They come to me and ask me about Bertha and Uncle, but I keep still."

BYRON PIONEER DEAD.

BYRON, June 1.—One of Byron's most notable pioneers, Alonzo Plumley, aged 86, died at his home near here Monday night. Plumley was for sixty years identified with the farming, sheep raising and live stock industry of this section. He leaves a family of twelve sons and daughters and many grandchildren. Plumley came across the plains to this section in a wagon in 1853 and has been a successful rancher.

CITY NOT OWNER OF ITS OWN LAND?

W. E. Billings, an attorney, caused some surprise and much merriment at the meeting of the city council today when he protested against the proposed paving of Fallon street in front of the Municipal Auditorium on the grounds that Edson F. Adams, the banker, is the owner of the property.

"Well, well, well," ejaculated Mayor Davie, upon hearing Billings' plea, "who owns the auditorium, pray?"

"I don't know," answered Billings, "Mr. Adams owns the ground on which it stands."

The commissioners laughed, told reminiscences, overruled the protest and ordered the street to be paved from Tenth to Twelfth streets.

Billings' protest was based on the fact that Adams claims the property on a quit-claim deed given to him by fishermen more than a score of years ago. The city claims the property as part of the waterfront. Adams, a few years ago, sued the city to quiet title, and lost in the local courts. The case is now on appeal in the State Supreme Court. It had been on appeal since some time before the city decided to build the auditorium on the land.

"Why do you protest the paving?" asked Commissioner Anderson. "If the work is done the city has to pay for it."

"Well, Mr. Adams owns the property and may in some manner be made to pay for the paving," Billings replied.

It was at this point that the mayor began to reminiscence, recalling the time when the property was covered with water, and asking confirmation of his statements from other members of the council. They were confirmed, laughter followed, and the protest was denied.

"I wonder if Adams thinks he owns all the property in this city?" the mayor queried to no one in particular as council adjourned.

New Rotary Head Formally Seated

A. E. Carter, newly elected president of the Oakland Rotary Club, was formally seated in office today at a luncheon held in the Hotel Oakland, when former President V. O. Lawrence turned over the gavel. Addresses were made by the retiring directors and members of the new board.

President Carter pledged his efforts to upbuilding the club and to aiding in making the organization a factor in big public movements. John Smith and Alexander Stewart, retiring directors, spoke on the work of the past year, and George S. Meredith, vice-president; George Hatch, John Hottes and V. O. Lawrence, the retiring executive, also were heard.

President Carter urged on the club the advantage of furthering the boy scout movement, which the club has already aided, in Oakland.

"We should give every boy a chance to be a scout," he declared, "as in upbuilding manhood lies the success of the future generation."

Was Wife of Pioneer and Ranger of 1849

Funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon for Mrs. Pauline H. Robinson, wife of Colonel W. T. Robinson, a member of the famous Texas Rangers regiment of the Confederate Army, who passed away yesterday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. W. C. Werle, 812 Forty-fifth street.

Mrs. Robinson was a native of Los Angeles and was 62 years of age. Her father, Dr. J. R. Conway, was one of the state's pioneers, crossing the plains with his family in 1849. Colonel Robinson arrived from the south with his father, also in 1849. He is one of the leaders in the Association of California pioneers.

Barbecue Planned by Butchers at Idora

On next Sunday, Butchers' Union Local 120, of Alameda county, will hold its annual picnic and barbecue at Idora Park. Time and trouble has not been spared by the committee, which is handling this affair, to make it one of the best ever given by the butchers.

The barbecue feature will be handled by experienced chefs, who have been handling some of the biggest barbecues in the Southern States. Dancing will also be an order of the day.

Committee in charge is H. Osterloh, chairman; H. Bergman, Phil. Bowman, H. Kreiger, Charles Vinell, Jos. O. Levy, F. W. Garlich, J. Costa, A. Steffans, F. Costa.

To Form Oakland Branch Boy Scouts

A meeting of prominent residents of this city has been called for tomorrow noon at the Hotel Oakland for the purpose of organizing a local council of Boy Scouts of America. Eighty of Oakland's business men have been invited to participate in the meeting.

V. O. Lawrence, retiring president of the Rotary Club, A. E. Carter, newly elected president and Thomas Bridges, have issued the invitations.

MILLS GIRLS READY FOR GRADUATION

A jubilee celebration will be held by the students of Mills College next week in honor of Mrs. Susan Mills, commemorating the founding of the college fifty years ago. The celebration will be combined with the commencement exercises of the class of eighteen graduates, the degrees to be conferred at 2:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. Dr. Frederick W. Bade of the Pacific Theological Seminary, Berkeley, will deliver the graduation address, his topic to be "Gift of Vision."

The celebration will last four days, commencing Saturday and ending Tuesday. Saturday will be called Alumnae Day, at which time ground is to be broken for the new clubhouse. Either Dean Ege or E. G. Linsley will officiate at the ceremony. Upon this day also will meet the alumnae of the college, a business meeting to be called at 10:45 by Miss Janet C. Haight, who is acting president of the alumnae association.

A luncheon will be served at 1 p. m., at which Dean H. B. Ege will preside, following which will be the breaking of ground for the $10,000 clubhouse.

Sunday will be given over to the baccalaureate sermon to be delivered by the Rev. Frank W. Clampett of Trinity Episcopal church, San Francisco. Music will be furnished by the choir of the Plymouth Congregational church of Oakland and also by the Mills College choir.

A concert by the members of the music department, and the pupils of Dean Edward F. Schneider, F. M. Biggerstaff, A. T. Stewart and Mrs. M. E. Blanchard will be given Monday evening.

Commencement exercises will be held on Tuesday beginning at 2:30 p. m. The academic procession in cap and gown will form at 2 o'clock at the college and march through the trees, accompanied by the vested choir to Linsley hall. When assembled, Dr. Bade will deliver his commencement address. The list of graduates is as follows:

Boatmen to Discuss Civilian Cruise

Motor boat owners and yachtsmen will be guests Sunday of Captain Philip Andrews, commandant at Yerba Buena Island Naval Training Station, when plans for a civilian cruise of the Pacific Coast, at which naval duties will be taught as army duties are to be taught in the civilians' camp at Monterey, will be outlined. The "preparedness" organization of the yacht and launch owners will be an important aid to the navy in coast defense, it is pointed out by naval authorities interested in the work. Radio operators are requested by the committee to send in their names and addresses to Captain Andrews.

The proposed cruise will extend from August 15 to September 12. Enrollments will be open until July 15.

Socialists to Picnic at East Shore Park

The Socialists of the bay district will picnic at East Shore Park next Sunday.

Dancing, games and racing will be the features of amusement. Luella Twining, candidate for Congress in the Sixth District, will speak on the subject, "James Connolly and the Irish Rebellion."

Miss Twining was personally acquainted with James Connolly, having worked with him in some of the big strikes that took place in Ireland and England a few years ago.

A. E. Gifford, candidate for Congress in the fourth district, will speak on the subject, "What's the Matter With the World."

DEATH OF MOTHER AND SON PROBED

SAN FRANCISCO, June 1.—Investigation was started today into the causes of the accident which resulted yesterday in the death of Mrs. Edith M. Gallagher, wife of Robert Gallagher, educator, and her son Leland Gallagher. The bodies were found after they had lain under their overturned automobile for nearly eight hours. The machine had evidently skidded off the bank, about a mile from the Gallagher home at Moss Beach.

The two were on a trip to San Francisco in the machine. They had stopped to call on a friend and had just resumed the journey when the accident occurred. The overturned automobile was noticed late in the day by a passing farmer, who investigated and summoned assistance. Death is believed to have been instantaneous, both bodies being crushed under the heavy machine.

According to members of the family, Leland took out the automobile for the trip against the advice of his brother and the rest of the family, who feared the road. His brother, Lasher Gallagher, in fact, took a spark plug from the machine to prevent his using it, when Mrs. Gallagher, siding in with the boy, asserted that she would accompany him on the trip.

According to the family the two started for San Francisco yesterday morning, while Lasher Gallagher and his father, who is president of the Gallagher-Marsh business colleges, left Moss Beach by train. Later in the afternoon, when Mrs. Gallagher was not heard from, a search was started.

Divorced Wife Not at Courtmartial

SAN FRANCISCO, June 1.—Mrs. Rebecca Robinson, divorced wife of Captain James Lee Robinson, complainant against Lieutenant Col. Ogden Rafferty, U. S. A. retired, the defendant at a secret court martial at Fort Scott was not called as a witness this morning as had been forecasted. Mrs. Robinson hurried here from Cincinnati in an effort to vindicate herself. Mrs. Robinson undoubtedly will be placed on the stand before the conclusion of the trial. She claims that her husband was always insanely jealous and that he would go off in a rage at army hops when other officers would ask her to dance.

ARGENTINE STATESMAN DIES.

BUENOS AYRES, June 1.—The death of Antonio Delpino, a former vice-president of the Argentine Republic, is announced.

Hear Complaints of Rendering Plant

Henry C. W. Steinbeck, proprietor of a butcher shop, was today ordered to appear before the City Council next Wednesday and show cause why he should not be made to close down a fat-rendering plant which he maintains at 729 Lydia street, on the ground that it is insanitary and operated in violation of the city's health laws.

Members of the Oakland Center of the California Civic League filed a communication urging the council to strictly enforce the provisions of the ordinance which divides the city into certain residence and industrial zones, asking that manufactories be not permitted to encroach upon the home districts.

Bids were opened for the following street work: Improvement of Spruce street, East Twelfth street, East Sixteenth street and East Tenth street. Bids were also opened for lighting posts on Grove street above Forty-seventh. All bids were referred to the city attorney and the commissioner of streets.

Oregon Land Grant Bill Passes Senate

WASHINGTON, June 1. — The Senate this afternoon passed the Oregon land grant bill with all the amendments asked by Senator Chamberlain. An amendment by Borah lowers the time of residence required on a claim from five to three years.

Adventists Open Camp Meeting This Evening

A great tent city in which 11,598 square yards of canvas are stretched, enough if cut in a strip a foot wide, to reach for more than two miles, has sprung up at Forty-fifth and San Pablo avenue, where the Seventh-day Adventists will open their annual camp meeting tonight. It will continue for 10 days. Eighty-five tents have thus far been engaged by those who will camp on the grounds, and it is expected that a third as many more will call for accommodations. Many others who are living in Oakland, close by, will attend the meetings, but will not camp on the grounds.

The mammoth tent for the general meetings will be in readiness for the opening service at 8 o'clock, when Elder J. L. McElhany, president of the California Conference of the Adventists, will speak on "The Times and the Seasons."

Elder E. E. Andross, of Glendale, president of the Pacific Union Conference of the Adventists, and Ernest Lloyd, missionary secretary for the union, are expected to arrive on the grounds early tomorrow morning.

Dainty trimming touches give them a dressy appearance and the finish and workmanship is of the best.

Children's Bloomers 29c

Nothing better to wear with the little play dresses; durable, pretty and easily laundered. Mothers will appreciate this attractive garment in white with pink or blue stripes. The waist band is fitted with strong buttonholes; the knees gathered with sturdy elastic. Sizes 2 to 8 years.

Middy Blouses for Summer 95c

The most popular of all garments for summer wear—cool, comfortable and practical. Some women wear them in the gymnasium or on the athletic field, others for hiking and yachting, still others for wear around the house or garden. Many attractive models in an excellent quality white twill material with collars and cuffs of pretty contrasting stripes or plain colors, and side laces. Sizes 14 to 40.

Awning Striped Sport Skirts $2.39

have won favor with thousands of women this season, and will continue to do so, because they are attractive, yet reasonable; fashionable, yet serviceable. Here is a smart style, fastened on the side, trimmed with large pearl buttons and one pocket. Comes in large stripes of light and darker blue, tan and brown with a narrow stripe of contrasting color running through, and other daring, yet harmonious, color combinations. For the price, a bargain without parallel—$2.39 each.

Women's White Wash Sport Skirts 98c

Every vacation wardrobe calls for a white skirt—it can be worn on so many occasions, always looks well and can be easily laundered. Here are some latest models in the favored full flare, some with one pocket, some with two large outside pockets with buttoned flaps. Strong, durable pique and twill, trimmed with large pearl buttons. All sizes, inexpensively priced at 98c.

Bungalow Aprons 39c

Every housewife likes the bungalow apron—it covers her all up, leaving the dress beneath unsoiled, or it is cut full enough to wear in place of a dress on hot days. Just the thing for making jelly or dusting. Made of striped and figured percals in medium and light shades; some are finished with cuffs and a belt in the back.

MISS ADELAIDE SMITH, ONE OF A GROUP OF YOUNG PEOPLE WHO WILL GIVE A DANCE IN PIEDMONT TOMORROW EVENING.

Invitations for the wedding of Miss Eleanor Moore and Paul Kirtland Mays were received this morning by nearly 100 friends, who are bidden to the ceremony at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Elinor Moore, in Channing way, on Wednesday evening, June 21. Rev. Edward Lamb Parsons will be the officiating clergyman and a group of the bride's girl friends will be her attendants.

Miss Moore's closest friend is Miss Dorothy Reiber, daughter of Professor and Mrs. Reiber of Berkeley, who is at present studying art in New York. She was to have been maid of honor, but will be unable to come from the East for the wedding, so Miss Moore has decided that no one shall take her place. Mrs. James Hamilton Todd (Gwendolen Woodward) will be matron of honor, and there will be a half a dozen ribbon-bearers, to include Miss Dorothea Torrey, Miss Mary Stillman, Miss Jane Bowers, Miss Alice Snook, Miss Elizabeth Page and Miss Marian Fitzhugh.

The young couple are to make their home in the East after a honeymoon in California, so a number of social affairs planned for the attractive bride-elect will be farewell entertainments.

MISS LOGAN A BRIDE.

St. Mark's church in Berkeley was the scene of a pretty wedding this afternoon when Miss Ruth Logan, daughter of Mrs. M. H. Logan, was married to Arthur Lee Cunningham Jr., son of Dr. and Mrs. A. L. Cunningham of Oakland. White and yellow roses were used in the decorations, with a background of bamboo and ferns. The bride wore a dainty costume of white net with a hooped skirt, the draperies bound with white satin ribbon, and she carried a shower of bride roses and lilies of the valley. There were two bridesmaids, Miss Frances Peterson, who was gowned in pink taffeta and carried pink roses, and Miss Ruth Smith, who were yellow taffeta and carried yellow roses.

Bert Banta, who was a classmate of the groom at the University of California, was best man, and Rev. Parsons read the marriage service. An informal reception at the Logan home in College avenue, followed the ceremony. The young couple are to establish their home in Oakland after a honeymoon in southern California.

DANCE AT WILLIAMS HOME.

About 100 of the younger set of Berkeley will be entertained at a dance given by Mrs. Harry Alston Williams this evening at the Williams home in Piedmont avenue. Most of the guests will be members of La Jeunesse dancing club, and the young friends of Kenneth Williams. Assisting to receive will be Mrs. Berrien Williams (Corena Williams) and Mrs. Walter Ratcliffe (Muriel Williams). Miss Florence Williams, who is returning from the East, where she has been studying art, will not arrive in time for the party, and is not expected until Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Williams and their family will go to Monterey June 17. They have leased a house there for the summer.

SUMMER IN THE EAST.

Miss Marian Fillius is planning a summer visit in the East, where she will be the guest of friends on Long Island. Miss Fillius has made many friends among the Eastern visitors at Coronado, where she spends a month or two every winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Newton Holmes Kessler and Miss Katherine Kessler left today for the east, where they will spend the greater part of the summer.

RECEPTION IN BERKELEY.

This afternoon are of the last receptions of the season was given by Mrs. William T. Dinwoody at her home in Berkeley, where over 100 guests were entertained. The rooms of Mrs. Dinwoody's home were decorated with baskets and jars of cut flowers, and during the afternoon there was an informal program of music. Mrs. Dwight Chase, a bride of the season, who was well known in the musical set of New York before her marriage, sang most charmingly several times.

Mrs. Dinwoody was assisted in receiving by her mother, Mrs. Henry Fowler, and by Mme. Antonio De Grassi, Mrs. Sherwood Bird, Mrs. E. Ellsworth Kendespire, Mrs. Harvey Goodman, Mrs. Fred Stolp and Miss Christina Rose. In the dining-room where tea was served were a group of the younger girls, among them Miss Carmen Stolp, Miss Florence Mallett, Miss Katherine Hutchinson, Miss Marian Small, Miss Amy Beth Tayson and Miss Katherine Dinwoody.

RETURN FROM PANAMA.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Fraser and Mrs. Frank A. Humphreys returned yesterday from the East, having enjoyed a trip to Panama in their six weeks' absence. They visited Chicago, Niagara and points of interest in Canada, going from New York to New Orleans, whence they sailed for Panama. On their return journey from New Orleans they stopped at Los Angeles for a few days.

OPEN SUMMER HOME.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Glass left today for their summer home at Napa Soda Springs, where they will remain until the first of October. Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Phelps will be their guests in July and a number of week-end house parties have been planned for the season.

SAIL FOR HONOLULU.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl H. Allen, with Miss Dorothy Allen, sailed yesterday on the Wilhelmina for Honolulu, where they will visit their son, Ray Allen, who is established in business there. They will be absent six weeks.

Also on the Wilhelmina sailing for Honolulu was Miss Dorothy Miller, who will spend two months in the islands with friends.

VISITING THE SOUTH.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Carter and their small son left on Sunday for Southern California, where they will spend several weeks.

Visiting Los Angeles are Mrs. Charles Kinsley and Mrs. Harry Morton, who are being entertained by friends in the southern city. They will be absent a fortnight.

DANCE IN PIEDMONT.

At Mewbrey Hall in Piedmont, the Sunelot Club will give a dance for 200 young people tomorrow evening. It will be the first of a series of summer dances planned by the club. The committee of arrangements includes Miss Adelaide Smith, Miss Irene White, Miss Josephine Mulvihill, Miss Gertrude McGrath, Miss Mary Flinn, Miss Ann Coakley, Edward Mulvihill, Frank Coakley, Thomas McGrath, Ray Crumly, Frank Creely, Oliver Hatch, Leo Lynch, Harold Butterick, Eckert Smith, Edward Smith, Edward Fenpon and James Dempsey.

WEDDING TODAY.

At a quiet ceremony this afternoon Miss Katherine Fink and Paul S. Orgren were married in St. Paul's church in the presence of relatives and a few intimate friends. Mrs. Leo Belden (Alys Perkins Smith), was matron of honor and the best man was Orville Adams of San Francisco. After a honeymoon in the south the young couple will occupy an apartment in the Vernon Heights. The bride is a charming girl who has made her home at "Palm Knoll," the residence of Senator and Mrs. George C. Perkins, for several years. Orgren, who belongs to a prominent Southern California family, is connected with an Oakland bank.

QUIET WEDDING.

Last evening in the study of the First Unitarian Church, Miss Minnie Emerson of Chicago and Charles E. Richardson of Oakland were married by Rev. William Simonds. Later there was a wedding supper for a few intimate friends at the home of Mrs. A. E. Swett in Castro street. The couple are to reside in Fruitvale, where Richardson has prepared a home for his bride.

CITY OWNS FACTORY.

WINONA, Minn., June 1.—A municipal factory was opened here today. It is operated at the fire department, by firemen, during spare hours. New apparatus is manufactured. The city financed the factory.

Women in the News

SAN FRANCISCO, June 1.—Clergymen were a missing quantity in Stockton Memorial Day. In fact, they were so scarce the well planned elopement of Miss Lottie Black Dunkinson, one of the heirs of the late Joseph Black of Los Angeles, and David Maltman, wealthy San Francisco mining man, nearly ended without the matrimonial knot being tied.

The wedding was to be a secret affair. Maltman met his fiancee and motored to Stockton. The license was secured, and they began their search for a minister. But it seems that every minister in Stockton had decided to take a vacation.

The physician shot a questioning glance at his perspiring friend and at the dainty girl.

"What's the matter, Dave, having trouble?" he said smiling knowingly.

There was nothing else to do, the hour was growing late and Maltman was weary. So he told his friend the whole thing.

Dr. Oliver responded nobly to the situation. He loaded the anxious couple into his automobile and drove them to French Camp, where he was sure there was a minister. This time Maltman was successful, and the ceremony was performed with Dr. Oliver as best man.

Maltman and his bride returned to San Francisco yesterday. Miss Dunkinson was the daughter of Mrs. James Black of Auburn. She is well known in San Francisco society circles, and met Maltman at a social function more than a year ago.

Maltman has been in the mining business for thirteen years maintaining offices in San Francisco. For years he was a member of the Stock Exchange. He is now operating mines at Angels Camp.

Mr. and Mrs. Maltman will live in San Francisco.

GIRL IN DISPUTE IS ADOPTED BY PASTOR

PALO ALTO, June 1.—After being the center of two Superior Court contests in San Jose six-years-old Wilana Van Wussow is now the legally adopted daughter of the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Collett of Palo Alto. The Van Wussows have given up the fight and signed papers of relinquishment.

The child lived with Mr. and Mrs. Collett for two years, when Mrs. Isabelle Merriman, Santa Clara county humane officer, secured a writ of habeas corpus directing Mrs. Collett to produce the child in court.

MOTHER LEAPS TO SAVE BABE FROM FIRE

CHICO, June 1.—Just as Mrs. Henry J. Strohman, with her two-year-old baby in her arms jumped from the second story of her burning home in Oroville yesterday the ceiling of the room fell in and the house was consumed by fire. Mrs. Strohman was slightly hurt, but the baby escaped unhurt and the jump is all that saved its life.

Mrs. Strohman and the baby were alone in bed when the mother awoke to find flames already eating the bedclothes. The only means of escape was cut off by fire and she gathered the little one in her arms and sprang through the window. It is believed the fire was of incendiary origin.

SCHOOL GIRL HURT IN AUTO CRASH

SAN MATEO, June 1.—Pearl Darling, a student of the San Mateo Union high school, sustained a fractured arm yesterday when her automobile crashed into the machine of John J. McDonald of Milpitas at Second avenue and El Camino Real. Mr. and Mrs. McDonald, occupants of the McDonald car, and Mrs. M. E. Darling, who was riding with her daughter, escaped with slight cuts and bruises. Miss Darling was taken to the Red Cross Hospital for treatment.

TAKES WIFE'S AUTO FOR ELOPEMENT

PORTLAND, June 1.—R. C. McElroy, an insurance broker, formerly of Portland, was arrested yesterday at Missoula, Mont., on a charge of larceny by bailee.

It is alleged that McElroy drove away from his home last August in an automobile owned by his wife, taking with him Miss Daisy Hay, 18 years old, who had lived with her parents here up to that time.

V. N. Hay, the girl's father, told officers that he had been informed McElroy had married his daughter and he did not know of the man's previous marriage.

"TAKE WIFE, OR KEEP" OFF STREET," ORDER

SAN JOSE, June 1.—A novel temporary sentence was imposed by Police Judge Dougherty yesterday when he ordered Giuseppe Cirincione never to appear upon the streets of San Jose without being accompanied by his wife. When Cirincione goes to work in the morning his wife will accompany him and she will go in the evening to the barber shop where he is employed, to escort him home.

Cirincione was found guilty recently by a jury of a charge of insulting a woman near the corner of Fourth and Reed streets. The prosecution claims that he had been systematically insulting women and girls for months, and more charges of a similar nature are pending against him.

The novel conditions imposed in court will last until the judge decides whether he shall admit the man to probation or send him to jail.

Sinai Volunteer Choir Ends Series Tomorrow

The Volunteer Choir of Temple Sinai will appear tomorrow night for the last time, after a successful series of Friday night services during the summer season. The service will be of special interest, as an elaborate program has been arranged for the affair. The membership committee of the Temple will make its final report at the next meeting of the directors, when forty new members will be registered and plans for extension work outlined.

Temple Sinai will celebrate Shabuoth tomorrow, with the last volunteer choir service. A double quartet under the direction of Mrs. Elliott will render the special music of the Shabuoth on Wednesday, June 7th, when a class of seven boys will be confirmed. These will include Lawrence Cohn, Ernest Schoenfeld, Morris Austin, Martin Tieburg, Raymond Livingston, Harold Friedman and Alex Trachman. The boys were tutored by Cantor Eisenberg with the assistance of Mr. Stein, the Shabuoth school teacher.

Pay Last Tribute to Julius Sonnenberg

The funeral of the late Julius Sonnenberg, Oakland theatrical man, was held this afternoon at the Albert Brown chapel. A large number of theatrical associates and friends gathered to pay their last respects, Sonnenberg being one of the best known men in the western division of the Orpheum circuit. The interment was private.

For some years past Sonnenberg had been assistant manager of the Oakland Orpheum, coming to Oakland from Los Angeles. He is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Martin Beckof New York and Mrs. M. S. Byck of Savannah, and by four brothers, Sigmund, Max, Henry and Albert Sonnenberg. He was a member of Parnumpunt Lodge No. 17, Knights of Pythias, of this city.

Irish to Hold Reunion

Gaelic Festival Planned

MRS. JULIA CRONIN COEN.

Colleens and Lads to Appear in Games and Dances

Unprecedented enthusiasm in the Irish circles of California is being centered on the Gaelic reunion and festival to be conducted by the Knights of the Red Branch in Shellmound Park next Sunday. Thousands of members of the newly organized society are coming from all parts of the state to participate in the celebration, and preparations have been made to entertain the biggest gathering of Irish people ever attracted to an outdoor event in the West.

In the morning representatives from all the Irish societies will take part in a discussion of the critical situation in Ireland and plans will be formulated for the relief of the widows and orphans of the executed leaders and soldiers of the Irish rebellion, as well as the families of the imprisoned soldiers.

A pretentious program of sports and dancing will be presented in the afternoon. The feature attractions include a P. A. A. A. track and field meet, with California's best athletes in competition; championship contests in Gaelic dances for all classes, bicycle races, a series of games and pastimes characteristic of Ireland, novel and grotesque contests for young and old, prize pavilion dancing and a competition between Irish fiddlers and pipers.

Among the colleens and lads entered in the Gaelic dancing championships are Hana Taube, Edna Keane, Mildred Kelleher, Clara Coyne, Pearl Hickman, Muriel Norton, Anne Dalley, Alice Driscoll, Viola Enwright, Pauline Gall, Willie Leonard, Dan Cotter, Edward Courtney, P. J. Kelleher, William O'Dwyer, C. O'Mahoney, J. J. O'Connor and D. O'Mahoney.

The committee in charge includes P. J. Kelleher, Captain J. F. Waters, Captain T. L. McNabee, Lieutenant D. J. Harnedy, William Coleman P. O'Shea, James Sullivan, P. J. Kelly.

The Knights of the Red Branch is the oldest and largest organization of patriotic Irishmen in the United States. Mrs. Julia Cronin Coen heads the women's committee which is aiding the knights to make Sunday's affair a signal success.

Grandmother Winner in Raentsch Contest

With the understanding that Karl Raentsch, claimant to a share in the vast estate of the late Robert Bruce Armstrong, may visit his 5-year-old son Karl Ruprecht Raentsch, at the home of the boy's grandmother in Davis, as often as may seem reasonable, Judge W. T. O'Donnell of Solano county has decided to give Mrs. Armstrong legal guardianship.

A conference was held yesterday at Fairfield before the court, when Grandmother Armstrong and her son-in-law met on amicable terms for the first time in many months and for the first tie since Raentsch involved the $1,000,000 Armstrong estate by filing suits in the State and Federal courts.

Raentsch sued in San Francisco to have set aside a trust deed for $400,000 made by his late wife, Alice Armstrong Raentsch in favor of her son. Raentsch claimed that his mother-in-law had unduly influenced her daughter on her deathbed against her husband.

Following the conference yesterday it was intimated by counsel for Raentsch that the litigation between he and the Armstrongs may be settled out of court.

Hill's Last Gift Won by Eugene University

EUGENE, Ore., June 1.—At the close of the day of the funeral of James J. Hill, telegrams were sent from Eugene announcing that the Eugene Bible University had raised a fund of $200,000, fulfilling the condition attached to an offer to give the school $50,000 additional made by Hill two years ago yesterday marked the expiration of the time limit upon the Hill gift. A permanent endowment fund of $250,000 for the school is thus created.

The announcement of the success of the campaign was made by President E. C. Sanderson, of the university. Two telegrams were sent to St. Paul announcing that the fund was complete. One was addressed to John J. Toomey, Hill's agent, and the other to his son, Louis W. Hill.

Hill's original offer was made March 31, 1914. He placed a time limit of two years upon the gift. March 31 this year, he granted an additional sixty days for the fulfillment of the conditions.

Admires the Baby.

This remarkable treatment makes the muscles, cords and ligaments flexible—expansion comes without strain—the nerves are relieved of tension and thorough comfort is enjoyed.

News and Views Of Oakland's Many Theaters

ORPHEUM

Theater goers of the town have taken the musical comedy company at the Orpheum to their arms and, judging by the crowds that pack the theater, they seem inclined to adopt the musical comedy fun-makers for life.

"The Time, the Place, and the Girl" is the famous musical show which the musical comedy people are providing this week, and it is a beautiful bit of stage production from beginning to end. When last seen here as a two dollar performance, it was considered quite the creamiest musical comedy offering on the "road."

The funny antics of big Joe Roberts, a two hundred and fifty-pound lad who chooses this week to attire himself in a Buster Brown suit and mush stick candy and be "mama's baby boy," has become town chatter. Mrs. Max Dill, wife of the famous member of the Kolb and Dill team, makes her debut with the company this week in the part of the flashy widow, mother of the aforesaid two hundred and fifty pound baby boy lad.

Pat Barrett and Eddie Allen both have snappy parts which suit them to a "T," and Wiseman, a late addition to the company, shines with equal smartness in one of those pleasant boy roles that suit him him perfectly.

Jean Devereaux is a surprise to even her warmest admirers in the role of a pretty nurse in charge of a sanitarium where all the fun of the piece centers.

The dancing chorus makes a big hit throughout, and especially pleasing is the newest dance step called "Walking the Dog." This dance has become the rage in the East and is being put on by some of the stars in the big Zelgfield and Winter Garden shows in New York for the first time.

Not the least of the many attractive features in "The Time, the Place, and the Girl," is the barefoot chorus which rambles down the runway through the orchestra, all the while singing a catchy ditty about barefoot days and school.

Helene Lackaye, a famous sister of the famous Wilton Lackaye, heads the vaudeville portion of the program in a very striking dramatic offering called "Overtones." Elsa Ruegger, probably the finest woman cellist in the world, delights music lovers with her selections on the cello. Svengali, a remarkable canine whose feats are uncanny, is a novelty. The Gormans are song writers and singers who please.

MACDONOUGH

Capacity audiences are again greeting the Oakland favorites, Dillon and King, at the Macdonough this week. The popular comedians are presenting as their second week's attraction, the laughable dancing travesty, "The Tango Craze." The comedy is superbly costumed, lavishly staged and contains all of the elements that go to make up worth-while amusements.

The leading comedy roles are, of course, assumed by Ben T. Dillon and Will King. They make of Mike and Ike two laughable characters that keep the fun ball rolling continuously throughout the action of the piece. The comedians are beingably assisted this week in the merry-making by the following members of their clever company: Reece Gardner, Vilma Steen, Jack Wise, Hazel Wainwright, Will Hayes, Teddy La Due and Harry Lancaster.

The social ambitions of Mrs. Mike Dooley and her marriagable daughter, Hazel, form the basis of an amusing plot. At a dancing academy conducted by one Ike Leschinski, several amusing characters are brought together and involved in a number of side-splitting episodes.

Musically speaking, Dillon and King's newest production is all that could possibly be desired. The opening chorus participated in by the Ginger Girls and the Rialto Quartet is a pleasing number and one that holds an important place on the program.

A chorus girls' contest will be the interesting feature of tomorrow (Friday) night's show. A contest will be given after each performance.

PANTAGES

South American dancing girls, whirling and tripping through weird measures of the tropics, are drawing crowds this week to the Oakland Pantages, where "The Tangoland Revolution" of "A revolt in Tangoland," as it is known in vaudeville billing, is the headline feature jointly with Hyman Adler's remarkable picture of Jawish life, "Solomon's Bargain." These two acts are made bigger by the company they are with, for the Hickey Brothers have proved one of the hits of the present.

"A Revolt in Tangoland" is a mammoth dancing spectacle in which pretty girls whirl through many measures, and Lew Williams, the comedian, makes a laugh every minute. The plot is one of deadly revolt and a bandit chase in some far away part of South America. Then the dances come in—the queer, dreamy dances of Argentina and the other South American social centers.

Hyman Adler and his company, including Herman Crystal and Betty Frank, offer a really big attraction in "Solomon's Bargain." It is a picture of Hebrew life, acted by Jewish actors, and makes wholesome comedy without an attempt to caricature the Jewish people.

The Hickey brothers call themselves acrobatic dancers, and one of them bends a tray, literally, over the other's head. The iron tray simply curls up when it hits the adamant cranium. Then the audience doubles up—with laughter.

The coming week is to see one of the biggest shows ever put together at the Pantages. Every act was personally picked by Manager Alexander Pantages to accompany "The Junior Revue" on its Western tour. The Junior Revue is the biggest attraction of the whole year, being an entire vaudeville show in itself. In addition, there will be other features—the Great Howard, Scotch Ventriloquist, who made King Edward laugh and also made Harry Lauder forget his dignity, and Clayton and Lennie, in "The Happy Chappie and his Yankee Friend."

OAKLAND PHOTO

The story of "Her Great Price" concerns a homeless girl who is practically adopted by three typical Bohemians—an artist, a sculptor and a writer in the Latin Quarter of New York City. They induce her to cast her lot with theirs and take up short story writing. She is a failure and about to take her life when Tom Leighton, a wealthy sculptor, stops her and hears the story of her life. Leighton is interested and makes a bargain with the girl. He agrees to advance her $50,000 and insure her life in his favor for that amount.

In conjunction with this picture the Oakland Photo is also showing that screaming, laughing comedy, "Green Stockings," starring Miss Lillian Walker.

The balance of the program consists of Billie Burke in the third chapter of Gloria's Romance, entitled "A Perilous Love." In this chapter the real story begins and gives Miss Burke an opportunity to exhibit her rare dramatic ability and to show the famous gowns she wears in this big production.

FRANKLIN

"The Unwritten Law," Edwin Milton Royle's famous play, was given its first presentation at the Franklin theater yesterday in motion picture version, with Beatrix Michelena in the leading role of Kate Wilson. The production thrilled the capacity audience last night as a few motion pictures seen in this city for many months have done. Everything that appeals to the lover of the sensational is found in "The Unwritten Law," placed logically in the string of episodes which make up the sum of the tragedy in Kate Wilson's life, and besides the sensational effects there is something far deeper in the picture. The emotions are profoundly stirred and the mind is given something to ponder over. It is the conjunction of these two qualities, appealing to the imagination and to the intelligence, which makes "The Unwritten Law" a splendid film production.

The courtroom scene is staged as is all the rest of the picture, with an admirable attention to detail, and as to the performance of the star, Miss Michelena, it is easily her most effective and best-acted role. It affords her opportunity for the display of her beauty, but it does more. It calls on her for the ultimate of dramatic expressiveness, showing the genius that is in her for depicting every emotion of which the human heart is capable.

As an additional feature, William Collier is presented in an exceedingly humorous comedy-drama, entitled, "The No-Good Guy."

IDORA

The Monkey Merry-go-Round is still proving the headliner at Idora this week. The Javese monkeys are the only animal mechanics in the world and are daily operating various forms of transportation from the desert camel to the 1917 automobile.

The popularity of the Inland Beach is ever on the increase. For the accommodation of the "regulars," the management has put on sale a limited number of commute swimming tickets. On Sunday, to lend a Hawaiian atmosphere to the beach, the management will give an Island Luau, or native Hawaiian festival, serving poi to the visitors. The setting is ideal for such festivals and it is anticipated that these will prove a most interesting addition to the many free attractions at the park.

The skating season is now in full swing and skating parties are being planned every evening. The Triangle Club, the famous organization of record holder skaters, are holding their meets at the rink on Wednesday evenings.

Spring board photography is the latest craze in postcard portraits and the beach photographer is kept busy with the kiddies wanting to be photographed as aquatic athletes.

$250,000 for June Weddings, Is Estimate

CLEVELAND, June 1.—Two hundred and fifty thousand dollars will be spent on 1000 June weddings in Cleveland, according to Frank Zizelman, marriage license clerk.

Last year there were 933 June weddings here, but with an increase in the last twelve months of one thousand in the total number of marriages, Zizelman figures there will be at least 1000 during the bridal month.

"The average wedding here costs $250," said Zibleman. "Some folk spend thousands on the ceremony, while there are others who just buy a license and give the minister a fee. But, they'll average $250 each, counting florists' tailors' jewelers' and dressmakers' bills."

GARIS' BEDTIME STORY

By HOWARD R. GARIS

"Would you mind doing me a favor?" asked Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy, the muskrat lady, as she saw Uncle Wiggily Longears, the rabbit gentleman, getting ready to hop away from his hollow stump bungalow one morning.

"Do you a favor? It would give me the greatest pleasure in the world to do so," he answered with a low and polite bow. In fact, he bowed so low that his tall silk hat dropped off and rolled under the front stoop.

"I'll get it for you!" cried Bully No-Tail, the little frog boy, who was hopping past on his way to school.

"Thank you," said Uncle Wiggily, and when he had his hat again he asked Nurse Jane:

"What favor did you want me to do?"

"To go to the five-and-ten-cent store and get me some spools of strong thread," answered the muskrat lady. "I want to sew up a hole in the carpet, and the thread must be very strong. I know you don't like to go shopping at the five and ten cent store, but—"

"Oh, excuse me, but I like it above all things!" cried the bunny uncle. "Indeed, I'll get the thread for you with pleasure," and away he hopped, over the fields and through the woods.

"Who knows," said the bunny uncle to himself, "but what I might have a most wonderful adventure in that same five and ten cent store? Perhaps one of the little mouse girl clerks will ask me to show her how to dance the pancake flop. And, if she does, I'll do it."

And Uncle Wiggily felt so fine that, then and there in the woods, he hopped up on top of a flat stump and did a little dance to rest himself.

Uncle Wiggily reached the five and ten cent place all right, but the mouse girl clerks were too busy selling diamond studded dish pans to take any dancing lessons. The one who waited on the bunny uncle after giving him the strong thread, asked him:

"Don't you want some needles, too?"

"Well, Nurse Jane said nothing about them," he replied, "but perhaps you had better give me a few. She may have forgotten to tell me to get them."

So with the big needles and the strong thread Uncle Wiggily went on back through the woods. He had not hopped very far before, all of a sudden, he felt himself grabbed by his ears, which stuck up out of holes in his silk hat, and a voice cried:

"Ah, ha! Well, you are here, I see."

"Oh, my!" thought the bunny uncle, and, looking up, he saw that he was caught by a bad fox.

"Were you expecting me?" asked Uncle Wiggily, trying to think of a way to get loose.

"Well, I wouldn't exactly say I was expecting you," said the fox. "But I was sort of hoping some one would come along with my dinner, and here you are!"

"Yes, but I haven't your dinner," said Mr. Longears.

"Oh, yes, you have!" barked the fox. "You're it."

"What! Is this a game of tag?" the bunny uncle wanted to know.

"I mean you are it for my dinner," sniggled the fox. "It is almost time to eat."

Then Uncle Wiggily felt badly indeed, for he did not want to stay to dinner with that fox.

The bunny gentleman was thinking and thinking of how he could get away when he saw a loose and dangling button, almost ready to fall off the fox's coat. Then Uncle Wiggily thought of the needle and strong thread and he said:

"Mr. Fox, before you have me for dinner would you not like me to sew that button on your coat?"

"Why, yes, you might do that," barked the fox; "that is, if you can."

"Oh, I've often done such things for myself," spoke up Mr. Longears, "so I guess I can for you."

"Very well, sew on my button and I'll eat you afterward," the fox said. And he sat down on a log, keeping hold, meanwhile, of Uncle Wiggily by the ears while the bunny gentleman took out the needle and strong thread and made ready to sew on the button.

Now, what did Uncle Wiggily do? Why, while that fox was holding him there and sitting on the log, Uncle Wiggily sewed on the button and, very slyly, without the fox seeing him, he also sewed the fox fast to the log, putting the strong thread in and out through the bad animal's coat and the bark on the log.

"Is the button sewed on?" asked the fox, after a bit.

"It is," answered Uncle Wiggily.

"Then I'll have dinner," said the fox. But when he tried to get up he could not, for he was sewed fast to the heavy log and could not move. Then Uncle Wiggily suddenly pulled his ears loose out of the paw of the fox and ran away home to his bungalow, and the fox could not chase him because he was held fast to the log.

So everything came out all right, you see, and in the next story, if our canary bird sings the kitten to sleep in the cat's cradle, where it is playing tag with the rag doll, I'll tell you about Uncle Wiggily and the clothes line.

SALOONS CLOSE EARLY.

VANCOUVER, B. C., June 1.—All bars in British Columbia closed last night at 10 o'clock when the early closing amendment to the liquor act passed by the legislature last week went into effect. The amendment provides that all bars, retail liquor houses and clubs shall not sell liquor between the hours of 10 p. m. and 11 a. m. The amendment remains in effect until the prohibition referendum is passed on, if that is defeated, for the period of the war.

Don't Poison Baby.

FORTY YEARS AGO almost every mother thought her child must have PAREGORIC or laudanum to make it sleep. These drugs will produce sleep, and a FEW DROPS TOO MANY will produce the SLEEP FROM WHICH THERE IS NO WAKING. Many are the children who have been killed or whose health has been ruined for life by paregoric, laudanum and morphine, each of which is a narcotic product of opium. Druggists are prohibited from selling either of the narcotics named to children at all, or to anybody without labelling them "poison." The definition of "narcotic" is: "A medicine which relieves pain and produces sleep, but which in poisonous doses produces stupor, coma, convulsions and death." The taste and smell of medicines containing opium are disguised, and sold under the names of "Drops," "Cordials," "Soothing Syrups," etc. You should not permit any medicine to be given to your children without you or your physician know of what it is composed. CASTORIA DOES NOT CONTAIN NARCOTICS, if it bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

Genuine Castoria always bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

WHOLE WHEAT THE BEST FOOD

"FORCE"

Doctors generally agree that whole wheat is best for the human body. "Force"—the universal breakfast food—is a combination of selected whole wheat and the choicest barley malt — Nourishing, strengthening, digestible, delicious.

Battery B Has Fifth Birthday Banquet

A banquet commemorating the fifth anniversary of Battery B, N. G. C., was held last night at the Key Route Inn, members and ex-members of the battery being the only attendants. Major R. S. Paneuf and former captain of the organization, presided, and gave a short talk on the foundation of the guard five years ago.

A banquet committee comprising Lieutenant E. E. Vicary, Sergeant R. H. Nedderman, Sergeant M. R. Emerson, Sergeant J. H. Fahey, Corporal C. E. Petersen and Corporal T. J. Elliott had charge of the affair.

Various members were called upon to speak, with no special program in order. Dr. J. A. Hill and Sergeant Chris Davis were two of the ex-members to be called upon.

CHARGES ACID THROWING.

J. A. Wheatley, 726 Brookhurst street, has commenced suit in the Superior Court against Archibald H. Campbell of Stege in which he asks for $20,000 damages, alleging that the defendant threw nitric acid on his face and shoulders. The incident is said to have taken place at Stege on March 6, according to the complaint and plaintiff says that he had to undergo treatment in a hospital for several days and was absent from his employment for two months.

1000 Men Enlist for Training Camp

One thousand men are said to have enlisted for the War Department's training camp for business and professional men at Monterey next month, according to estimates made by officials in charge of the recruiting bureau. There is still a month in which enlistments will be received, and it is confidently expected that close to 3000 men will join the camp.

FIRE AT BURGLARS.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 1.—Peter Barry, special watchman, surprised three burglars ransacking the premises of the Winton Automobile Company, 1250 Van Ness avenue, at 4:30 this morning, but failed to capture any of them. The trio jumped from a window and although Barry fired three shots they succeeded in getting away.

"Bud" Sharpe Dies in Dixie

Old Leader "Safe at Home"

"BUD" SHARPE.

Malady, Which Caused Retirement, Fatal

"Bud" Sharpe is dead.

The breath of life has fluttered from the bosom of the man who gave Oakland a baseball championship in 1912. On the same day that Oakland citizens are rallying at the auditorium in a game effort to pull their ball team "out of the cellar," beloved "Bud," the man who made the "Fighting Oaks" famous, has been counted out by the only umpire whose decisions are never disputed.

Death occurred at Haddock, Georgia, according to telegrams received today by friends in this city. The same malady which forced Sharpe out of an Oakland uniform, and sent him into retirement on the Stallings plantation in Georgia, eventually brought about his demise.

Beloved by all who know him, there was much regret in Oakland, when Hayard Heston Sharpe turned in his uniform after winning the pennant for Oakland, and announced that he had not the strength to keep on playing.

WOLVERTON'S CHOICE.

Sharpe came to Oakland upon the suggestion of Harry Wolverton, present manager of the San Francisco ball club. In 1911 Wolverton, then pilot of the Oakland club, had succeeded in making the team a contender for the first time in many years. Wolverton was an idol in Oakland and his success attracted so much attention that the owners of the New York Americans secured him to manage the disorganized Yankees. Wolverton, before he left for New York, told Oakland fans:

"Don't worry, I'll get you a man who will win a pennant for you."

As the result of that promise, Sharpe came to Oakland, secured by Wolverton from the Boston Nationals.

Sharpe was 35 years old, a tall, angular sort of chap, energetic and an able executive. Temperamentally, he was an ideal leader; firm, but not too strict, quick to encourage and to inspire and yet capable of giving a negligent player a dressing down that would have its effect. Sharpe, already in none too robust a condition, finally weakened from his exertions in behalf of the club and, in the last few months of the pennant race, was compelled to keep to his home and leave the conduct of the club to others. It was Sharpe's spirit, though, that inspired the club to keep on struggling, and eventually nose out the contenders in the closest struggle for the pennant the league has ever seen.

MITZE IN AND OUT.

After "Bud" Sharpe left, some peculiar fate seemed to hover over his successors. Carl Mitze, succeeding to the same championship club, was deposed when the team went to pieces and finished in the cellar. Art Devlin was brought west from the major leagues in 1914, but he could do no better than Mitze, and the reins were then given into the hands of Tyler Christian, whose fate was that of the others. Harold Elliott, rated as one of the most energetic and capable ball players the Pacific Coast League has ever seen, succeeded Christian in the middle of last season, but misfortune trailed him also, and today the team is last in the race, just as it has been since the day "Bud" Sharpe sadly surrendered his first baseman's glove and said good by to "his boys."

The flag at the Oakland ball park is half mast, and the minds of Oakland fans will be with "Bud" Sharpe today.

Of the team that won the pennant for Oakland in 1912 two are now dead, Clare Patterson and "Bud" Sharpe, and not a single one of the others remains in the league.

Governor's Son Is Counsel for Pike

SAN FRANCISCO, June 1.—When William Pike, formerly leading man with Beatrice Michelena at the California Moving Picture Studio at San Rafael, was instructed and arraigned today before Police Judge Fitzpatrick charged with a statutory offense, Attorney Archie Johnson, son of Governor Johnson, appeared as his counsel. Johnson said he would have him out on bail today.

Mrs. Cora Powell, mother of Mildred Powell, 15-year-old stage-struck girl who sought employment at the movie studio, is the complainant in behalf of her daughter. She declares that Pike accomplished Miss Powell's downfall during the time she worked in the movies.

After arraigning Pike today the court continued the case until next Monday to be set.

Harold Hutton, son of Cassius A. Hutton, millionaire flower merchant, is accused of contributing to the delinquency of a minor child in connection with an automobile trip taken in company with Miss Powell. Attorney Bradley Sargent has notified the police that Hutton will surrender today.

Would Merge Fleet With Large Steamer Line

SEATTLE, June 1.—Sale of the entire fleet of the Pacific Coast Company and its merger with that of the Pacific Alaska Navigation Company may result from the negotiations now being carried on in New York. Such is the ambition of H. F. Alexander, president of the Pacific Alaska Navigation Company.

These reports credit A. B. Hepburn, chairman of the board of directors of the Chase National Bank of New York as the financial power most likely to be back of Alexander in his efforts to bring the two big steamship concerns under one ownership and management.

EXPOSITION TO BE HELD AT Y. W. C. A.

The fountain court of the Young Women's Christian Association, 1515 Webster street, will be transformed into an exposition hall this evening, when the classes in domestic science display their handiwork in the form of hats and frocks and dishes.

During the exhibition the mandolin and and guitar class, together with pianists and singers, will give a concert in the library and the Y. W. C. A. orchestra will play in the court balcony. Among the orchestra's selections will be "Four Characteristic Waltzes" "Coleridge-Taylor), "The Swan" (Saint-Saens) and "Cossack Revels" (Tschaikoff).

The mandolin and guitar classes will play two numbers and Miss Jeanette Hill, soprano, will sing "Summer Boat" (Jessie Gaynor) and "Sing, Sing, Birds on the Wing". (Godfrey Nutting). The Chopin Prelude No. 7 and Beethoven's Minuet in G will be played by Miss Lyndon Davis. Miss Ira Bushee will also give piano numbers. The association has extended an invitation to the public to attend.

Acquiring an idea of clown technique and how to vend pink lemonade in a professional manner is keeping busy the Young Women's Christian Association gymnasium classes and other association members until next Tuesday evening, when the "two-ringed circus" will come off at the building, 1515 Webster street.

Funds raised by this event will be used to send delegates to the association conference at Asilomar. Beside the clowns and pink lemonade, freaks, fortune tellers, a menagerie and side shows are promised.

Thugs Hold Up Man and Take His Coin

Nicholas Aukland of the S. S. Charles Nelson was held up and robbed by two armed bandits at First and Franklin streets last night. The men searched his pockets and took $28. Aukland reported the matter to the police and the district was searched. The men were not captured.

The saloon of John Minoli 114 Broadway, was entered during the night and the cash register broken open. Only $2 had been left in the drawer.

Two men were discovered last night by Mrs. W. L. Whitehead, 522 Fifty-sixth street, in the act of attempting to carry a chest of carpenter's tools from the basement of her home. She switched on the electric porch light and the men fled, leaving the chest.

Canneries and Ships Involved in Deal

SAN FRANCISCO, June 1.—One of the largest deals in the history of Alaskan fishing will have been consummated October 1, next, when Libby, McNeill & Libby, Chicago packers, take over the physical properties of the North Alaska Salmon Company of San Francisco, a $600,000 corporation. Already the Chicago firm has paid down $200,000 as part purchase price, the balance to be paid after the salmon pack shall have been made. Included in the deal as now tentatively made will be the transfer of four canneries, seven ships, together with all other floating gear in the shape of tenders, small boats and barges.

EDITING BY "MOVIES."

MADISON, Wis., June 1.—Wisconsin editors of dailies gathered here today for a three day conference on "how to print and publish a better newspaper."

Movies will be used in illustrating suggestions for editors and "newspaper ethics" will be dwelt upon by Merlin Hull of Black River Falls.

Woman Travels With Dead Babe in Arms

BILLINGS, Mont., June 1.—Clasping tightly the body of her five months old babe, whose death she had concealed, she said, for fear that she should be compelled to leave the train, Mrs. Hilda Alford of Viedel, Neb., arrived yesterday at Huntley, a small town near Billings, to attend the funeral of her mother, and then collapsed.

Mrs. Agnes McLean, mother of Mrs. Alford and wife of a rancher near Huntley, died early Tuesday morning. Mrs. Alford at first hesitated about making the journey to Montana. Soon after she started, she was able to tell relatives last night, her child became violently ill and died.

A double funeral will be held.

Would Make Jitney a Common Carrier

SAN FRANCISCO, June 1.—Through the efforts of Postmaster Charles W. Fay and Superintendent of the Railway Mail Service Jess S. Roberts, a bill will be presented to the State Legislature, which would make jitney buses common carriers under the jurisdiction of the State Railroad Commission. This bill is the result of the jitneys interfering with the postal service, say federal officials, and something must be done to decrease the demoralization due to competition.

The law would force the buses to run on schedules to be filed with the commission; a set price to be charged for transportation, and a bond furnished to compel adherence to the tariff and time table.

WATERY PIMPLES ON MY FACE

Developed Into Hard Pimples, Large and Irritated. Face Was In an Awful Condition.

HEALED BY CUTICURA SOAP AND OINTMENT

"I first noticed watery pimples on my face which began to develop into hard pimples, and they would disappear into the skin and would then leave marks upon my face. The pimples were large and running water all the time and they festered and irritated. My face was in an awful condition.

"I ran across a Cuticura Soap and Ointment advertisement in a magazine so I tried it. I first bathed my face well with Cuticura Soap and then spread the Ointment on and in about a week's time they disappeared altogether and I was entirely well." (Signed) Miss Josephine Gotch, Box 123, Box Elder, Mont., July 16, 1915.

COUCH SUBDUES OAKS 8-0; DAVIS GRABS FOUR HITS

Oak Shortstop Seems to Have Recovered Fully His Batting Eye.

Johnny Couch, ably assisted by some magnificent fielding on the part of the Seal inner defense, blanked the Oaks yesterday, 8 to 0. Wolverton's team pounded Bill Prough steadily and took advantage of their opponents' miscues. Eddie Klein pitched the last three innings, and retired the side on strikeouts in the eighth. Klein issued but one pass and showed to better advantage than at any time this season. Schaller, Coffey and Downs did most of the hitting for the Seals. Biff's homer with two on in the sixth cinching the contest.

Bobby Davis got four hits and seems to have recovered from his slump with a vengeance. The score:

Reading the Green

Yesterday's big league homers: Smith, Cards, off Seaton, Cubs. Merkle, Giants, off Bender, Phillies. Wheat, Brooklyn, off Barnes, Boston. Cobb, Tigers, off Danforth, White Sox. Meyer, Athletics, off Cullop, Yankees. Gilhooley, Yanks, off Nabors, Athletics. High, Yanks, off Wyckoff, Athletics.

Joe Jackson of the White Sox, Heilman of the Tigers, Neale of the Cincinnati Reds and Wamby of the Indians, each got four hits.

Jackson is hitting the ball in great shape. A triple, two doubles and a single were yesterday's contributions. He has made thirteen hits in his last twenty times at bat.

The Indians are back in first place, with the Senators sharing honors with them.

Speaker showed his teammates the way back. He led the way to victory over the Browns with three crashing singles, a double, a triple and single and then stole a base on top of all that.

In the meantime, the Red Sox were knocking the tar out of the Senators.

The Tigers, though out hit by the White Sox, out guessed the Chicago tribe and won, 7 to 4.

The Cubs and Cards split an even break at Chicago. Packard was sent in to relieve in both games, but only in the last game did the Cub hurler fool the St. Louis bunch.

The Giants showed they still have the stuff in 'em by starting another winning streak. By bumping the Phillies, 4 to 2, they made it two straight.

Biff Schaller got a home run, three singles and a walk out of his ventures to the home plate, so he gets the belt as star hitsman of the day.

Jerry Downs, had he been armed with two fish nets, could not have snared more hot drives around second base. Nothing but a cannon ball could elude Jerry.

Horstman was erratic in spots and Larsen, the Angelic second sacker, had a sloppy day, so things were easier for Portland.

Just to give the fans a dash of high life, the Vernon Tigers ripped loose with a triple play and no less than four double plays while trouncing Salt Lake, 5 to 5. Vernon smashed the ball in the fifth and tied the score, smashed it again in the sixth, and won.

LECAIN, AUTO RACER, IS IMPROVING

INDIANAPOLIS, June 1. — Jack Lecain, who was seriously injured when his car turned over during the 200-mile speedway race here Tuesday took a turn for the better today, it was announced by hospital physicians. He now has a slight chance for recovery, it was said.

Ralph Mulford, who won third place in the race was painfully injured late yesterday when a tire exploded on a car he was tuning up on the local track for the Chicago race June 10. He was taken to a hospital, but later removed to his hotel. The accident will not prevent him driving in the Chicago race, it was said.

WANT OAKS TO WIN? WELL, DO THIS

The following letter is self-explanatory:

Sporting Editor TRIBUNE—

Dear Sir: I saw an article in this evening's paper: "What Strange Fate is Hanging Over Oaks?" I am a student of the occult and my advice to Messrs. Leavitt, Cook and Elliott is this: Any time before the ball game takes place, give something to charity, and practice playing anywhere but the ball grounds. Take clean matter and a limb of a tree and sprinkle the ball grounds and start a small bonfire. This is not superstition, but is science, or natural laws.

THREE BASE HIT BY SOUTHWORTH DEFEATS ANGELS

Triple With Bases Full Makes Lead Too Big to Overcome.

LOS ANGELES, June 1. — Portland won from the Los Angeles ball team here, 5 to 3, in a game of few features. A triple by Southworth in the third inning with the bases full gave the Beavers a lead the Angels were unable to overcome. McLarry was ordered from the field in the fifth for disputing a close decision by Umpire Doyle. Score:

LOVING CUP FOR GARDNER TODAY

This is Rube Gardner Day at the Oakland ball grounds.

It is the first "special day" that Oakland fans have participated in in several years, and it is due to the fact that local fandom is impressed with the steady, consistent work of the slugging veteran who covers right field for Oakland. Gardner has been hitting .300 day in and day out for the Oaks no matter where the club was playing or what its position was in the race. He is the one man on whom fans could always rely. Gardner's work is never spectacular but always sure. Recently he achieved the league leadership in batting honors, a feat for which he has been striving a long time. In recognition of this feat the fans are giving him today a loving cup.

AMATEUR BASEBALL

POWER CO. 6, WOODMEN 5.

In an interesting and hard-fought game the Woodmen and Power Co. teams battled for 11 innings, the Power boys finally winning by a 6-5 score. Both teams fought every inch of the way. It was a pitchers' battle up to the ninth, with Butler taking the honors. He weakened in the ninth, however, and Nelson went in for the Woodmen. Texdahl was put in to run for McCreery and Weber finished the game for the Power Co. Score:

FIRST ROUND OF TRIBUNE BOWLING TOURNEY CLOSES

Play for Diamond Medal Will Enter Second Stage This Week.

The first round of the TRIBUNE diamond medal tourney was completed on Herald's Ninth street alleys last evening. In the 8 p. m. set, J. Larkin won from E. E. Dooley. Dooley bowled the nice score of 195 in the second game, but could not seem to get the head pin in the other games.

In the 9 p. m. set were F. Tompkinson vs. A. L. Morris. The former, being the more steady, won, although the three games were necessary to decide the winner. In the 10 p. m. set two stars of the Y. M. C. A., W. Lund and H. H. Christiansen, bowled against J. Gerlie and J. Holmes. The "Y" boys had no trouble in winning, although no very large games were bowled.

After the last set was bowled, the drawing took place for the second round. Here are the scores of last night's games and the schedule for the second round plays:

WINS SHOOT WITH A PERFECT SCORE

SAN JOSE, Cal., June 1. — H. P. Pfairman of Los Angeles is the 1916 California-Nevada blue rock champion, winning the title here yesterday afternoon in the main event of a three-day association registered shoot by making a run of 100 straight targets.

C. H. Nash of San Jose, with 96, was second; A. J. Fleckenger of Vallejo, O. N. Ford of San Jose and A. P. Halliburton of Lindsey tied for third with 95. For fourth, F. Mellus of Los Angeles, W. S. Peace of Elko, Nev., Dr. E. N. Fuller of Los Angeles, and F. M. Newbert, president of the state fish and game commission tied at 94.

W. S. Peace of Elko was high gun for the three days with 556 out of 600 shots; C. H. Nash of San Jose 550, D. C. Davison of Modesto 558, William Varien of Pacific Grove 556. R. C. Reed of San Francisco with 571 was high professional.

Mrs. C. E. Groat of Los Angeles won a special 100-shot event for women with 86. Miss Meyers of San Francisco was second with 85, and Mrs. A. G. Wilkes of San Francisco third with 84.

Pfeirman made an unfinished straight run of 111 targets.

HARVARD-YALE ELECT TRACK CAPTAINS

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., June 1. — E. A. Teschner of Lawrence, Mass., was elected captain of the Harvard track team yesterday. Teschner, a sprinter, strained a tendon in gaining third place in the 100-yard dash at the recent intercollegiate championship meeting, but is expected to be in shape by next season.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., June 1. — John W. Overton of Nashville, Tenn., was elected captain of the Yale track team last night. He is a mile runner.

PLEASANTON HORSES ARRIVE IN EAST

CLEVELAND, June 1. — After a ten days journey from Pleasanton and Sacramento, California, four stables, comprising twelve horses which are expected to show some class in grand circuit and Great Western circuits, were quartered at North Randall today. Of the shipment, which is being trained by Emill de Ryder, Harry Bell, Lon Daniels and C. H. McCarthy, Spriggan, 2:08¼, is one of the best known. Spriggan won the $20,000 trot at San Francisco.

Los Angeles Flash Wins Handily From Joe White

Arrousey, Fighter, Meets White at Game and Mixes Like Champion

The Los Angeles Flash was there like a bet on four aces last night. When Johnny Arrousey and Joe White trotted to the barrier for their four-round mixup, the wagering was that the going would be too rough for Arrousey. It was—for Joe White. Literally speaking, Arrousey hit White with everything but the ring posts and the press box. From the second round on the fourth, he ripped, tore, hooked and jabbed White almost at will. Instead of Johnny Arrousey, boxer, it was J. Arrousey, fighter, last evening. Johnny surprised even his warmest admirers by stepping right in between White's swings in the opening round and dashing in dangerously time after time again to bring over a good punch. Usually, Johnny is almost on the other side of the ring when his opponent is swinging as fiercely as did White last evening. And he wouldn't dare to come near his man until the latter had missed several wide ones and was open for a left hand jab.

But matters were completely reversed last evening and it was fighter against fighter when the pair first put up their hands. This may sound odd to those fans who have in the past regretted that Arrousey had nothing but a speedy left and a bit of cleverness in his makeup, but nevertheless, there are fully 3000 fans who journeyed to Simpson's arena last night who will vouch for it.

ARROUSEY OUTWEIGHED.

All White had on Arrousey was seven pounds of extra weight, meaning that the winner, weighed exactly 126 and White tipped the beams at 133. This is a big handicap in a bout where small fellows are hammering each other. White was wise enough to know this and he made use of his superior weight by shoving and tugging Arrousey whenever he got the chance. Time after time again, Arrousey would jump in between White's round house swings and the latter would then fall on Johnny with all his weight and shove him backward to make the gallery gods believe that Arrousey was feeling the strain of White's punches. And yet they never landed.

Arrousey's chief asset last evening was a ripping left hook which he used to advantage in the clinches. He counted it easily and added point after point to his lead through this blow. A right cross was also included in the Arrousey repertoire of choice wallops. He had plenty of sting behind them, too. His left jab—the punch which started him off to fame around here—was not very much in evidence except when White would cover up and Johnny would be forced to poke him somewhere to open him up again.

White fought the first round last evening like he did the four round in their first bout. He reached Johnny at first with some straight rights and lefts and then shot over a stomach blow that tumbled Arrousey over in the northeast corner of the ring. Johnny was stepping away quickly at the time and the blow lost half its force, yet it was a genuine knock down. Johnny came back strong and mixed with White for a while and when the gong sounded the house was in an uproar.

WHITE PUT DOWN.

However, in the second round Arrousey more than evened matters. Rushing in like a bull-terrier, Johnny whipped a mean left hook to White's chin which sent Joe reeling toward the canvas. He was up in a jiffy, but he had not even collected his senses yet when Johnny ripped in a right and caused his long legs to crumple from under him.

Other than that, White was missing continually and Arrousey was doing all the clean punching. White led the fighting in the third round and repeatedly made Arrousey give ground when Johnny elected to stand up and swap punches with him, but the latter got in the more effective hits and followed them up in better style than did White. In the fourth period Arrousey greeted his opponent with a volley of rights and lefts that put a deep silence over the White crowd. Joe tried hard and came after Arrousey with all he had, but Johnny was simply too fast and had too much head for him. He hooked and ripped in punch after punch and though some of the boys hooted the decision and were displeased, it is a cinch that they will all be back for their next docket from Tommy Simpson for the next show.

Jack Burns was unable to box on account of a damaged optic, which he displayed to the audience, and Bob Lindsay, who probably does not know a boxing glove from a sand bag, asked Tommy Simpson for the chance to meet Ortega. Lindsay's stomach met Ortega's right smash in the very first round and he went out.

NICKOLA KNOCKED OUT.

Meridan Joe Carter lived up to our expectations by dropping Tom Nickola in the second round in a fashion that threw the whole crowd into excitement. Nickola, a veteran who had met such good ones as Billy Murray and Al Rodgers, looked an easy mark for Carter from the very moment the pair entered the ring. Nickola, despite the fact that he possessed more weight, height and a longer reach, looked the part of a good sized dummy in the center of the squared circle and moved around like a big stone van. The fans who have had the opinion that the local amateur game has a bunch of weaklings in their midst can now kick themselves. Though his poor showing last evening didn't prove it, Nickola was a pretty fair middle in the old days, and yet Carter made him look like the rankest sort of a busher.

Sammy Morris and Billy Alveris repeated their last performance by mixing matters fiercely to a draw, though Alveris was given the shade. Both lads put up a pleasing exhibition and gave the match makers good reasons for putting them on their cards so often.

Jimmy Dundee came through like a wonder and trimmed Jimmy Arrousey in every one of the four rounds. Jimmy used a left rip to the stomach which Arrousey seemed unable to evade and being in good condition, he went through the four rounds like he never did before. Jimmy needs only to keep in that shape a little while longer and he will be up amongst the leaders in his class again.

AMATEUR BASEBALL

SAN LEANDRO MERCHANTS WIN AGAIN.

The San Leandro Merchants No. 2 easily defeated the Oakland Hippodromes in a one-sided affair. West, who twirls for the San Leandro Cubs, started the game and got along nicely until Spread appeared. Spread allowed but one hit, the Hips securing two runs on two hits. Hinky Gardoen and Matthews featured with the stick, the latter securing four hits, a homer, double and two singles. Score:

SOUTH BERKELEY WINS.

The South Berkeley team gave the Miramont Club a trouncing in a one-sided game by a score of 16-2. The feature of the game was Block's pitching, allowing but two scratch hits and striking out 10 men. Palmgren held Block up in fine shape, and also bingled the ball, getting three hits. Mitchell, as usual, played a bang-up game and clouted the pill for a homer in the sixth, with two men on. Bertolacci also got to Bullock for a homer in the seventh. Score:

FITCHBURG NO. 2 BEATS HIGHLAND.

The newly organized Fitchburg No. 2 team got away to a good start Tuesday by defeating the Highland Outlaws, 3-5, in a fast game, which was featured by the mound work of Hubbard for Fitchburg, who had the Outlaws well in hand at all times. Kelly pitched a good game for Highland, but lacked support at critical moments. The lineup of Fitchburg No. 2 follows: Frolle, catcher; Hubbard, pitcher; Bray, first base; Nenth, second base; F. Blonington, shortstop; Sittman, third base; Olson, left field; Dutra, center field; Cooney, right field.

ST. JOSEPH'S A. C. WINS.

The St. Joseph's Athletic Club Juniors took the Southern Pacific Red Caps into camp Tuesday at the Prescott grounds by the score of 8-5. The game was nip and tuck until the eighth, when the St. Joseph boys bunched their hits and, with the aid of two walks, scored five runs, thereby putting the game on ice. Tracy and Porter pitched big league ball and were given wonderful support. Score:

AMBROSE DOWNS HIPS.

The Ambrose Tailors downed the Hippodromes of San Francisco by a 5-2 score. Fields Bannallack was on the mound again for the Tailors and pitched nice ball, allowing but five hits. Del Crespi, on the mound for the losers, also pitched well, five hits being made off his delivery. Score:

HARPER OUT OF GAME WITH BROKEN LEG

DETROIT, June 1. — George Harper, recruit Tiger outfielder, who beat Sam Crawford for a regular job, will be out of the game for some time as a result of injuries received in sliding into the plate in the Memorial day game. An X-ray photo today revealed a fracture of the left leg. After sustaining the injury Tuesday, Harper returned to the outfield and played part of an inning, but finally was forced out.

PECK IS THE STAR OF ATHLETIC MEET

The Oakland Church Athletic League of Oakland Y. M. C. A. held its third annual track and field meet recently at the University of California oval. S. Peck was the star of the meet, winning the 50 and 100 yard dashes, also the broad jump from Guy Calden of the Plymouth club. R. Frank Boek acted as starter.

In the indoor track and field meet, the league found a successful fore-runner to the outdoor event. The indoor baseball series now going on shows the Elamat club to be tied for first place with the Felli Regis and Plymouth clubs.

In the senior division the Felli Regis finished first with fifty-six points; First Congregational, second, with thirty-six; Plymouth, third, nineteen and one-half; Elamats, fourth, thirteen points and Baracca, fifth, five and one-half.

The first Congregational with twenty-eight points, won in the intermediate division while the Loyal Sons finished second with nineteen and one-half; Elamat, third, eleven and one-half; Baracca, fourth, five; Felli Regis, fifth, one.

LOUIS COWAN SIGNED BY L. A. TEAM

LOS ANGELES, June 1.—No sooner did Louis Cowan, former Oakland high and St. Mary's boy, arrive in Los Angeles than Daniel Tobey, manager of the Pacific Electric baseball team, signed him to pitch for his team during the summer.

Cowan did not make the first team at Stanford owing to the freshman rule, but the showing he made in the north during practice assures him of a regular berth on the varsity next year.

CUTSHAW RUNS; BALL TRAVELS; AND FANS ROAR

Freak Homer Causes George to Run Wild on the Bags.

NEW YORK, June 1. — George Cutshaw, of the Brooklyn Dodgers, exuded a circuit clout against the Phillies recently, which will romp down through the vales of history as the most remarkable since the game was born.

It was a drive that Cutshaw made in an accidental way to start with; a swat that sent the ball in a zigzag course to the fence; and a tally that was flukier in the extreme because after the ball hit near the bottom of the fence it practically crawled up to top, fluttered there a second or so—and then dropped over. Cutshaw's ludicrous actions while the ball was wavering form the humorous chapter in the story.

The score was tied in the eleventh when Cutshaw went to bat, facing Mayer. The Phillie pitcher heaved a slow one at the Dodger second basker. Cutshaw started a swing, went half way and then "tumbled" to the fact that the ball was a flonter. He "pulled" his stroke, but just as he stopped he noticed that the ball was curving in, whereupon he made another swipe at it and through some freak caught it on the end of the mace.

BALL ZIGZAGS ALONG.

The ball shot through the air about ten feet above ground. It sailed just inside the rightfield foul line, turning and twisting as it went. To the spectators watching that ball zipping along it looked like a succession of inshoots. As it neared the fence it started to descend. It struck a board which was nailed to the bottom of the fence, but which jutted out about three feet.

As the ball hit that board just where the top of it and the fence meet, it seemed to hesitate for a fraction of a second. Then, to the utter amazement of the crowd, climbed the twelve foot wall, as though it had legs. Slowly but surely it moved upward. Finally it reached the top of the fence. Defying the laws of gravity, it remained stationary for the barest fractions of a moment and, while the 25,000 crowd stood spellbound, the ball rested for a second on the top of the wall and then rolled out into the street.

CUTSHAW IS BEWILDERED.

But in the meantime Cutshaw was performing antics that almost were as strange as those of the ball. When he rounded first, the Dodger second baseman saw that the ball was headed for the bottom of the fence—a normal two-base hit, if a player hustles. And Cutshaw hustled. He turned first under full head of steam, and slid into second in whirlwind fashion. He jumped to his feet a second later and began looking around for orders from the coaches.

Wilbert Robinson, manager of the Dodgers, was signaling something in a frantic way. Cutshaw figured that Robinson was ordering him to try for third. Cutshaw started, but when he got no sign from the other coacher, who, by the way, was too busy watching the climbing ball, he figured he had misinterpreted Robinson's signals. So he whirled around, ran back toward second and swept into the bag in a cloud of dust.

FINALLY GETS WISE.

Then he jumped to his feet again and while he brushed his togs he began looking for orders—and also for the ball. But he couldn't see one or hear the other. The park was a bedlam. Robinson was yelling something to Cutshaw but it was lost in the tumult. Robinson was waving his arms in a frenzied way.

But did "Robby" mean that Cutshaw should stay at second or go to third? Cutshaw pondered and at last decided to try to advance. Cutshaw raced for it. Half way along on his journey the third base coach, taking advantage of the temporary lull in the cheering shouted:

"You hit a homer, George—a homer; slow down."

And then the amazing truth dawned upon Cutshaw and he walked the rest of the way to the home plate, while the huge crowd went into another frenzy of madness at this unexpected eleventh inning victory.

Tennis By Nelson G. Welburn

The annual class singles championship tournament of the Oakland Tennis club was fraught with heroic struggles, Sunday, when some twenty ambitious players battled for class honors. In spite of a cold wind and bad light, good tennis was witnessed in almost every match. The day's efforts brought victory to Stickney, Otis, Ellis, Johnson, Finn, Levy, Jones and O'Kane, respectively.

Play started in the second class event with Arthur O'Kane defeating Alexander Powers in one of the best exhibitions he has ever displayed upon the courts of the Oakland club. O'Kane took the match by 11-9, 6-3.

In somewhat of a sweeping manner, Ray Jones downed Paul Dinsmore in a three-set match by the scores of 6-1, 4p6, 6-1. Jones worked well throughout the match featuring his returns from mid-court with really remarkable vollies. Outside of the second set it was easy sailing for Jones.

The grand old boy, Otis, sprang a surprise when he defeated the analyzing expert, Von Helms, in a three set affair by the scores of 6-3, 4-6, 6-1. Otis made his backhand swipes count in every rally. Von Helm took the second set by clever playing but lost the first and third to Otis through superior playing.

The first class competition opened with Bert Shrader and Edward Klein featuring in a hard-fought five-set match which the latter player took by the scores of 6-0, 4-6, 7-5, 3-6, 6-4. Shrader held Klein to a standstill on every maneuver displaying an anticipation which exasperated Klein to such an extent that at one time of the fight Klein in general disgust flung his racquet high into the air.

Levy fairly smothered Welburn in the second match of the first class competition. The defeat was brought about by Levy's constant bombardment with diddling chops. He took the match in quick order by the scores of 6-1, 6-0. The third match of the first class competition witnessed the defeat of Klein at the hands of Charles Stickney by the scores of 6-1, 14-12. In the first set, Stickney played rings around Klein. The second set brought out a pippin of a match. Klein was within a point of winning the match but shattered his chances by constantly driving into the net.

William Forterfield Ellis, of Central California and Pacific States handicap fame, went into the winning column by his defeat of Lane by the scores of 4-6, 6-4, 7-5.

Leroy Johnson in the third class fracas somewhat unexpectedly took the measure of Jay Gould in a three set match by the scores of 6-4, 5-7, 6-2. Johnson's drives made possible his victory assisted largely by Gould's inability to cope with net plays. Arthur Finn bucked Eliason in a two set match and proved the better man to the extent of 6-8, 10-8. Finn make any change in the standings in the encountered much opposition in the second set and only pulled through by his steadiness and ability to anticipate well his opponents placements.

Following the example as set by the national doubles champion, William Johnston and Pack Griffith, John R. Strachan, present title holder of San Francisco, magnanimously withdrew from participating in the tournament this week at San Francisco for the same reasons, we presume, which actuated Johnston and Griffin.

This leaves the event pretty much to young Roland Roberts, who, at this stage of the going seems unbeatable. Johnston's and Griffin's non-participation is due, so they say, to the fact that they do not at this early period desire strenuous competition for fear of becoming stale before the inauguration of play in the national events. Both will, nevertheless, participate in the Pacific coast competition at Del Monte next month.

BILLIARDS

In the game of pocket billiards at the Oakland billiard room, Tuesday night, another upset occurred in the defeat of Karns by Donahue. Fouls and uncalled balls had their share in the way the game went. In fact, Donahue nearly lost out when he wanted one ball by reason of not calling the twelfth ball.

At the time Karns wanted only six or seven balls and had he been at all accurate in the pinch Donahue would have had a defeat instead of a victory. Bad luck followed both of the players in the times that they went into the bunch of balls for a break. Not once did Karns get a chance to further his run. And only once or twice did Donahue do better than that. As a result of all this the score was 100 to 86.

The effect of this is to practically eliminate Karns. He has no chance at all unless Plumb breaks an arm or something like that. And the way the boy is shooting at the present time there is no chance of that. It may be that Wells might be good enough when Plumb and he meet, to put one over that will make a change. But that is at best an outside chance.

F. P. Plumb upset all the dope last night in the pocket billiard game in the Oakland billiard parlor tournament by losing to Wells. The score was 100 to 88 and the game throughout was replete with sensational shots and crafty safety play.

Plumb figures to beat Wells, but was outshot last night. This upset does not make any change in the standings in the tourney, but serves to show that a man cannot shoot top pool all the time.

Condon forfeited to Bailey on Tuesday night. Condon's showing has been so miserable that he probably will not show for further play.

OHIO PRODUCES ONLY BALL PLAYERS AND GREAT STATESMEN

Several Clever Ball Players Have Hailed From Buckeye State.

Ohio not only produces presidents, but it turns out a lot of competent ball players as well, says Jimmy Isimanger in the Philadelphia North American. Two young players who are doing brilliant work this season are natives of the Buckeye State. Benuie Kauff, whose ball is closely associated with New York rallies, was born in Middlesport, a sleepy town on the Ohio river.

George Sisler, who looks like he will develop into one of the topnotch players of the American League, comes from Akron, the busy capital of rubber tires. Lee Magee of the Yanks was born in Cincinnati, where you get it from the wood. Carl Weilman, the St. Louis lefthander, who prevented Detroit winning the 1915 pennant, is a native of fair Hamilton.

Frank Gowdy of the Braves was discovered by Columbus, the capital of the Buckeye State. Outfielder Meyers of the Dodgers comes from East Liverpool, which, by the way, was also the birthplace of the famous Curt Welch. Cleveland is proud of our own George Henry Paskert.

Wooster boasts in loud accents of its native son, Roger Peckinpaugh. Bert Shotten is another Brown who is a Buckeye. He was born in Brownhelm. Funny persons will see a trace of humor in this. Jimmy Vlox is another Cincinnatian, while Bob Bescher comes from London—Ohio, not England.

Southpaw Leonard of the Red Sox is not a native of California. He first saw the light of day in Birmingham. Rube Marquard of the Dodgers is another Clevelander to win laurels on the diamond. The dope books are wrong about Erskine Mayer of the Phillies. They say he was born in Atlanta, but this is libel on the State of Ohio. Mayer was born in Columbus, but his parents moved south in time for him to acquire a delightful southern accent.

Slim Sallee's family Bible shows that he was born in Higginsport, where few of the fast trains stop. Cobb and Speaker were not born in Ohio, but they have always regretted it.

PEACE TALK NOT WELCOME.

Developments of the last two days do not give much encouragement to the hope for peace. Premier Asquith of England has stated that no hint of terms of peace has been made that can be considered for a moment. Lord Cromer, one of England's most influential and able statesmen, is of the same opinion. It will be recalled that The TRIBUNE a few days ago pointed out that neither group of belligerents has given any evidence of abandoning or modifying the objects for which it went to war and that therefore the opposing powers are as far from an arbitrative frame of mind as they were August 1, 1914. This does not lead us necessarily to the belief that early peace is impossible, but it reminds us that the nations have not altered their original ambitions and until they do alter them peace overtures are out of the question.

This situation is of peculiar interest to the people of the United States because their chief executive has provoked unpleasant observations among the entente allies by his speech before the League to Enforce Peace, and other public utterances, concerning his desire to be the first to initiate peace negotiations. British statesmen openly charge that President Wilson is trying to advance Germany's interests and that he had no reasonable ground for assuming that the mention of peace proposals by Germany in the last Sussex note made the present appropriate for talking about ending the war.

A more regrettable development is the opinion of the British press—and it appears to be reflected by Premier Asquith and Lord Cromer—that President Wilson is attempting to employ belligerent Europe to his personal political advantage. Lord Cromer goes farther and emphasizes the result of this untimely interference.

"It is more than doubtful," he says, "in spite of the very friendly feelings entertained toward America and Americans generally, that the people of this country (Great Britain) would under any circumstances welcome the idea that President Wilson should assume the role of mediator.

"As note has succeeded note, and speech has succeeded speech, the convention has been steadily gaining ground that Mr. Wilson has wholly failed to grasp the view entertained by the vast majority of Englishmen in the cause for which we and our allies are fighting."

Of course it is not essential that in order to extend our good offices in restoring peace we should first understand the prevalent English viewpoint; nor need we conclude that Lord Cromer is expressing the opinion of the vast majority of Englishmen. Lord Cromer is an able statesmen of the old conservative persuasion, whose early public career was in the army. He retired in the full flush of honor and recognition for having rendered his country valuable service, and is now seventy-five years of age. We had a pretty clear conception of his views without a formal statement of them, and know there is a great body of the English people who disagree with him.

However, there is no gainsaying that the President of the United States has made a bad impression in England and among her allies. We wish there had been some way to avoid the charge that our efforts toward peace were dictated from selfish personal motives of a political leader. We are inclined to believe that Mr. Wilson would have avoided placing himself in the position to be so accused had he been left to his own initiative. But Mr. Bryan, the most irresponsible evil genius of the present administration, wishing to gain for himself some advantage that would serve him well in his Chautauqua lecturing, advised Mr. Wilson that the Democrats must make European peace a campaign issue this fall, and that if the President could win the honor of having ended the war it would be of great political advantage. Whether Mr. Bryan took this public course with knowing maliciousness can best be answered by Mr. Bryan, but it has become only too apparent that he has greatly handicapped the President in any efforts the latter may exert toward becoming a mediator in the European conflict.

"We are not only ready to cooperate, but we are ready to fight against aggression," said President Wilson in his Memorial Day speech in Washington yesterday. Such expression of sentiment does not square with Mr. Wilson's performances during the last three years. What he probably meant was that "we are ready to fight against aggression so long as fighting will not conflict with the policy of "watchful waiting."

WHAT SHALL BE DONE IN MEXICO?

General Carranza's new note to the United States government asking for the withdrawal of the punitive expedition in Mexico, instead of being a surprise, had been expected for several days. He had demanded several weeks ago, that the American troops get out of the country and it was well known that he would not approve any agreement, verbal or otherwise, for their remaining south of the border.

Carranza's demand for an explanation for the continued presence of the Pershing expedition in Mexico is not as malevolently sarcastic as it appears to be at first glance. The people north of the Rio Grande also would like to know just why our men remain in Mexico. Some twelve thousand troops are irregularly assembled at a point five hundred miles south of the border. They are doing nothing of any consequence, except to stand on the defensive against miscellaneous attacks from sniping Villistas and Carranzistas.

The original purpose of the expedition—to get Villa—has been abandoned, and the American troops are conducting a "glorious defensive." They are entrenched behind earthworks and barbed-wire entanglements and are employing all the other stage stuff of the "great defensives" of Russia and France—with the exception of hand grenades and steel helmets. They are doing nothing whatever to clear the border country of the murderous outlaws who have attacked citizens and burned homes in Texas and New Mexico.

Restriction manipulated at Washington have converted the military purpose of the expedition into a purely political one. In the last analysis President Wilson is trying to obtain peaceably permission from Carranza for the American expedition to remain in Mexico until its withdrawal will not arouse adverse public comment at home.

Under such conditions the intervention might just as well be halted and the army withdrawn. It is costing us a lot financially and a lot in prestige through giving the impression that our soldiers actually are unable to accomplish what they are sent to do.

But all considerations of nation interests demand that the conditions which manacle the army of intervention should be removed. It should be given authority to go ahead with the stern business of disciplining Mexican banditti, whether they are enrolled under the banner of Carranza or of Villa; they are all alike. If Carranza will cooperate it will not take long to complete the task; if he does not it may take a little longer, but we should not think of sneaking out of Mexico, defeated, before we have made the southern border of the United States absolutely safe for residence and business. Practically all American citizens have left Mexico—except the thousand or so in their graves—and it is time to get down to business or get out.

PREPAREDNESS AND IMMIGRATION.

Attempts that have been made of late to make it appear that the general membership of labor unions on the Pacific Coast is opposed to preparedness and such demonstrations in favor of national defense as "preparedness" parades seem to be unjust. From what can be gathered from the opinions organized labor has itself expressed on this subject it does not appear that workingmen in California are against adequate preparedness. It is true that they have gone on record as urging that the Federal government take exclusive charge of the production of armament, munitions and all the other accessories of war, and in asking that militia not be used to suppress labor troubles, but we are unable to learn of any instance where the unions have opposed increasing the defenses against a possible foreign attack.

It would be difficult to imagine any proper motive for opposition on the part of wage-earners to national preparedness. The immigration bill now pending in the Senate contains, or at least did contain when it was introduced in the House by Representative Burnett, clauses seeking to regulate the admission of Orientals into the United States, which to all intents and purposes of this feature of the bill, means California.

Japan interposed objections, insisting that she has the right herself to regulate such phases of the American immigration question as relate to Japan. If the United States was reasonably well prepared we should not fear the results of declining to accede to Japan's presumptuous protest. We should be in a position to say frankly that we will settle our immigration troubles in our own good way. Since the Asiatic exclusion features of the bill were suggested and advocated by labor leaders, and since they are justified on the ground of meeting economic competition that can adequately be met in no other way, it is to be assumed that labor organizations are in favor of enforcing the provisions to the letter if they are enacted. If the government is not given the strength to enforce regulations for the protection of its commercial, economic and other interests, regulations might as well be not promulgated.

It is not likely that the views regarding Japanese immigration have changed. On this date the new Japanese factory law goes into effect. The maximum working day for women and young hands under fifteen years of age will be twelve hours. These laborers will not be permitted to work in factories after ten o'clock at night unless two shifts are employed. The average wage of male workers in Japan is about twenty-two cents a day and that of females about fourteen cents

NOTES and COMMENT

This would be the psychological time for Ex-President Taft to make observations not wholly unrelated to T. R. and his terrific effort to get there again, but we see how he rises above it.

Somebody has finally answered that eternal conundrum as to why the chicken crossed the road. It is because she wore a natty skirt, had neatly-dressed feet, and the wind was blowing.

The Philadelphia North American may be mistaken in the declaration that all that is necessary to change "an ex-president" into "a next president" is T. It is just possible that it is T. R.

It begins to look as though the Democratic policy as to the Philippines is undergoing a change. Other policies of that party have been overhauled—for instance, the sugar tariff and the one-term plank.

The story of attempted assassination of T. R. by a knife-thrower appears to be of the genus bunk. At least, if a knife was "hurled" it fell so wide of its mark that the mark never knew of it until informed.

"Getting well acquainted with the history of one's drinking water has become a matter of conscience," says the Santa Barbara News, which adds: "It is considered far more polite, in the long run, to question one's host as to the origin and quality of the local water supply than to upset the routine of his establishment by coming down with typhoid fever."

This query is thrust forward by the Holtville Tribune, and hits a commercial practice that prevails in other communities than Holtville and as to other commodities than tomatoes: "This morning an express car of tomatoes went forward from Holtville to Los Angeles. ONE OF THE THRILLERS.

Forty thousand women are to march down Michigan avenue, in Chicago, on June 7. There will be bands and flags, and one feature of the parade will include thirty-six girls, dressed in gray, with their hands manacled and each with a ball and chain, in the shape of a string and a toy balloon, attached to her ankles. These young women are to symbolize the states where women do not have the right to vote.

We fear that most of the delegates to the Republican National convention—for whose special benefit the suffrage parade is being arranged—will look upon the manacled young ladies with whole-hearted admiration, but without the expected tears.—Cincinnati Times-Star.

THE PRICE-FIXING BUSINESS

The latest achievement of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States is securing from its constituent organizations throughout the country by a referendum vote support for the bill before Congress enabling manufacturers of articles identified by special brands or trade marks the right and power to fix the prices at which they may be sold by wholesalers and retailers after the producers have parted with them at their own price. This Chamber of Commerce is a central organization made up of representatives of 854 local bodies or business associations of one kind and another scattered over the country and its outlying possessions, each of which is entitled to one or more votes up to ten, according to the number of their membership. A two-thirds vote is necessary to determine the position of the central body on any question submitted. The return of the vote, as just announced, shows 695 in favor of the price-fixing proposition to 237 against it, some of the votes in the local bodies being reported as close.

Just how much this means as expressing the trading sentiment of the country it is impossible to say. We do not know how most of these associations are made up, what their membership is and what interests they represent, or how fully their vote was cast on this or any other proposition, or how far they have been guided by the expressed opinion of the committee submitting the question. It certainly is not a convincing way of determining the public opinion or the business opinion of the country, and everyone is left free to have an opinion of his own.

The object aimed at ought to be pretty well understood by this time. The declared purpose is to enable manufacturers of certain articles which they identify with brands or trade marks, not to secure a monopoly in their production, but to prevent competition in their sale through any variation in prices. It has been proposed to qualify the prohibition of price cutting with an "if"—if the purpose or effect is to make it unprofitable for other sellers to handle "said articles," or to promote the sale of a substitute or imitation, or to attract trade away from competitors with the result of injuring the reputation of such articles or the good will of their producers or materially impairing the distribution of the articles.

Without repeating now the various objections to this proposal on general principles, it is pertinent to inquire how an enactment making this restraint of trade lawful could be thoroughly and impartially enforced. It could be pretty easily evaded as to most branded and trade-marked articles, and it would be likely to multiply the number of these. Anybody can devise a brand for his goods or register a trade mark, if it is made worth while, and it would require a pretty close espionage and a good deal of expense to somebody to enforce his right to prevent its sale at some other price than that which he prescribes. If the thing could be effectually done, it would be the consumer who paid, not only the price but the expense of maintaining it. The scheme does not seem to us to be either sound in principle or workable in practice.—New York Journal of Commerce.

Up-to-Date Cakes.

Stella called on her newly-married friend, Bella, and found her attired in a businesslike overall, while her arms were full of fashion papers and cookery books.

"Hello!" she exclaimed. "What are you going to make?"

"Some cakes," replied the young wife, proudly.

"But why have you got out those fashion papers, as well as the cookery books?"

"You see," confessed Bella, rather shamefacedly. "I'm a bit of a novice at cooking. Tell me, do you make cakes from a receipe or a pattern?"—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

Hard to Please.

The captain of the ship Hardtack was on one occasion greatly exasperated by the complaints of the men in the forecastle of the quality of the meat supplied to them.

"Shure, an' I won't deny that it shouts," he said, as one of the malcontents brought a particularly offensive morsel for his inspection.

"But you boys are always grumbling and, bedad, if you got baked angel for dinner you'd growl about the stuffin'."—New York Globe.

No Excuse.

An old tenant on Queen Victoria's Balmoral estate used to be greatly concerned when the queen went driving Sunday afternoon. She even ventured to speak about it. The queen, who allowed a good many liberties to her tenantry, smiled and said to the old woman: "But, Janet, the New Testament tells us distinctly that the Sabbath was made for man."

"Aye," said Janet, severely, "I know it does, and I think none the more of the New Testament for that."—Tit-Bits.

A CALIFORNIA SUNRISE.

A pink of faintest sheen
Rims the round earth. A haze of primrose fills
The hollow bowl between
The mountain ranges and the distant sea,
A forecast of the sun's full majesty,
Himself as yet unseen.

Now from their hidden caves the breezes wake
Far up the mountain steep,
Rouse the tall trees and from their branches shake
The heavy dews of sleep,
Stir the first minstrel of the feathered throng
To plume his wings and with a feathered throng
His sunrise vigil keep.

Brighter and brighter over hill and dale
The floods of sunshine roll;
Color and warmth and ecstacy prevail
In one harmonious whole;
I feel God's presence in the vibrant air
And answer California's morning prayer
With glad, awakened soul.

SOME PROGRESS.

During the battle practice held off the Cuban coast in February and March the Atlantic fleet conducted target practice at ranges hitherto untried, and with gratifying results. The North Sea battle cruiser action opened the navy's eyes to new possibilities in long-range firing. That action, it will be remembered, opened at about 18,000 yards, and hits began to be made at 17,000 yards—new records for long-distance fire at sea. In Cuban waters one of our battleships began making hits at considerably more than 19,000 yards, and practically all our superdreadnaughts began making hits at ranges in excess of that at which the German battle cruiser Blucher (sunk in the North Sea action) began to suffer from British fire. Thus the United States navy has attained to accuracy of fire at longer ranges than have hitherto been attempted by our own navy or, presumably, by any other.

While the lessons of the European war have been largely responsible for this progress, it is doubtless true also that the criticism to which the navy has of late been subjected has stimulated officers, men, and even the secretary of the navy, to extraordinary effort.

So far so good.

There are, nevertheless, certain points which must be kept before the people, before the administration, and before congress. These points, in the order of their importance, are as follows:

We need adequate personnel.
We need battle cruisers.
We need scouts.
We need aeroplanes.—Collier's.

OUR SHIPPING "POLICY."

Some calculations cannot be exact. Nobody knows what a merchant marine large enough to make this country reasonably independent of foreign carriers would cost. Half a billion is one estimate and twice that amount another, everything depending upon the prices prevailing at the time of purchase or construction.

Being an enthusiast, Secretary McAdoo foresees in his shipping bill benefits for generations yet unborn. It provides for an expenditure of about one-tenth of the lowest of the estimates referred to. It does not provide for much more than what would prove to be a drop in the bucket.

Not being composed of enthusiasts, the National Trade Council keeps out of Utopia. It is cold-blooded. It finds that it would take anywhere from 6,000,000 to 10,000,000 tons of shipping to render us independent, and it repudiates the shipping bill as barren of encouragement to private enterprise. Also, it declares that the country has no shipping policy.

The latter statement will bear revision. We have a shipping policy. It finds expression in the Seamen's Law, which Paul M. Warburg must have had in mind when he said our shippers cannot succeed unless they have as much freedom in this our "land of liberty" as is enjoyed by our European competitors. It is a prohibitive policy.—Brooklyn Eagle.

AN EASTERN RENO.

In less than five months 364 decrees of divorce have been issued in this city and a large number are pending. Those who have information say that this year will show a thousand divorces acted upon or pending. One reason for this increase is that our laws make divorce here about as easy as anywhere in the country and practically equal to Reno's open door. In this state residence for a year is required, but the complainant can cite wrongs committed in other states. This is what keeps the mill grinding. A very large share of these cases are undefended and many of them are the result of agreement or collusion. The married couple which desires to dissolve the bond can do so in Pennsylvania very easily provided there is a little perjury where no actual offenses have been committed.—Philadelphia Inquirer

Union Exercises Held at Municipal Auditorium

High Schools Are to Graduate Classes Tomorrow

Oakland's grammar school graduates gathered in one big class for graduation exercises today, when at the Municipal Auditorium 275 pupils of eleven schools participated in joint exercises.

Superintendent of Schools A. C. Barker delivered the address of the afternoon, and musical numbers and other events of the Board of Education were present, and municipal numbers and other events figured on the program of the day. The auditorium was crowded with parents of the graduates.

A chorus of the entire graduating class opened the ceremony with the singing of "America," following which the superintendent spoke. Special music was furnished by the Elementary Schools Orchestra.

THE SCHOOLS.

The schools represented in the ceremony included the Dewey, Elmhurst, Fruitvale, Hawthorne, Highland, Jefferson, Melrose, Melrose Heights, Prescott, University and Washington.

The full program of the afternoon was as follows:

Overture, "Golden Scepter"..Laufendeau
Elementary Schools Orchestra.
Mme. Stella M. Jelica.

Graduates, orchestra accompanying.

HIGH SCHOOL PLANS.

Tomorrow night will see the graduating exercises of the three high schools, the Oakland High School to hold its ceremonies in the auditorium, the Technical High School in its own auditorium, and the Fremont High School in its assembly hall. Pupils of the W. P. Frick school will hold their closing exercises tomorrow afternoon when, under the big trees of the school yard, diplomas and promotion certificates will be presented and a program of music and games enjoyed. The school, situated on the Boulevard, is surrounded by giant trees, under which the afternoon's games will be played. The children will bring basket luncheons. Several members of the Board of Education will attend, and will address the children.

LAKEVIEW EXERCISES.

newest bathing suits, tennis costumes, golf dresses, riding habits and all forms of athletic wear, will be shown by beautiful models. Four big firms will compete in the great show, these being Kahn's, Capwell's, Marymont & Upright's and Roos Brothers.

The judges are to be elected by the people. The nominations filed many just arrived and not yet generally seen, some of the latest creations seen in Burlingame, the Claremont Club and on the beach resorts, will be shown.

This will be one of the big spectacles among the special events of the day. Several other important special events are in preparation.

Every Child or Grown-Up Is Welcome as Tribune Guest

Today is June 1.

That means just five days more until the big day of the season.

For June 6 is TRIBUNE DAY!

June 6 is the day that the whole bay region—men, women and children—are to be the guests of THE TRIBUNE. Idora Park will be the place.

The big park will simply be turned over to The TRIBUNE for the day. Free tickets are to be given to every man, woman or child who asks for them. These will admit to the park, and at the park gates free concession tickets and coupons for all the events of interest in the big park will be issued.

The day will be one crowded with special events, with something doing every minute. There will be swimming races, a baby show, the "Tutch and Esther contest" and a number of big special shows now in preparation by the committees.

AT THE MONKEY HOUSE.

TRIBUNE DAY will give the general public its first opportunity to see the famous "traveling monkeys," who arrived in Oakland after being shipped around the world on a two-year trip. These simians were ordered three years ago and two years ago were sent on their way to Oakland. Delays due to war and to confusion in shipping caused them to be transported all the way around the world before they finally reached their destination.

Among the concessions which the guests of the day will enjoy are the following:

Dancing will be one of the special attractions. The old theater has been converted into a magnificent dance hall and a big orchestra will be in attendance day and night. In the amphitheater a number of the events will signalize the day and evening. Special prizes will be awarded in various contests in the swimming pool and elsewhere.

The tickets, for the convenience of the public, are to be given away, for the asking, at neighborhood stores. Your grocery has some, so ask for as many as you want.

Remember, it's THE TRIBUNE'S treat.

WAITE SAYS HE REGRETS HIS CRIMES

Declares His Life Is But Small Payment for Murders

NEW YORK, June 1.—"I am willing to give my life in partial payment for the wrong I have done others. I only regret that I have nothing more than a life to give them. My soul will go on and on trying to make reparation for the wrongs I have done."

Thus did Dr. Arthur Warren Waite reply to the court when he was sentenced to die in the electric chair at Sing Sing some time during the week of July 10.

Before the confessed murderer of John E. Peck, Grand Rapids, Mich., millionaire, was sentenced, he thanked the court for the manner in which his trial was conducted.

Dr. Waite was calm and displayed no emotion whatever when the sentence of death was pronounced. The arch-poisoner who confessed to two murders, an attempt at a third and to petty crimes throughout his life, stood between two deputies with a third behind him when Justice Shearn pronounced the words that sent him to the Sing Sing death house.

When asked if he had anything to say as to why sentence should not be passed, he replied clearly: "I have not."

He then asked that he be permitted to say a few words. The request was granted and in a steady voice, Waite began his speech.

THANKS ALL.

"I wish to thank the court," he began, "for the fair and expeditious manner in which my trial was conducted. I thank Mr. Brothers (the assistant district attorney who prosecuted the case), for the conscientious way in which he did his duty toward the people and the justice he has done me.

"I also thank my counsel, Mr. Deusel, for his efforts. He is sincere in the belief that I am insane and did all he could.

"To ask the forgiveness for those whom I have wronged would be almost impossible. But I am willing to give up my life in partial payment for the hurt I have done."

Percy Peck, son of the old man Waite murdered in hopes of gaining the Peck millions, was in court, as was Frank Waite, brother of the condemned man. They were the only members of either family who heard the death sentence passed. Mrs. Margaret Horton, Waite's "studio companion," was absent.

TAKEN TO OSSINING.

Waite was then led away to be taken by automobile to Grand Central station where the 11:07 train was taken for Ossining.

When he was searched before going to the courtroom this morning a small pocket mirror, broken in two pieces was found in his pocket. The pieces of glass were taken from him.

The matter of an appeal in Waite's case is under way. It was announced after the conviction that one would be taken but Waite's continued insistence that he wants to die in the electric chair to make partial atonement for his crime may result in a decision not to appeal. An appeal would delay the execution several months.

On his way to the Grand Central station Dr. Waite was perfectly at ease. At the depot he was seated in a day coach with his guards. In the Tombs before being taken to court for sentence, Dr. Waite wrote a note to Warden Hanley, thanking him for courtesies extended. To Dr. A. W. Prior, in the Tombs, pending an appeal from conviction in an assault case, Dr. Waite wrote a note of forgiveness. Dr. Prior attempted to gain Waite's confidence so that he could testify if Dr. Waite had feigned insanity. He was not called.

Five Suffer Injury When Auto Hits Curb

SAN FRANCISCO, June 1.—Mrs. Sophie Smith of the St. Catherine apartments, suffered painful injuries and four men were thrown to the street in an automobile accident early this morning at Grant avenue and Market streets. Leo Valentine, chauffeur for Mrs. Smith, in endeavoring to avoid another automobile, turned his machine into the safety station. Mrs. Smith was thrown against the wind shield and suffered severe lacerations of the face and general shock. Leo Valentine, his brother, George Valentine, of 248 O'Farrell street, Bert Leahy, and Isaac Coon, both of Daly City, were thrown out, but suffered only minor sprains and bruises. All were sent to the Central Emergency Hospital.

Little Bill Is Chip Off Block

Travels Same as Son of Traveler

SAN FRANCISCO, June 1.—Little William Black, 16-months-old son of Harold Black, a traveling salesman of 1129 Stanyan street, kicked off all his covers during the night and awoke about 6 a. m., cold and restive. An hour later he was in the city prison and Patrolman Walter Savage was feeding him with a spoon in the dining room. Master Black jumped out of his crib, crept down the stairs and out into the street and was walking about in a vacant lot adjoining the residence of Mrs. Theresa Johnson, at 1167 Stanyan street, when he was seen and taken in charge by the police.

It was after 9 o'clock before the Black family were aroused by the disappearance of the youngest child and there was much anxiety and nervousness until the child was located.

Prominent Men Face Charges of Arson

LOS ANGELES, June 1.—John Hayes, formerly foreman of the Watts Lumber Company at Watts, near here, was arrested today, charged with arson in connection with a fire at the lumber yards February 14, 1915, on which $8600 insurance was alleged to have been collected.

John S. Lange, mayor of Watts, and W. H. Turner, former mayor, were arrested on like charges late yesterday.

The three men will be arraigned late today at Huntington Park, near Watts. Lange and Turner were released on $2000 bail bonds at midnight.

German Hospital to Graduate Twenty

SAN FRANCISCO, June 1. — Commencement exercises will be held tonight by the nurses' graduating class of the German Hospital Training School here, when a program will be rendered and 20 graduates will receive diplomas. Two scholarships will be awarded, Miss Edna Welder to be named assistant superintendent and Miss Helen Laufenberg assistant head surgical nurse.

Dr. Adolph Rosenthal will be chairman and Dr. William Ophuls will be the speaker. Captain John D. Heise will distribute the diplomas.

L. A. WOMAN IS NAMED TO HEAD CLUBS

New York Session Ends Work of Selecting Leaders

NEW YORK, June 1.—Mrs. Josiah Evans Cowles of Los Angeles was elected president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs. Official announcement of Mrs. Cowles' election was made before the convention today.

She won over Mrs. Samuel H. Sneath of Tiffin, Ohio, in one of the liveliest campaigns in the federation's history. The vote was 1273 for Mrs. Cowles and 452 for Mrs. Sneath.

Today marks the windup of the convention. The women were completely fagged out as early as two days ago and started for their homes. Fully 500 left before the election yesterday.

Other new officers are:

LOS ANGELES JUBILANT.

LOS ANGELES, June 1.—Los Angeles clubwomen are jubilant today, following news that Mrs. Josiah Evans Cowles had been elected president of the National Federation of Women's Clubs.

Mrs. L. W. Harmon, president of the Los Angeles district, Federation of Women's Clubs, sent the following telegram to Mrs. Cowles:

"Mrs. Josiah Cowles—The Los Angeles district of the California Federation of Women's Clubs sends loving greetings and congratulations to the new president of the general federation. It is a fitting and justified recognition of your worth as evidenced through your past years of service. We of your home district rejoice to assure you of our pride and love.—Mrs. L. W. Harmon, president."

ALAMEDA STREETS NOW IN CONDITION

City Dept. Rebuilds Where Traffic Damage Is Done.

ALAMEDA, June 1. — The street department has finished the rebuilding of Pacific avenue, between Park and Webster streets and that avenue is now in excellent condition. Another long-needed improvement is under way on south Encinal avenue. The department will rebuild this street from Encinal avenue to the foot of Park street where the municipal light plant is located.

The portion of the street south of San Jose avenue is already in process of rebuilding. The strip between San Jose and Encinal avenues will be taken up as soon as the first portion of the work is finished. The condition of Park street south of Encinal has been bad for several years.

With this portion improved the main business street of Alameda will be in prime condition from the tidal canal to the end of the street on the south arm of San Francisco bay.

New Species Added to Coast Botanies

BERKELEY, June 1. — A dozen species of plants previously unknown to science, from Lower California, Sinnaloe, Nevada, and Mono county, and from San Martin, Magdalena, and Santa Margarita islands off the coast of Lower California, are described by Dr. T. S. Brandegee, honorary curator in the herbarium of the University of California, in a paper just issued by the university, in its publications in botany.

One of the most interesting of these plants is the "Jatropha maculat," common about San Jose del Cabo, in Lower California, but heretofore unknown to the scientific world, a plant which grows in many stemmed clumps, with mottled leaves, very attractive to the sight, but with stinging bristles which discourage acquaintance.

The seeds, however, which are pleasant to taste, are eaten by the natives, and the plant has abundant potato like tubers.

Bats to Be Crossed by Alameda Players

ALAMEDA, June 1. — The Alameda ball team will play the Barney Frankels of the Trolley league at Lincoln park Sunday afternoon. The batteries will be Connors and Whitelaw for the visitors and Schammel and Mackie for Alameda.

The Alameda club subscription lists, which have been left with different merchants in town for signatures of financial support by baseball fans willing to support a home team, are being signed steadily. Manager F. L. Krumb said today that further financial help was needed and urged all local fans to sign the lists and help maintain a willing Alameda team.

Service Is Held for John Elder

ALAMEDA, June 1. — Funeral services were held today for the late John Elder, a prominent member of the First Presbyterian church. The Rev. F. L. Nash, an old church friend of the deceased, conducted the services. Elder died at the home of his son, Neal Elder, 2019 Encinal avenue, following a protracted period of ill health. He was a native of Scotland and 79 years of age. He came to California 39 years ago. His wife died last April.

ALAMEDA PERSONALS

ALAMEDA, June 1. — Mrs. Edwin Pond James leaves Saturday on a four months' tour of the east. She will spend a considerable portion of her time in Chicago and Minneapolis. She will be joined by Dr. James for the last month of her trip.

Dr. and Mrs. George C. Thompson will spend their school vacation outing with the Sierra club in the Kern river canyon. The club plans the ascent of Mt. Kaweah. Dr. Thompson is principal of the Alameda high school.

Mrs. E. E. McLean has returned from a visit with her son, G. H. Rolander, at Menlo Park.

Miss Adeline Toye is the guest of Chicago friends. Miss Toye will spend the entire summer with friends and relatives in the middlewest states.

Miss Lucille Hewitt, Miss Clare, Miss Connelly and Mrs. Edna Partch, members of the Alameda high school faculty, will go to the Yosemite during the vacation season.

E. M. Vail, superintendent of the Alameda playgrounds, will spend next week at Tahoe on a short vacation outing.

DON'T SQUEEZE BLACKHEADS; DISSOLVE THEM

Squeezing and pinching out blackheads make the pores large and cause irritation—then, too, after they have become hard you cannot get all of them out. Blackheads are caused by accumulations of dust and dirt and secretions from the skin and there is only one safe and sure way and one that never fails to get rid of them—a simple way, too—that is to dissolve them. Just get from any drug store about two ounces of powdered nervsin—sprinkle a little on a hot wet sponge—rub over the blackheads briskly for a few seconds—wash off and you'll be surprised to see that every blackhead has disappeared, and the skin will be left soft and the pores in their natural condition—anyone troubled with these unsightly blemishes should try this simple method.

Action of Single Spoonful Surprises Many

Oakland people who bought the simple mixture of buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., known as Adler-i-ka, are surprised at the INSTANT effect of a SINGLE SPOONFUL. This remedy is so complete a bowel cleanser that it is used successfully in appendicitis. Adler-i-ka acts on BOTH upper and lower bowel and ONE SPOONFUL relieves almost ANY CASE of constipation, sour or gassy stomach. ONE MINUTE after you take it the gasses rumble and pass out. Pretty Girls to Serve Luncheon at Park

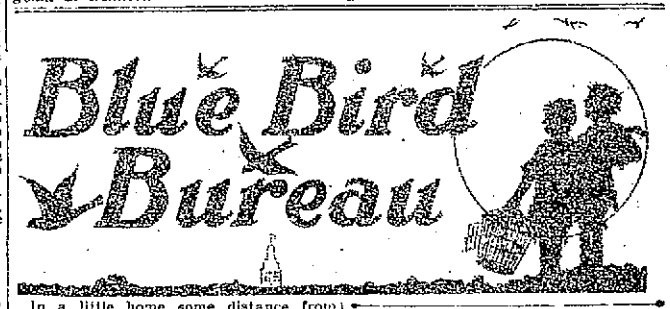
BERKELEY, June 1. — This city is to furnish a group of pretty girls to add to the gayety of the State of Maine Association's picnic, which is to be held next Saturday at Shellmound park. Under the leadership of Mrs. Nettie M. Campbell, Mrs. Rose Thaxter and Miss Julia Crocker, they are to serve on the table committee during the progress of the "down east" luncheon that will be a feature of the outing.

Trains leaving Berkeley at 9:30, 10:30 and 11:30 a. m. and 12:30 and 1:30 p. m. will stop at the park. Returning trains from there for Berkeley station will stop at 4:08 and 5:08 p. m. The Berkeley girls who will serve on the table committee are the Misses Hazel Tabbutts, Gladys Tabbutts, Katherine Crocker, Ruth Perrine, Leonette Brin, Mabel Brin, Marion Thaxter, Charlotte Thaxter, Florence Thaxter, Blanche Pope, Frances Campbell, Nancy Booth, Eleanor Crocker, Chorus Thaxter, Edith Chidester, Vivian Robinson and Elizabeth Miller.

This will be the thirty-eighth annual reunion of the association. F. W. Thaxter of Berkeley, secretary-treasurer, has sent out more than 1000 invitations. The New England dinner is to consist of baked beans and brown bread, hot coffee and cream and will be served without charge to all who attend. A program of addresses and music, besides dancing, games and races has been arranged.



"THE BLUE BIRD FOR HAPPINESS."

"Heads up, work hard, keep smiling and lend a hand"—that's the motto of the Blue Bird Bureau, The TRIBUNE'S Department of Good Fellowship. To show people who are willing to help others just how to go about it without putting a tax on any one, to provide happiness swiftly without publicity, to make life brighter and give childhood its birthright—that is the purpose of the Blue Bird Bureau. If interested, 'phone Lakeside 6000.

In a little home some distance from here lives a couple who are making a desperate effort to surmount the obstacles and difficulties of life. They are both very poor and both very sick and are in destitute circumstances. The husband is very anxious to work, but on account of being ill, is unable to work at any hard labor. They are also hungry and have been depending almost entirely upon their neighbors, who are most of them poor themselves, for support.

We wonder if some one would not be willing to call on them and perhaps take them a little something to eat? They live in Berkeley. Some one also might know of some work that this husband could do; that is, if it were not heavy labor. We are sure that a visit to their home will convince you of their circumstances, and that you will be glad to do what you can for them.

The widow we told you about yesterday is to have her gas stove. We know it will please her immensely, for she has been having no end of trouble with her present stove.

A Good Fellow called us on the phone today and told us that we might have a gas stove by calling at her home for same. This we are going to do, and it will be only another day or so before it is being put to good use in the home of our little widow friend.

This same little woman is very fond of reading, and if any of you would care to send her a few good magazines we will be very glad to tell you how they will reach her.

We also want to tell you that our little "hero" is to have a bicycle at last, and with the aid of this bicycle he is going to get a position as errand boy and thus help support his mother and seven sisters and brothers.

We have been offered a bicycle, but as it happens, this wheel is much too large for the lad, but we think he will have little difficulty in trading it for a bicycle his own size. This little chap will be delighted over the good news, for he has been so anxious to obtain work so that he could bring in a little towards the support of his large family. He is only 13 or 14 years old, and is unable to do much other than just "errand boy" work, but without the bicycle he would be unable to even get this kind of a job.

We are very grateful to the Good Fellow who donated the bicycle.

We are very desirous of obtaining work for an elderly woman. She is an excellent housekeeper, and a very ambitious and conscientious worker. She prefers work by the day, for she has a little home, and for that reason does not care to obtain a place where she would be expected to remain at night also.

She has no one to depend on for her living other than just herself, and at the present time she is very badly in need of steady work.

Why not give her a trial? We know she will make good, and we are sure that you will not regret it if you secure her services.

Explains New Zone Law to Assemblyman

BERKELEY, June 1. — Assemblyman George Gelder has been instructed in phases of law as a sequel to his addressing a letter to the city council regarding the newly adopted zone ordinance. The assemblyman believed that there were faults in the ordinance which ought to be corrected and his letter was referred by the council to City Attorney Frank D. Stringham.

Stringham points out in reply to Gelder that the framers of the zone ordinance did not intend it should apply to structures already established and that it could not be made to do so legally. He continues:

"The purpose of the ordinance is to protect blocks or districts not already invaded, and to give those who have bought homes in an essentially residential district some reasonable protection, for a few years at least, from having stores, apartment houses, etc., established in their midst, since the normal growth of a city does not demand such a scattering of various kinds of buildings and business establishments."

Stringham holds that stables and power houses are proper subjects for regulation.

College Senior to Aid Belgian Relief

BERKELEY, June 1. — William M. Gwynn, senior assistant in the University of California library, has received cabled news from Europe of his appointment as a member of the staff of the American commission for relief in Belgium. He is the fifth person to go from Berkeley to aid in this great undertaking.

At the present time four other University of California men are in Europe helping with the work of the American commission for relief in Belgium, namely David P. Barrows, professor of political science and dean of the academic faculties; Dr. W. P. Lucas, professor of pediatrics; Clara Morse Torrey, secretary to the president, and Tracy B. Kittredge of the department of history.

Gwynn left Berkeley today and expects to remain in Belgium until the end of the war.

GIFTS MADE TO MUSEUM.

BERKELEY, June 1. — The aboriginal arts of the Pacific coast are represented in a number of recent gifts received by the museum of anthropology, maintained by the University of California in the western building of the Affiliated colleges, on Parnassus avenue, San Francisco.

Judge F. W. Henshaw has given two crescent shaped stone implements from Catalina island; Mrs. Blanche Trask, arrow points and potsherds from the neighborhood of Indio, California; Chas. Purviance, a collection of specimens from cliff dwellings; Mrs. Katherine Hooker an Indian paddle from the North Pacific, and also a Melanesian mask; and Mrs. Phoebe A. Hearst, a number of California Indian baskets, including two Pomo baskets, also two Apache baskets, and also bead work of the Plains Indians and Pueblo pottery.

RECALL DEPUTIES NAMED.

BERKELEY, June 1. — Representatives of the Taxpayers' Protective league, which proposes to sweep the city administration out of office by recall, have secured appointment from City Clerk A. C. Boggs to act as notification deputies.

They are H. V. Westcott, 1219 Cedar street; Charles J. Wegner, 1646 Walnut street; Robert A. Little, 1201 Curtiss street; Herbert Smith, 1535 Ashby avenue, and Mrs. Mabel G. Mitchell, 2508 Webster street.

High School Graduates to Receive Diplomas

ALAMEDA, June 1. — The graduating exercises of the Alameda high school in the auditorium of the First Methodist church this evening, will open at 8:15 o'clock. Forty-nine graduates will receive their diplomas. Following the opening music numbers by Miss Elizabeth Westgate the Rev. C. L. Mears will give the invocation. A violin quartet, composed of Kenneth McKenzie, Gerard Nordlund, Rudolph Buben and Joseph Walters will play, and the glee club, accompanied by Miss Ruth Carr, pianist, and Rudolph Buben, violinist, will sing "Oh! That We Two Were Maying," and "Berceuse."

Ruth Eubanks will give an address on "School Play" and Lester Souther will speak on "Military Training in the High School."

Following the address to the graduates by Dr. Martin Meyer of San Francisco, Superintendent of Schools C. J. Dufour will speak briefly, after which the diplomas will be presented by Dr. Kate Van Orden, president of the board of education. Principal George C. Thompson will serve as master of ceremonies.

Electricity Board to Ask for Condemnation

ALAMEDA, June 1. — Paul Arnerich, the newly-named commissioner of electricity, met with the board of electricity for the first time last night. H. Krust was elected president of the board. The board will request the city council to start condemnation proceedings against F. Luchetti to gain possession of a 50-foot lot south of the electric light plant. The electricity board wants the lot for a storeroom site and warehouse yard. At present the surplus poles and other construction material is stored at the north end of Grand street, in the corporation yard. The light plant is on one side of the island and the corporation yard on the other. Luchetti asks $3200 for the lot. The board has offered $2500.

Girl Falls Off Pony, Is Injured

HAYWARD, June 1.—Little Alma Reid, youngest daughter of R. Reid, druggist, was badly hurt when she fell off her Shetland pony while out riding in Castro Valley yesterday. The saddle slipped while the pony was cantering along the road and the girl was thrown off, her head striking the ground. She suffered a slight concussion of the brain and bruises. She was presented with the pony by her father six months ago.

ATHLETIC PROGRAM BY ELKS.

ALAMEDA, June 1. — Alameda lodge of Elks will hold an athletic night tomorrow evening. The athletic committee in charge is composed of F. J. Crell, president; T. H. Haskins, Carl Strom, Walter O. Jacoby and D. Bruzzone. The committee has secured a large amount of high class boxing, wrestling and tumbling and gymnastic talent, including William La H'Lerex, the champion amateur heavyweight, who will head the list of performers. There will be a large number of special guests in addition to the lodge membership and visiting Elks.

CHURCH WOMEN ARE GUESTS.

ALAMEDA, June 1. — Mrs. Charles Kennedy, 2152 Pacific avenue, was hostess this afternoon for a meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society of the First Methodist church.

ASK HYNES FOR LIBEL WARRANT

...may be mistaken in the declaration that all that is necessary to change "an ex-president" into "a next president" is T. It is just possible that it is T. R.

It begins to look as though the Democratic policy as to the Philippines is undergoing a change. Other policies of that party have been overhauled—for instance, the sugar tariff and the one-term plank.

The story of attempted assassination of T. R. by a knife-thrower appears to be of the genus bunk. At least, if a knife was "hurled" it fell so wide of its mark that the mark never knew of it until informed.

If authors succeed in forming a union, and adopt rules regulating ... sell.

Neither District Attorney Hynes nor Hammond or Wilkens would discuss their interview but it was intimated that their charges will be investigated by the District Attorney before any further action is taken.

Residence District Endangered by Fire

ALAMEDA, June 1.—Fire this morning seriously threatened the destruction of the handsome home of Mrs. T. H. Potter at the southwest corner of Bay street and San Antonio avenue. Escaping sparks from a chimney are believed to have fired the upper story of the residence. After a hard fight the firemen controlled the fire. Estimates of damage are not yet complete. The loss is covered by insurance. The fire was in the midst of an exclusive south-side residence district and created considerable stir among the fashionable south-siders.

Bakers Prepare for Big Convention

Preparations are being made by local committees for the reception of master bakers from all parts of the state, when, on June 13, the California State Master Bakers' Association will hold its first annual convention at the Hotel Oakland. F. C. Balbon of Oakland is in charge of the local arrangements, and will be joined shortly by President Henry Doerr of San Jose and other officers of the organization.

The bakers plan a two-day session, during which social events as well as business session will be held. There will be a reception in honor of the visiting bakers, a dance, and a banquet, and the Chamber of Commerce will cooperate in entertaining the guests. A number of noted experts on baking and food preparation will be heard in technical discussions during the session, and the discussions will include pure food regulation and other matters of general interest.

The officers of the convention will be Henry Doerr of San Jose, president; J. S. Golden, Sacramento, vice-president; and William Foley of San Francisco, secretary.

Chicken Thief, Caught, Killed Like Rat He Is

Persistent demands and telephone calls sent to Acting Chief J. F. Lynch, Captain Charles Buck, Captain of Inspectors Lou F. Agnew and other police officials from Mrs. Louise Ashton, 533 Forty-second street, directed attention to the theft from night to night of chickens from Mrs. Ashton's henhouse.

Mrs. Ashton wanted a detective to be stationed in the henhouse over night to catch the chicken thief on the occasion of his next visit. Agnew was finally, after ten barred Plymouth Rock chickens had been stolen, one each night, constrained to detail Inspectors Tom Wood and George Powers to investigate. Their report follows:

"We investigated this report and after careful search of the premises, could find no evidence that anyone had been in or near the coop where the chickens were confined. Afterward we found evidences that a rat of large proportions had been around the coop. We moved the coop and found the bodies of ten chickens and a large rat making his morning meal off one of them.

"The rat was immediately killed without trial."

Commencement Week Is Opened at U. S. C.

LOS ANGELES, June 1.—Commencement week opened here today at the University of Southern California with the annual recital by the students of the College of Music in the University church. The series of exercises throughout the week will end next Thursday, when degrees are to be given to 456 graduates, the largest number in the thirty-three years of the university's existence.

Rev. Charles E. Selecman, pastor of Trinity Methodist church, has been chosen to preach the Baccalaureate sermon Sunday. One of the picturesque ceremonies of the week will be the "Ivy Day" ceremonial on the campus Wednesday, when the seniors will give into the care of the juniors the guardianship of the college traditions.

Alumni banquets of the various colleges will be held during the week.

Chicago Plays at Big Municipal Pier

CHICAGO, June 1.—Chicago's biggest playground, 25 miles of Lake Michigan front, came into its own today when 60,000 bathers went to the beaches for the grand opening.

The great new municipal pier, which stretches for nearly three-quarters of a mile into the lake at the foot of Grand avenue, began its first season today. Aquatic sports of every sort—yacht, canoe, boat races—were planned for the dedication ceremony.

The recreation end of the pier will be given over all summer long to dances, band concerts and other festivities.

The pier will be the starting point for the small steamers running to the north and south parks of the city.

The lid was off today on bathing suits. Short skirts—cannibal style—for the men and no stockings, no skirts for the women, marked the official style.

BOYS CONFESS.

ALAMEDA, June 1. — The police are investigating an attempt to rob the store at Lincoln Park playground. The store was robbed about two months ago by a couple of boys who secured a key to the door. The boys, when rounded up by the police declared that they had thrown the key away. The attempt last night to enter the store was frustrated by the arrival of a watchman who found that the would-be thieves had left a key in the door lock. Nothing was taken.

Service for Rancher Slain on Tracks

PLEASANTON, June 1. — The funeral will be held here tomorrow morning of Antone Leonardo, wealthy rancher of Sunol, who was instantly killed by a westbound Southern Pacific train at Sunol Tuesday. Services will be held in St. Augustine's church at 9 o'clock in the morning. The funeral will be under the auspices of I. D. E. S., a Portuguese fraternal society of which Leonardo was a member.

Hugo K. Asher, San Francisco attorney, who was knocked down by the train which killed Leonardo, is still in a serious condition.

Pleasanton Race Ends When Auto Is Wrecked

PLEASANTON, June 1. — H. W. Heap of Oakland, driver of a racing car, and his mechanic, R. Assmussen, are recovering from injuries incurred when their car overturned during a race here Tuesday. Heap was contesting for first place and was going at a high speed when a front wheel of his car came off and the auto capsized. Driver and mechanic were thrown to one side. Heap suffered a broken rib and lacerations and his mechanic was badly bruised. The wheel had given trouble all through the race and was wobbling badly before it came off.

STUDENTS TO GRADUATE.

RICHMOND, June 1. — Thirty-four students of Richmond High school will receive their diplomas this evening, when commencement exercises will be held in the High school auditorium.

The graduating classes of the grammar schools will hold joint exercises in the auditorium of the Lincoln grammar school on Friday evening. Arthur Arlett of Berkeley will be the principal speaker. Excellent programs have been provided for both the high school and grammar school graduating classes. There are 113 students graduating from the grammar schools.

FREE TEXT BOOKS IN HIGH SCHOOL QUERY

Legislative Debate Is Expected Over Important Pending Issue.

SACRAMENTO, June 1.—Should California print and distribute free high school textbooks as it now does elementary school books?

This will be one of the big issues before the next legislature and a hot fight is already looming up.

The main objection comes from school teachers and book publishers.

Those favoring the idea point to the great success of free textbooks in the elementary schools. State Printer R. L. Telfer, called up by the legislative textbook committee to make a report on elementary schools, presents figures showing that the cost of State publication is about $250,000 a year less than the big book publishers would charge. The cost ranges from 4 cents for a writing book to 73 cents for an advanced geography, whereas the publishers' price ranges from 5 cents for the writing book to $1 for the geography.

Telfer is of the opinion that State printing of high school books would result in a saving of at least $80,000 annually.

Some of the teachers argue that there should be a difference in the textbooks used in a high school with a large supplementary library and one without. Proponents of the free plan concede that supplemental books are valuable for the student in advance of his class and in research work, but believe their value does not detract from the need of a uniform standard textbook for the city and country student.

President Is Asked to Aid Military Training

NEW YORK, June 1.—A telegram sent to President Wilson last night by the Military Training Camps Association of the United States with headquarters in this city, asks his aid in having "Congress do its part" in national preparedness by passing the new army bill, which carries an appropriation for civil training camps.

"Thousands of men are daily waiting," the message said, "for an announcement that the government will make it possible for them to enlist in a Federal camp this year."

The association added that it was informed "Congress may delay the passage of the necessary appropriation for another six weeks," and hence made the appeal to the President "for assistance."

The message referred to the President's Memorial Day address in which he said that a test is to be made of the readiness of the employers of the country to permit their employees to volunteer for military training.

The Military Training Camps Association is a country-wide organization including many prominent men in its membership.

Yell Saves Cash From Bold Hold-up Thug

Roy Powers, 806 Broadway, refused to hand over his money to a robber who entered his store late last night. Powers had just placed a small sack of money in the cash till. The man became angry when Powers refused to give him money, and threw a chair across the counter. Powers ducked and called for help. The intruder fled.

PRESSURE CAUSES CHINESE REVOLT

Kwang-tung Declares Itself to Be an Independent Province.

CANTON, June 1.—Kwang-tung's declaration of independence came about through the pressure brought upon General Lung Chin-kuang, the military governor of Canton, by the seventy-two trade guilds of Canton and the defection of his own brother, General Lung Chin-kuang. The latter was sent with troops from Kwang-tung province to subdue the revolutionists of Yunnan province. In making this trip, it was necessary for him to cross Kwang-si province. While in that province, the officials of Kwang-si declared its independence and General Lung Chin-kuang willingly threw his support and that of his troops to the revolutionary movement.

At Canton the situation became very grave. The revolution had gradually spread to the very borders of Kwang-tung province, and commercial interests were widely clamoring for independence, as they regard its severance from the Peking government as the only means of preserving peace and preventing anarchy and riot. General Lung Chin-kuang repeatedly assembled high military and civil officials in his office and called prominent busiess men to confer with them. He stubbornly remained loyal to the Peking government, but finally the situation became so tense that he saw he could not control his subordinate officials any longer, and proclaimed the independence of Kwang-tung.

One of the most notable documents of the revolutionists is the telegram which General Lung Chin-kuang sent to his brother, the military governor of Canton, after he and his troops had joined the revolutionary movement in Kwang-si, in which he said:

"None of the citizens of this country has approved the project for the restoration of monarchy. This is the reason of the popularity of the revolutionary movements. As soon as the independence of Yunnan was declared Kuei-chow followed its steps, and now Kuang-si has joined them. The revolutionary influence has spread like wild fire and it is only a matter of course that before long the whole country will unite as one man to oppose the Central Government.

"From the very beginning of the history of China the success of every dynasty has depended absolutely upon the right of the cause, and no man can be a success if his cause is a wrong one. We have noticed that some of the troops who have a right principle have turned against the Central Government before they have met us on the field. You will not act against your own conscious if you should disregard all personal favors showered upon you when you feel the uprightcousness of the cause."

Native Daughters Are Visited by President

HAYWARD, June 1.—Mrs. Margaret G. Hill, grand president of the Native Daughters of the Golden West and other grand officers paid an official visit to Hayward Parlor of Native Daughters on last evening. They were given a reception in the Native Sons' hall and were guests of honor at a banquet and initiation ceremony. Accompanying Mrs. Hill were Mrs. Mamie Carmichael, San Jose, grand vice-president; Mrs. Mary E. Bell, grand marshal; Miss Allie Dougherty, grand secretary, and Mrs. Addie Mosher, grand treasurer of Piedmont Parlor.

Members of San Leandro and Niles Parlors were present. Mrs. Edward Manter was initiated into the local parlor. Committees in charge of the reception were: Reception committee, Mrs. Henry Powell, chairman; Mrs. John Dobbel, Mrs. E. A. Oakes and Mrs. U. C. Billingsley; refreshment committee, Mrs. S. C. Smith, chairman; Mrs. Helen Kerr, Mrs. J. E. Geary, Mrs. E. Grindell, Mrs. A. J. Powell, Mrs. P. Willford, Miss Lena Harder, Mrs. B. Strobel, Mrs. W. G. Knightly and Mrs. L. R. Rosenberg.

Got Rid of My Corns" With Magic "Gets-It"

Simplest Corn Cure in the World —No Pain, No Fuss. New, Sure Way.

When corns make you almost "die with your boots on," when you've soaked them and picked them and sliced them, when corn-swelling salves, and tapes, bandages, and plasters that make corns pop-eyed have only made your corns grow faster, just hold your heart a moment and figure this: Put two drops of "Gets-It" on the corn. It dries at once. You can put your shoe and stocking on right over it. The corn is doomed. It makes the corn come off clear and clean. It's the new, easy way. Nothing to stick or press on the corn. You can wear smaller shoes. You'll be a joy-walker. No pain, no trouble. Accept no substitutes.

"Gets-It" is sold by druggists everywhere, 25c a bottle, or sent direct by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago, Ill. Sold in Oakland at all stores of The Owl Drug Co.—Advertisement.

Why Have Corns At All When "Gets-It" Removes Them the New, Dead-Sure Way?

TIME FOR SETTING RECALL IN DOUBT

A difference of opinion has arisen as to whether the council must name the date for the recall election against Commissioner F. F. Jackson tomorrow or may take action some time next week. The charter is apparently indefinite, and it is possible that the commissioners may not pass a resolution tomorrow setting the date.

The council meets at 11 a. m. tomorrow, and the court hearing of the writ of review asked by Attorney Charles A. Beardsley against City Clerk L. W. Cummings and the city council is not to be held until 2 p. m. It is possible that no arrangements will be made for a council session after the court hearing, and if this course is taken, the election date will not be set until next week.

DEMANDS FOR REVIEW.

Beardsley, acting in behalf of Dr. Jackson, has based his demand for a writ of review upon three alleged errors on the part of the city clerk. They are as follows:

That Cummings accepted what purported to be a sufficient recall petition against Commissioner F. F. Jackson, when it was in fact short 1766 names of the necessary number specified by the charter.

That Cummings counted in 298 certificates in the supplementary petition when these were dated during the period during which no signature should have been obtained, the interval of ten days between the time of the filing of the original petition and the certification by the clerk that this petition was short 1765 certificates.

That Cummings failed to count 467 withdrawals of signatures which had been presented by friends of Commissioner Jackson, and which would have been sufficient to make the petition null and void.

City Attorney Paul C. Morf will appear to defend City Clerk Cummings. It was upon Morf's advice that Cummings accepted the original petition, when Commissioner Jackson's adherents caused the city clerk to ask for a formal opinion from the city attorney as to whether he should throw out the petition forthwith or should proceed to verify it. Morf will be called upon to defend the stand he took in this matter.

The controversy over the matter of when the council shall take action toward calling the election is based upon the uncertain terms in which the charter provides for the calling of the election. This section of the charter reads as follows:

"If the officer sought to be removed by recall shall not resign from office within five days after the petition is filed by the city clerk, and if the petition requests a special election, the council shall cause a special election to be held within not less than 50 nor more than 60 days after the filing of said petition to determine whether the electors will recall said officer."

The petition was filed with the city clerk May 25. This would make the date of the election between July 14 and 24. But nothing is said in the section as to when the council shall take action to set this date.

City Attorney Morf gave his opinion to the commissioners yesterday that as the charter says the council must cause an election to be held "within not less than 50 days," this action must be taken not less than 50 days before the date of the election. Members of the council are not so sure that this is a justifiable interpretation to place on the charter, and say that so long as arrangements are made in time to hold the election within the ten days set, the time of passing the first resolutions is not material.

Dr. L. F. Herrick announced today that the Taxpayers' League of which he is president, will hold an executive session tonight to decide upon a candidate to run against Commissioner F. F. Jackson.

Fashion Show, Tribune Day Feature Will Also Be Held at Idora Park

Four Firms to Compete for Award

A great "Outing Fashion Show," one of the most remarkable displays of sporting and outdoor garments ever seen on the Pacific coast, will be among the special spectacular features of TRIBUNE DAY, June 6, at Idora Park. Wonderful new costumes for the great outdoors, including the newest bathing suits, tennis costumes, golf dresses, riding habits and all forms of athletic wear, will be shown by beautiful models. Four big firms will compete in the great show, these being Kahn's, Capwell's, Marymont & Uprichts and Roos Brothers.

The judges are to be elected by the people. The nominations filed last week, when TRIBUNE coupons were sent in, have been augmented by several more candidates and the judges list will be chosen Monday from the blanks sent in, the five highest votes electing judges who will pass on the merits of the great display.

The new fashions, including many just arrived and not yet generally seen, some of the latest creations seen in Burlingame, the Claremont Club and on the beach resorts, will be shown.

This will be one of the big spectacles among the special events of the day. Several other important special events are in preparation.

Phosphorous Used to Ravage Crops

IMPERIAL, June 1.—A reward of $1000 is offered by county authorities today for the apprehension of arsonists who destroyed crops on a number of ranches, by spreading phosphorous. Hundreds of tons of hay and alfalfa were destroyed.

"TEACHER" IN CUSTODY.

CRESTON, Ia., June 1.—F. G. Hines of Garden Grove, Iowa, is held under bonds by United States Commissioner Hunt to appear before him tomorrow and answer to a charge of using the United States mails to defraud. Hines is said to have been conducting a so-called school of instruction, receiving as many as 100 letters a day.

Fair Recruits Are Willing "Soldiers"

Romance in War Camp at Presidio

Leave Teas and Shops for Training

SAN FRANCISCO June 1.—Preparing for a war no one expects is ever so much more agreeable than the gathering up of pieces of damaged soldiers after the thing happens.

That at least is the impression of interested observers of the National Service Training School at the Presidio—especially since they discovered what fascinating khaki uniforms army tailors had fashioned for the fair recruits, and how flowers had been planted around the barracks to give the east cantonment a festive air for their benefit.

The uniforms were first genuinely in evidence today when more than one hundred enterprising young girls responded to reveille this morning and started later to learn semaphore technique from attractive United States Navy Signal Corps men. How to arrange ice on the picturesque foreheads of the imaginary wounded is another detail in the course that they are engaged in.

A SERIOUS AFFAIR.

It is a romantic war drama without any wasteful bloodshed yet if somebody drops a bomb suddenly, there will be numbers of volunteers from around the bay ready to leave teas and shops to take care of the victims.

The San Francisco National Training Service School is a serious affair. Its discipline is to be as rigid for the women rookies as it is for young soldiers, and its instruction as adequate as most competent nurses and surgeons and conscientious army officers can make it. For the first time young society girls are turning earnest thoughts toward diseases duo to micro-organisms, fumigation, and application of bandages and scientific bedmaking and home care of the sick and quarantine and disinfection and all that.

Tomorrow they start the day at 6:30 o'clock and at 10 with the sound of taps lights must go out. All this is not so sad as it might be because between 4 and 6 o'clock in the afternoon visitors may call to see whether the recruits look weary yet. Today the first audience of spectators thronged in to watch the ceremony of flag-raising and so approved the setting for the venture that many more enrollments were made for the term following the first two weeks.

All tomorrow morning students will ponder on the relation of bacteria to disease and on bandage making according to the Red Cross standards. But the afternoon elective students will be marching and drilling in their dashing attire under the instruction of a United States army sergeant. The east cantonment threatens to be more popular than a Sunday baseball park.

POPULAR COURSES.

It might be added that though there are courses for sewing of Red Cross garments and the knitting of Red Cross articles for field work, these pale in interest with the courses in heliographing. Not many entrants have chosen the feminine performances. So, if the polo experts of the peninsula are sacrificing amateur sport to preparedness, many daughters of well known families are giving up summer conventionalities like wise.

And they are all native born, over eighteen and able to endure camp routine, so that the freshening process that has altered the barracks has been a compliment instead of a necessity. Even if permanent peace should be declared they will be still prepared if marooned on an island to take up strenuous existence.

Speeded to Jail On Old Warrant

Year-Old Offense Proves Fatal

To the striking coincidence of the time, place and officer who arrested him for speeding Sunday, Pete Jeayetta of Richmond owes a term of ten days in jail.

The jail term was imposed by Judge Ralph Richmond at Niles yesterday for a year-old offense. Jeayetta was arrested May 28, 1915, by Motor Traffic Officer L. A. Solon on a charge of speeding at forty miles an hour near Niles. He was served with notice to appear before the magistrate for sentence, but failed to do so. Warrants were issued for his arrest, but these Jeayetta managed to elude.

He left Richmond and nothing was seen of him until last Sunday, exactly one year after his previous arrest, when Officer Solon again arrested him near the same spot he was taken into custody a year ago. Solon was armed with a warrant for Jeayetta's arrest on the previous charge.

Because of Jeayetta's failure to appear for sentence last year Judge Richmond sent him to jail.

NINE KILLED IN WRECK.

LAREDO, Tex., June 1.—Nine persons were killed and thirty-five injured yesterday when a north bound passenger train on the Mexican Railway was in collision with a south bound freight train near Rodriguez, Mex., 40 miles south of Nuevo Laredo. Those killed were five trainmen and four passengers, all Mexicans. Several Americans were aboard the passenger train, but none was reported injured.

STUTTERING CURED IN SCHOOL DEPT.

One of the most remarkable demonstrations ever witnessed by school authorities, in which it was proved that by teaching children recitations and simple sentences, stammering could be "cured," was held last night at Chabot hall. A play, "Golden Cobwebs," was presented by children, formerly bad stammerers, or suffering other defects of speech, who had been trained by the Oakland public school system for two months.

The presentation of the play was flawless. The affair called for many recitations, the better to demonstrate the perfect success of the system being tried out by the Oakland Board of Education.

Stammering and speech defect classes are handled by a special system, the children being taught recitations which are really vocal drills and exercises, but which are so arranged as to be entertaining to the children. In practically every case, two months of the training, it is declared, removes the impediment.

The affair last night was arranged by Mrs. L. M. Hollingsworth, the official nurse of the Oakland Board of Education.

Those who took the part of the fairies were Louise Schumacher, Margaret O'Keefe, Hazel Parsons, Ethel Wennerblad, Marie Failing and Irma Jellett. The spiders were represented by William Beverly, Andrew Camello, George Arnsen and Russell Currence. Bernice Munro was the housewife.

Others who appeared in the demonstration were John Magee, piano solo; Alice Palmer, a poem; Alva Hill, story; Margaret O'Keefe, piano; Bert Anderson, reading; August Cerlas, recitation; John Magee, song; Fred Sowall, recitation; Blanche Ingham, poem; Thomas Hanmore, poem; Helen Russell, ukulele selection; Lucy Robba, recitation; Floyd Schwall, poem.

Astonishing Power of Iron to Give Strength to Broken Down Nervous People

Physician Says Ordinary Nuxated Iron Will Increase Strength of Delicate Folk 200 Per Cent In Two Weeks' Time In Many Instances.

NEW YORK, N. Y.—In a recent discourse Dr. E. Sauer, a well-known specialist, who has studied widely both in this country and Europe, said: "If you were to make an actual blood test on all people who are ill you would probably be greatly astonished at the exceedingly large number who lack iron and who are ill for no other reason than the lack of iron. The moment iron is supplied all their multitude of dangerous symptoms disappear. Without iron the blood at once loses the power to change food into living tissue, and therefore nothing you eat does you any good; you don't get the strength out of it. Your food merely passes through your system like corn through a mill with the rollers so wide apart that the mill can't grind. As a result of this continuous blood and nerve starvation people become generally weakened, nervous and all run down, and frequently develop all sorts of conditions. One is too thin; another is burdened with unhealthy fat; some are so weak they can hardly walk; some think they have dyspepsia, kidney or liver trouble some can't sleep at night; others are sleepy and tired all day; some fussy and irritable; some skinny and bloodless, but all lack physical power and endurance. In such cases it is worse than foolishness to take stimulating medicines or narcotic drugs, which only whip up your lagging vital powers for the moment, maybe at the expense of your life later on. No matter what any one tells you, if you are not strong and well, you owe it to yourself to make the following test: See how long you can work or how far you can walk without becoming tired. Next take two five-grain tablets of ordinary nuxated iron three times per day after meals for two weeks. Then test your strength again and see for yourself how much you have gained. I have seen dozens of nervous, rundown people who were ailing all the time double, and even triple, their strength and endurance and entirely get rid of their symptoms of dyspepsia, liver and other troubles in from ten to fourteen days' time simply by taking iron in the proper form, and this, after they had in some cases been doctoring for months without obtaining any benefit. You can talk as you please about all the wonders wrought by new remedies, but when you come down to hard facts there is nothing like good old iron to put color in your cheeks and good, sound, healthy flesh on your bones. It is also a great nerve and stomach strengthener and the best blood builder in the world. The only trouble was that the old forms of inorganic iron, like tincture of iron, iron acetate, etc., often ruined people's teeth, upset their stomachs and were not assimilated, and for these reasons they frequently did more harm than good. But with the discovery of the newer forms of organic iron all this has been overcome. Nuxated Iron, for example, is pleasant to take, does not injure the teeth and is almost immediately beneficial.

NOTE—The manufacturers of Nuxated Iron have such unbounded confidence in its potency that they authorize the announcement that they will forfeit $100.00 to any Charitable Institution if they cannot take any man or woman under 70 who lacks iron and increase their strength 200 per cent or over in four weeks' time, provided they have no serious organic trouble. Also they will refund your money in any case in which Nuxated Iron does not at least double your strength in ten days' time. It is dispensed in this city by The Owl Drug Co. and all other druggists.—Advertisement.

Connelley Liquor Cure Institute

1273 Twenty-Sixth Avenue, Oakland, California

DRUNKENNESS

is a disease, serious, fatal and deadly—not a habit. It is a disease that wrecks brilliant men and women and is responsible for forgeries, thefts and murders. Alcohol clouds the brain, destroys "nerve force" and reduces the afflicted one to a state of imbecility pitiful to behold.

The Connelley treatment has the indorsement of physicians, hospitals and the leading business men of the State. Over 11,000 cases have been treated during the past twenty years, and the records show less than 200 "breakovers." A record unparalleled in the history of liquor treatments.

Write for testimonials and list of references. All correspondence sacredly confidential.

The proprietor of this sanitarium, Mr. H. R. Connelley, is known all over the United States for his great and humane work in the cure of the dread disease, "drunkenness." His treatment has attracted the attention of many prominent physicians and scientific men. He takes a personal interest in the treatment of every case placed in his charge and his sanitarium is really a private home for those who desire freedom from the curse of humanity—drunkenness.

AGED MINISTER IS GIVEN JAIL TERM

Rev. Richard Fysh Sentenced to Seven Months in Land Fraud Case.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 1.—Shaken with sobs and with tears in his eyes, the Rev. Richard Fysh, aged Methodist minister of Fresno, stood up in the Federal Court today while Judge Maurice T. Dooling sentenced him to seven months in the Fresno county jail on a charge of using the mails to defraud in the Oregon land fraud cases. Begging for leniency because of his age and for the sake of his wife and two daughters, Dr. Fysh had made a poignant appeal to the court. United States Attorney Clarence L. Reames joined in a petition for leniency declaring that the clergyman had aided the prosecution in every way possible.

J. F. Kelly, a realty broker, was given seven months in the local county jail and Byron J. Sanford, real estate man, who it is alleged has operated extensively in Sioux City, San Diego and San Francisco, was sentenced to 14 months at McNeil's Island.

"I was only their tool, your honor," declared Dr. Fysh as he stood a gray-haired quivering figure in the hushed court room. "I was led into this thing. I didn't know it was wrong and when I was told it was, I went on for a little while and then I quit. I ask nothing for myself, but for the sake of my family, my two daughters, one of them still in court, I ask that the court be not too hard on me."

The clergyman could say no more, his voice refusing further to perform its function.

One Bad Dollar Brings Three to Jail

SAN FRANCISCO, June 1. — The flooding of San Francisco with spurious dollar pieces by gangs of counterfeiters, most of whom are now in jails, developed a peculiar situation today when secret service agents arrested three persons for trafficking in a single spurious coin. Those in custody are Harry Saflithy, a fruit dealer; Floyd McDaniel, a youth of 17 Pake street, and Martin Anderson, a saloon man of 201 Eddy street.

Saflithy took in one of the coins in a ten-cent trade, giving 90 cents in good money in change. He is alleged to have sold it to McDaniel for 50 cents, who in turn disposed of it, it is claimed, to Anderson for 70 cents. Secret Service Agent Harry Moffitt arrested the trio.

Bail Bond Releases Evelyn Von Dohlen

Mrs. Evelyn Reid Von Dohlen was released today from the county jail on bond of $2000 presented by Rev. Alexander Allen to Superior Judge Ogden. Mrs. Von Dohlen was convicted of passing fictitious checks two months ago and was later released on 10 years' probation with the understanding that she would spend the first year of that period in an asylum. She had pleaded insanity in her trial.

Jury in Orpet Case Is Almost Completed

WAUKEGAN, Ills., June 1. — Counsel for both sides in the case of Will Orpet, charged with the murder of Marion Lambert, held strong hopes today that the jury might be completed before the court adjourned for the day. Eight jurors already had been sworn, two more had been tentatively accepted by both sides and the last two needed to complete the final panel were in the box, tentatively passed by the defense.

Lumber Handlers Out in Local Yards

Three hundred longshoremen and lumber handlers failed to report for work this morning at the yards of the E. K. Wood Lumber Company, Hogan Lumber Company, Panama Lumber Company and Sunset Lumber Company. Their act is in sympathy with the strike for higher wages being directed from San Francisco on the part of the union.

War Causes Split in Family Divorce

Peter Bellocq, formerly chief in a local restaurant, who went to France in July, 1915, to join the allied armies, was today divorced by his wife, Lina Bellocq, who testified that she and her husband had differed over the war situation and that she is pro-German in her feelings. The couple were married in Oakland in 1903.

M. E. PASTOR ILL.

ALAMEDA, June 1. — Rev. Leslie M. Burwell, pastor of the First Methodist church, is ill with pneumonia at Pacific Grove. He was visiting at the Grove when seized with sudden illness. Mrs. Burwell has been summoned from Alameda. The minister's condition is regarded as extremely critical.

Passengers Describe Wreck of Chiyo Maru

SAN FRANCISCO, June 1.—Passengers who were aboard the wrecked liner Chiyo Maru, which grounded off the Chinese coast, returned to San Francisco today on the Tenyo Maru with the first personal stories of the accident.

They declared the captain was not to blame and that a dense fog and heavy seas were responsible. No panic came after the crash, assert three passengers. A British cruiser, they said, took the shipwrecked men and women from the beach.

Among those who arrived were Mrs. E. F. Olds and three daughters of Michigan; Dr. E. C. Houston and A. E. Evans.

Oaklands at Ends of Land His Homes

C. S. Lewis Returns to Maine City

Born in Oakland, Maine, and coming to Oakland, California, as a young man, to become sexton of the First Congregational Church, Charles S. Lewis, after nearly 30 years in the church will next week return to Maine, to the Oakland of his birth. He resigned as sexton of the church yesterday, and will make the trip East by automobile. After a visit to the home of his boyhood he will return to California to make his home again.

Deciding to come West, as a youth, he was attracted to Oakland because of its bearing the same name as his home town. He thought he would find luck under the name and arrived in Oakland just as a sexton for the church was needed. He amassed a modest fortune during his thirty years of service, and will, on his return from Maine, make his home here looking after his interests. He plans to visit a number of cities during his trip East.

Lewis' place in the church has been taken by M. H. Maddern.

500 Bartenders Quit; Manitoba Is Dry

VANCOUVER, B. C., June 1.—Manitoba yesterday cast from its shoulders the yoke of the licensed saloon and today the new prohibition legislation goes into effect.

There was little or no celebration in the city of Winnipeg last night as the seventy-six bars closed their doors and the police reported that there was less drunkenness than on an ordinary night.

About 500 bartenders were thrown out of employment.

Already several hotels in the city have gone out of business, while others are converting their barrooms into lunch places.

Official notification that liquor cannot be sold except between the hours of 11 a. m. and 10 p. m. during the continuance of the war, according to the provisions of the new amendments to the provincial liquor act, which went into effect last night, will be given to all hotels and saloons affected by the authorities in British Columbia.

Charge Guard Officer Intercepted Letters

SAN FRANCISCO, June 1. — What may prove to be a scandal in National Guard circles at Hanford and which may be brought to the attention of Governor Johnson, has been uncovered as the result of the arrest of Benjamin N. Heath, charged with prying into mail matter.

The letters which it is alleged Heath intercepted were being sent between officers of the National Guard of which Heath was until recently captain. It was rumored that there were charges against Heath and it said that the letters were concerned with them. Inspector Austin took Heath into custody.

Husband Admits Affinity Charge

SAN FRANCISCO, June 1. — Arthur W. McCurrie, an official of the Young & Swain Baking company, was the unwitting but nevertheless important witness against himself and aided his wife Jane in obtaining a divorce decree at the hands of Judge Van Nostrand this morning. Mrs. McCurrie alleged that for six months her spouse had been supporting an affinity. There was no corroborating witness. Her counsel, on sudden thought, called McCurrie and his admissions satisfied the court that Mrs. McCurrie was entitled to her decree.

Roads Confer With Men for Hour Change

NEW YORK, June 1.—The first joint conference between representatives of the railroads of the United States and their conductors, trainmen, engineers and firemen for a settlement of differences over working hours and wages began here today in executive session. It is predicted that several weeks will elapse before an agreement is reached.

HUSBAND CLAIMS WIFE PROPOSED

Answers Her Suit for Divorce With Leap Year Story.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 1. — Because 1916 was not leap year and he was not on his guard, Louis Goldstone, a local attorney, spoke right out in Judge Graham's court this morning and declared his wife, Grace V. Goldstone, had proposed marriage to him and indeed had ably conducted a most successful matrimonial campaign, concluding in a trip to the altar. Mrs. Goldstone, former wife of John Benson, convicted in connection with the Benson-Ferrin land fraud cases, who died two and a half years ago, after his release from the Alameda county jail, is suing Goldstone for divorce. She denies his charges in quote, declares he never supported her, and that she would absolutely refuse any longer to bear his name, even though the court might not set her free from him.

Mrs. Goldstone is the sister of the first wife of "Swiftwater" Bill Gates, and it was in January of last year that she encountered her present husband on Powell street.

"We had been friends for many years," declared Goldstone on the witness stand. "I met her casually and she began a campaign to get me to marry her. She proposed to me and we were married at Napa and lived for two weeks at the Alhambra apartments. Then one rainy day she sent my things to the house of a friend and told me not to come back. A short time later she met me again on Powell street, told me she had been hysterical and asked for a reconciliation. We went to live at Grove and Clayton streets for two weeks more. I had had all I could stand and I left."

Mrs. Goldstone referred to her spouse as a "big loafer." "He never contributed a cent to my support," she added. "He would sleep until noon, borrow my money and never seek employment. I wouldn't use his name and if the court doesn't give me a decree I will be known as Mrs. Benson all the rest of my life."

Judge Graham took the case under advisement.

Gavira May Make Withdrawal Request

EL PASO, June 1.—General Gavira, Carranzista commander in Northern Chihuahua, is believed to be carrying a copy of Carranza's note to Casaha Grandes, wher he will confer with General Pershing.

Regardless of Pershing's instructions not to discuss withdrawal of American troops, Gavira will make a formal request in compliance with the terms of the note, it is understood here. This will be purely a diplomatic move, suggested by the Mexican foreign office.

Rumors of Mexican troop movements were circulated here today. Officials at Juarez would not confirm these reports and insisted that no significant developments have occurred since the Carranza note was handed to the State Department.

COLONIA DUBLAN, Mex., June 1.—The conference between Generals Pershing and Gavira opened today in the Mexican commander's private car, which is sidetracked on a neutral strip of ground midway between this camp and the Carranzista camp at Casas Grandes. Only Pershing, Gavira, their chiefs of staff and an interpreter were present.

Japanese Consulate Under Former Chief

SAN FRANCISCO, June 1. — Consul General M. Hanihara returned today to take charge of the San Francisco consulate after a four-year absence.

He was met by a delegation of prominent Japanese.

During his absence, the consul has been studying the international relations. He declares the friendliest possible spirit exists in Japan for the American people.

DOCK & DECK

TIRED of hard tack and a long sea voyage around the Horn, a half a dozen sailors abandoned their ship back in 1860 and landed in a small boat in San Leandro Bay, at Roberts Landing. Captain A. P. Lorentzen, 533 Pacific avenue, Alameda, was one of the little band of deserters who thus made their first acquaintance with California.

Memories of the landing on the bay shore were revived this week when Captain Lorentzen visited an old house at Roberts Landing, where he and his shipmates ate their first square meal since they set out from the old country.

Captain Lorentzen, at least of the old crew, has no regrets that he slipped over the ship's side one morning back in the sixties and pulled for shore.

For a number of years after arriving in California he followed the sea, and is at present interested in the Pope-Talbot Company of San Francisco. Captain Lorentzen is one of the ship owners who have prospered as a result of a scarcity of shipping on account of the war. He recently sold several of his ships at a high figure.

FORRESTER DUE HERE AFTER RACE OVER PACIFIC.

The schooner Forrester is due here with a cargo of copra from Sydney, Australia. She is one of four schooners which engaged in a race across the Pacific and will be the third to arrive. The schooner Winslow with 9430 sacks of copra and the schooner Eric with about 600 tons of copra, which also took part in the race, are unloading their cargoes at the Long wharf, where they will be joined by the Forrester as soon as she arrives.

CAPTAIN WILLIAM THONIGAD ARRIVES IN AUSTRALIA.

The barkentine Alta, in charge of Captain William Thonigad of Oakland, has arrived in Sydney, Australia. Word of their father's safe arrival has been received by Miss Ella and Miss Mattie Thonigad, who are both nurses at the County Infirmary. The Alta left here for Melbourne and Sydney and was sold by her owners while on the voyage across the Pacific.

Captain Thonigad is one of the best known of Oakland's skippers. He was formerly master of the bark Honolulu and of the schooner Queen, in which he made several trips north and engaged in seal hunting.

MOVEMENTS OF LUMBER STEAMERS IN OAKLAND HARBOR.

GALE CAUSES TROUBLE AMONG ESTUARY SMALL CRAFT.

There were few dry decks among the gasoline launches, tugs and yachts which plunged their way through the heavy swell on the estuary yesterday. One of the hands on the small gasoline launch Tender was almost washed overboard when a wave broke over the low stern and made him jump lively for the shelter of the wheelhouse.

The handling of big yachts in the estuary in such a stiff breeze was no one-man job. One fast-sailing yacht with one man in charge, who had no horn to signal for the opening of the estuary drawbridges and who was evidently afraid to come close enough to the bridges to shout that he wanted past, kept tacking back and forth in the lower estuary for twenty minutes until the bridges opened for other craft to pass.

BOWDOIN TAKES CARGO FROM OAKLAND FOR NORTH.

The steamer Bowdoin will leave for the north today with a 600-ton cargo, consisting principally of plaster and a small quantity of oil. She took on the cargo at the Long wharf yesterday.

Much-needed dredging on the north side of the estuary between the lower estuary drawbridges is being carried out this week. The Pacific Coast Dredging and Reclamation Company's dredger No. 5 was towed there yesterday by the tug American of the Oakland Launch and Tugboat Company.

TWELVE LARGE STEAMERS ADDED TO REGISTER.

Twelve large steamers built in the United States for American owners have been added to Lloyd's register book this year so far. The largest of these is the Charles Pratt of 10,900 tons. Twenty-three steamers of more than 1000 tons for British owners have been added to the book in the same period, which is much smaller than usual. The biggest of these British vessels is the Saranga of 7525 tons. Eight Japanese steamers of considerably lower tonnage than the American vessels were added to the book.

STEAMER LAKME, LUMBER CARRIER, CHANGES HANDS

ALVARADO SAILS FOR ORIENT AFTER ALTERATIONS

The steamer Alvarado, which was fitted with a shelter deck at the yards of Moore & Scott, sailed yesterday for Yokohama under charter to Swayne & Hoyt. Her tonnage was increased by her alteration in the Oakland shipyard from 940 to 1620.

UNCERTAINTIES RULE WALL-STREET MARKET

Political Affairs Take Precedence of All Other News Coming In

NEW YORK, June 1.—Wall Street passed more completely under the influence of political uncertainties today than at any time in the recent past and barely more than a nominal market prevailed on the Stock Exchange. Similar conditions, it is believed, are likely to prevail until the Republican convention selects the presidential candidate to run against President Wilson, who is certain of the Democratic nomination.

The political obsession was so complete that no attention whatever was paid to the brilliant statement of April earnings made by the Pennsylvania system and the New York Central lines, or at least the showings were devoid of influence upon the stocks of the two companies.

Prices opened languidly, showing no important changes in either direction, and trading was dull and professional from the outset.

PROFESSIONAL COMMENT.

Clark Childs & Company—It is probably safe to say that there is less general interest in the political situation in business and banking circles than for many years past.

Spencer Trask & Company—High-grade bonds which are those that are likely to be affected by new British tax not likely to be attractive under existing conditions.

E. F. Hutton & Company—A drooping market with specialties active and under currents reflecting irregularity and later creeping improvement seems to be the immediate outlook in view of the pending wage conferences and the Republican national political convention next week.

Wife Slips From Home; Files Divorce Suit

SAN FRANCISCO, June 1.—Mrs. Marie Osakwary, wife of Joseph Osakwary of 229 Winfield street, stole away from her home this morning in fear of death and filed a divorce action on the ground of extreme cruelty. At the same time she paid for a restraining order to prevent Osakwary from coming home tonight, fearing that he will carry out his threat to murder her and her two children in the event that she brought suit for a legal separation. She charges that he frequently attacked her and pulled her out of bed at night, the latest event occurring on Decoration Day.

DIFFICULTIES ARE NOT OF EARNINGS

United Railroads Reviewed From Eastern Investors' Standpoint.

The status of United Railroads of San Francisco, so far as the stock and bond market is concerned, is reviewed at length by the Wall Street Journal, which says:

United Railroads of San Francisco general first mortgage 4 per cent bonds selling at 30, give a direct return of 11 per cent and a yield of over 15 per cent if their payment at par at maturity in 1927 is figured on. This is probably the highest return that can be secured on any bond today, which is still showing surplus earnings over its interest charges.

United Railroads of San Francisco have shown further loss in earnings during the current year, due largely to "jitney" competition. In March, gross operating revenues declined $42,874, or over 6 per cent. This was above the average for the previous months of the fiscal year, however, the total revenues for the nine months of $5,048,368 being only $147,633, or less than 2½ per cent below the corresponding period of the previous year.

The decline in net, however, was more uniform throughout the period. March net after operating expenses was $203,802, a decrease of $40,034, or over 16 per cent; and the nine months' net was $2,249,775, a decline from the previous year of $301,180, or nearly 12 per cent. Increase in maintenance charges accounts for some of the higher operating expenses in the nine months.

MARGIN TO SPARE.

Despite the falling off in earnings following the poorest year the company has had in a good while, interest and sinking fund charges have been covered with a comfortable margin to spare. The difficulties of the company are thus seen to be not of an earnings nature. They are original and political troubles. The company has $3,200,000 of securities that have been extended temporarily, and there are about $3,000,000 more due in the next two years. If its difficulties with the city of San Francisco and the California Railroad Commission were settled, however, it would probably be able to readjust its finances without much trouble.

These difficulties have been inherited to some extent from the previous poor management, but the city's hostility to the company seems to continue. It has built one line paralleling those of the company and now threatens to add two more tracks on the north already on Market street because the company will not accept its terms for transfers from the municipal to the company's lines. Municipal ownership is much more popular in California than in the east, and the "jitney" continues in public favor out there now, as is shown by the company's March earnings.

FRANCHISE UNCERTAINTY.

The attitude of the city and of the California commission tends to cause some uncertainty regarding the company's franchises; some of which expire soon after 1920. If the present difficulties with the city can be settled, however, this point would probably be the cause for little disturbance. The $23,542,000 4 per cent bonds mature in 1927.

There is some talk of the city taking over the company's properties. If this is done, it seems safe to believe that these bonds would get better than 30, although there are $12,411,000 of prior liens ahead of them. In a reorganization, when one can be effected, they are expected to get more than that in value in new securities.

Entire stock of the United Railroads of San Francisco is, in effect, owned by the California Railway & Power Co. All the stock of that company is, in turn, except $7,500,000 of 7 per cent cumulative prior preference shares, is owned by the United Railways Investment Co., which also controls the Philadelphia Company. Of the $5,000,000 first preferred stock of the United Railroads of San Francisco $1,571,429 is up as collateral for $1,100,000 6 per cent notes of the United Railways Investment Company.

FEDERAL RESERVE REPORT ONLY FAIR

Maximum of Business Activity Said to Have Been Reached in Upward Movement.

Business activity in the United States has perhaps reached the maximum of the present upward movement, the Federal Reserve Board announced in its monthly bulletin today, with a tendency to proceed more cautiously attended by considerable and widespread unrest on the part of labor, even where highest paid, and a slightly less favorable outlook for some of the growing crops.

Mines and all wells are exceedingly active, according to reports made to the board, lumber and building show great activity. Railroad earnings, where unaffected by congestion at seaports, are generally excellent, and there is more than an ample supply of loanable money on hand.

For the San Francisco district attention is called to the fact that agricultural conditions have been unfavorable. Reports indicate that the grape crop will be 50 per cent normal, and prunes, peaches and apricots will be from 50 to 75 per cent normal. The lumber industry of the northwest is very active. Shipbuilding continues with unabated activity. Large trade is reported throughout the district, with good collections.

Reports from other districts follow:

New York—Continuance of good and very active business is reported by correspondents in all sections of the district. Wages are probably higher than ever before, yet many strikes occurred during the month. Such acute unrest of many thousands of workers is causing much concern.

Chicago—Business in general is progressing satisfactorily. Weather conditions have delayed agricultural work two or three weeks and a decreased acreage of winter wheat seems fully confirmed. Labor disturbances have interfered with building operations in some sections.

St. Louis—Railroad earnings continue to increase. Generally speaking, labor conditions in this district are satisfactory. Wages have gone up in practically every industry. Reports on the wheat situation are somewhat pessimistic.

Minneapolis—The decrease in wheat acreage probably will approximate from 5 to 8 per cent. This will be more than offset by increases in the acreage in barley and rye. Corn will be about up to the average. General business conditions are excellent.

Kansas City—Some apprehension is felt as to whether sufficient labor can be secured for the harvest fields and steps are being taken to supply the demand. Receipts of cattle and hogs show substantial increases, in the mining fields prosperity and increasing output are the order of the day. Mid-continent officials show a maximum activity.

Dallas—Reports on business conditions from all sections of the district continue most favorable.

Fleishhackers Take Over Another Bank

Announcement is made that the San Francisco branch of the International Banking Corporation will be absorbed by the Anglo London Paris National Bank. Herbert Fleishhacker president of the latter bank, has just returned from New York, where arrangements for the effect were completed. The six millions of commercial deposits will at once be taken over and the savings deposits in the San Francisco branch will be transferred to the Anglo California Trust Company, which will continue to operate the Fillmore street branch of the International Banking Corporation. The officers and staff of the absorbed bank will be taken care of in the Fleishhacker banks. E. W. Wilson, manager of the International Corporation, becoming one of the vice-presidents of the Anglo & London Paris Bank.

The formalities of transfer will be at once completed and the necessary ratifications made by directors and stockholders of the banks involved.

Heavy Increases In Bank Clearings

Oakland bank clearings increased during April by $4,423,442.26 over April, 1915. The total figures for the month for the six banks, members of the local clearing house association are: $18,299,511.46, and for April of last year $13,876,069.20.

STOCK AND BOND EXCHANGE

There was little demand for either stocks or bonds at this morning's session of the San Francisco Stock and Bond Exchange, though the latter were steady, while stocks were slightly irregular in tone. Associated Oil declined a quarter to 66¾, while Union Sugar was off a quarter and Onomea Sugar up a half. Hawaiian Sugar held firm at 50. Alaska Packers again sold at 113 and Spring Valley Water at 93¾.

Pacific Electric Railway 5s sold up a quarter to 99 and Natomas of California 6s were firm at 61.

Lumbermen Hear of Advertising Needs

CHICAGO, Ill., June 1.—More extensive newspaper and magazine advertising is essential to the future of the lumber industry, from toothpicks to houses, according to every speaker at the Lumbermen's national convention here today.

The day's speakers included James Kelley, editor of the Chicago Herald, who talked on Publicity, and the other phases of the merchandising problem all hinged on the same general question of advertising the products of the sawmills. A dozen papers on this subject in its various forms were presented. The speakers were: E. T. Pratt, chief of the Bureau of Domestic and Foreign Commerce; Dean H. P. Baker of the New York State College of Forestry at Syracuse; Franklin H. Wentworth, secretary of the National Fire Protection Association; Jay S. Hamilton of Portland, Ore.; Frank D. Chase of Chicago; F. A. Good of Cowles, Neb.; J. R. Moorehead of Kansas City and Warren S. Bullock of Milwaukee.

CHARLIE CHAPLIN.

Comedian Goes Back to Big Shoes and Old Suit

Charlie Chaplin is back at the Broadway in his old second-hand suit and worn out shoes. He reappears in this sometime cast-aside clothing in "Police," his latest feature comedy. Those who followed Chaplin in his early days with Essanay will recognize and welcome him back in his old garments. In "The Floorwalker" and other recent productions these old clothes were put aside for other costumes. But Chaplin never was so funny as in his original hand-me-down suit and gigantic shoes. And the shoes are even more worn than ever. There is a hole clear through the sole, which hole he uses to good effect to add to the fun in the picture.

On the same bill with Chaplin, "David Garrick," the latest Pallas Pictures production on the Paramount program, in which Dustin Farnum is starring, gives this great histrionic artist a chance to portray a different kind of love-making from that usually played.

It is of the kind that flatters a man's vanity. The man being the one sought after and yet when the knowledge comes to Garrick all the intense feeling of the Divine Passion is wonderfully and beautifully portrayed.

The story which is magnificently staged and costumed offers a big dramatic opportunity that Mr. Farnum plays with force and majesty.

This big double feature program will be run for the balance of the week, closing Saturday night.

Sunday, Nance O'Neil will be featured in "The Flames of Johannis," a masterpiece in five parts.

Emeryville Track Really Is "No More"

"The Emeryville racetrack is no more."

Many times in the past five years this has been said. It was said when the state law abolishing horse racing was passed in 1911. It was said when it was proposed to cut up the property for residence and for factory sites. It was said when a fire destroyed a portion of the buildings. When work had been almost completed wrecking the structures, the words were uttered once more and appeared in print.

But this is the last time.

Last night a red glow illuminated the sky. Oakland people thought there was a big fire in Berkeley. Berkeley people thought the same concerning Oakland. Passengers on ferryboats thought there was a conflagration.

It was only a huge bonfire in which the last remnants of old lumber from the old racetrack were consumed.
